Oh, How Thankful

Pain Was Maddening and Hope Had Been Abandoned - Wonderful Results of Purifying the Blood.

"A very severe pain came in my left knee, which grew worse and worse, and finally a sore broke out above the knee. It discharged a great deal and the pain from my thigh down was maddening. Large, hard, purple spots appeared on my leg. I suffered in this way for years, and gave up all hope of ever being cured. My wife was reading of a case like mine cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla, and she advised me to try it. I began taking it and when I had used a few bottles I found relief from my suffering. Oh, how thankful I am for this relief! I am stronger than I have ever been in my life. I am in the best of health, have a good appetite and am a new man altogether." J. P. MOORS, Lisbon Falls, Maine.

MASQUERADE BALL.

A Most Enjoyable Conclusion of Thanksgiving Day.

The masquerade given at the opera-house last night proved a most enjoyable affair, about twenty five couples entering the grand march at 8:30. Many others came in later, and after the usual amount of hilarity under disguise, masks were removed and the curiosity of spectators and participants satisfied. Several very neat costumes were worn by both gents and ladies and it necessitated considerable discussion between the judges to determine where the prizes should go. Their final selections were: Miss Bertha Jones, the best dressed lady, a very neat watch chain; Ben Leland, the best dressed gentleman, an opal pin; Misses Leona and Stella Rhee, the fairest sustained characters, a cupid; Waldon Rhee and Mrs. W. A. Richardson, best sustained characters, glass card basket. The judges were Chas. Tefft, Mrs. Jacob Wattenberger and Mrs. Chas. Byrner. After the award of prizes the spectators joined in the dancing, which continued until the morning hours were approaching.

Art Minor's Prize.

On exhibition at Minor & Co.'s, from Friday until yesterday was the magnificent specimen bull elk, killed September 1st by Art, and just received from the taxidermist, L. F. Ricbolt, of Centuria, Wash., where it had been sent to be mounted for the Elk Lodge at this place. Without doubt, it is the finest specimen in possession of the fraternity on this coast, and knowing ones, in consideration of its symmetrical proportions, color, beautiful spotted antlers, and perfect pose, assert that its value in an eastern market would be less than $1,000. Yesterday it was placed in the lodge room, and the members of the order will celebrate its initiation in royal style in the near future, when Elks will band together from every section of this north west wilderness.

Wedding Bells.

At Lexington, Oregon, Nov. 20th, at 2 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. E. A. Byrner occurred the marriage of Mr. Thomas Boothby, and Mrs. Lillie Horner, by Rev. Beaucamp. Only near relatives and intimate friends of the bride and groom were present. Many handsome and useful presents were given the happy couple. After the ceremony all were invited into the dining room, where a beautiful dinner was served, such as Mrs. Byrner is capable of serving. Thus the inner man was thoroughly satisfied. The bride is a most estimable lady and loved by all who know her. Having previously lived in this city, she has many warm friends here. The groom is a successful farmer and stock raiser. They will make their future home near Lexington.

Dreadfully Nervous.

"I was dreadfully nervous, and for relief took your Carl's Clover Root Tea. It quieted my nerves and strengthened my whole nervous system. I was troubled with constipation, kidney and bowel trouble. Your Tea soon cleaned my system so thoroughly that I rapidly regained health and strength. Mrs. S. A. Sweet, Hartford, Conn. Sold by Conner & Warren."

Thanksgiving Day.

Heppner's business houses, by mutual consent, closed at 10 a. m., thus giving their employees a day of recreation and feasting, the most of whom enjoyed the privilege to the fullest extent. Turkey, mince pie and agnony were the principal features of the celebration. The streets were conspicuous for the absence of freight and farm wagons. The city was unusually quiet, no noise or drunkenness marred its peace. At the approach of evening, hurrying to and fro, both boys and girls could be seen with suspicious looking bundles beneath their arms, supposed to be masquerade suits for the ball in the evening.

Handbook of the Tariff.

The understanding of the complicated provisions of the new tariff has been greatly simplified by the issuance of this manual. To digest the tariff law is no easy task, but to digest the food taken into the gastric receptacle is rendered easy by the use of that thorough stomachic, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. It prevents and cures malaria, kidney and rheumatic trouble, remedies nervousness and insomnia, and removes constipation and biliousness. Appetite, as well as the ability to satisfy it without subsequent abdominal disturbance, is restored by this fine stomachic, which also accelerates convalescence. Persons in the decline of life, and the infirm of every age and sex, find it of material assistance.

The O. R. & N. Co.'s new book on the Resources of Oregon, Washington and Idaho is being distributed. Our readers are requested to forward the addresses of their Eastern friends and acquaintances, and a copy of the work will be sent them free. This a matter all should be interested in, and we would ask that everyone take an interest and forward such address to W. H. Hurlburt, General Passenger Agent, O. R. & N. Co., Portland.

Puny Children

Who would prescribe only tonics and bitters for a weak, puny child? Its muscles and nerves are so thoroughly exhausted that they cannot be whipped into activity. The child needs food; a blood-making, nerve-strengthening and muscle-building food.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod-Liver Oil is all of this, and you still have a tonic in the hypophosphites of lime and soda to act with the food. For thin and delicate children there is no remedy superior to it in the world. It means growth, strength, plumpness and comfort to them. Be sure you get SCOTT'S Emulsion.

WHY HORSES SHOULD GO. A Number of Arguments Against Their Use in This Age.

The substitution of electricity for horse power in the operation of streetcars has two things to commend it. When a heavy upgrade is encountered the electric motor does not hesitate. It walks up hill as easily as down. And then the streets are much cleaner where they are not traversed by horses. A third reason, that of economy, may be ignored here, though it is of very great importance. The horseless cab, running not merely on streets where there are rails, but on side streets, and free to cross from one side to the other, has this additional recommendation: Its cushion tires render it absolutely noiseless. There are so many nervous people in cities who want to reduce the clutter on the streets that the rubber-tired vehicle is sure to come in favor in such localities. A fourth argument against horses is just now being urged in London by certain technical papers. So long as heavy teaming is done it is necessary to make the pavement rough, to give the animals a good foothold. But the roughness makes the street undesirable for light vehicles, and riding therein is not as comfortable as it might be. "Industries and Iron" urges this as a reason for getting rid of horses for traction purposes in cities. If this policy were carried out it would be possible to make a smoother pavement—one on which light carriages could travel comfortably. What sort of vehicles would carry heavy loads of merchandise after this change was effected is not indicated by the periodical referred to. London is behind American cities in the line of street railways, but this talk about abolishing the horse altogether from city streets is rather more advanced than anything yet seriously uttered on this side of the Atlantic.—N. Y. Tribune.

FOUR DAYS ONLY.

In the Early Part of December.

The German Specialists, from Portland, Oregon, will be in Heppner, at the Palace hotel, and will return once a month.

If you have chronic catarrh, consultation is free of charge.

Do you blow mucus from the nose?

Are you troubled with bleeding of the nose?

Are the nostrils obstructed, making breathing difficult?

Are you hoarse at times?

Is the mucus dropping down from the back of nose into the throat?

Is your nose stopped up?

Is your hearing affected?

Is your throat sore at times?

Do you spit a good deal when rising in the morning?

Do you hem and hawk to clear your throat?

Cataract is a dangerous disease, which leads into consumption.

Weak eyes cured; cross eyes stationed without cutting the cord.

Cataracts removed without a knife; glasses fitted where others have failed; ruptures and hernia cured without operation. Chronic rheumatism and kidney troubles a specialty.

Do not fail to see the German Specialists. A friendly talk will cost you nothing, and is bound to result in a great deal of good to you.
