Attorneys for Plaintiff.

We are informed that quite a band of lums sold the other day on Butter creek to local parties for $2.10 per head.

Congratulations are in order with our stockmen in this vicinity for getting through the winter with but little loss.

Every one at the League social last Friday evening at the parsonage of the M. E. church, South, had a most delightful time.

A telephone line is now under consideration from Heppner to Galloway, a convenience almost indispensable to Butter creek people.

Brown & Hughes now have their corrugated iron warehouse in the rear of their store finished, affording them much more room for goods.

On both the windows of the First National bank and Rhee & Welch's, new signs in gold are conspicuous. Mr. H. Mahan, the painter, is beyond a doubt the finest sign writer this country is liable to entertain for years.

"Spiritual Manifestation of the Son of God" is the subject for Sunday morning at the Methodist Episcopal church. In the evening Mr. Fisher's second discourse "Jonah and the whale—Christ's Resurrection."

Franklin Bryon Gurley, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. D. Gurley, died in Arlington, Oregon, Thursday, Feb. 10, 1899. The Woodmen of the World attended the funeral in a body, which was held in the Baptist church, Rev. Miller delivering the funeral services.

Rev. Green is conducting the most remarkable revival at Weston, Ore., ever held in the Northwest. Immense congregations show intense interest, while nearly 75 conversions and 50 accessions to date have been to the M. E. church, South, and 10 to other churches.

Mike Roberts, at the Belvedere, having remodeled the popular old-time corner, extends to the public a cordial welcome. The beverage he dispenses will be kept up to the highest standard, and the enlargement and comfortable equipment of his billiard parlors and club-rooms are a drawing feature. 92-11

H. V. Gates, the water works contractor, having definitely located the source from which he will secure water, and completed his preliminary surveys, look his departure on last evening's train for his home in Hillsboro. He expects to return in about a month to begin active operations.—Elgin Record.

The "Lion" brand of hats received by Brown & Hughes last week, in style, trimmings and quality, far exceed their expectations. They are "out of sight," and the young bloods will miss it if they fail to drop in and try them on. Made of the best material and sold reasonably in the west "I told you so," by the way, the verdict is, as the water's top notch was the building's first floor, an even level with the company's storage reservoir. Now, the question is, "what shall be done to save the school house?" An additional reservoir a little higher up seems the only solution, and that costs money.

The Russian Thistle. Mr. E. G. Roberts, of Walla Walla, and its prominent monument company, paid our office a visit yesterday, bringing for our inspection a sample of the genuine Russian thistle, picked up about four miles below town. The farmers of this county are inclined to mistake it for tumble weed and it is most important that they should become familiar with this destructive pest. It is positively the ruin of any section it overruns, and many states are already legislating for its destruction at an enormous expense. Wherever a bush of it can be held up for general inspection it should be done, and road supervisors can not act too soon in the matter of its extermination. In Washington the road supervisors are heavily fined in consequence of its growing within their districts.

County Superintendent Shipley's popularity with the teachers was demonstrated one night this week when they assembled at his home. School methods were discussed, games played, jokes and waltzes cracked, oranges and cakes indulged in, and a good all-round intellectual time had. Those present were Professor Howard, Miss Belsiger, Miss Snell, Miss Johnston, Miss Pugh, Miss Barker and Mrs. Steeves.

The O. R. & N. Co.'s new book on the Resources of Oregon, Washington and Idaho is being distributed. Our readers are requested to forward the addresses of their Eastern friends and acquaintances, and a copy of the work will be sent them free. This matter all should be interested in, and we would ask that everyone take an interest and forward such address to W. H. Harburt, General Passenger Agent, O. R. & N. Co., Portland. 81-11

Three joint indictments have been returned by the grand jury in session at Salem against P. H. D'Arcy, W. J. D'Arcy, S. G. Richardson, W. J. Rafter, H. T. Hayes, J. A. Carson and L. V. Ehlm, charging them with forgery in election returns in last June's election in Marion county. The matter was taken in the courts soon after the June election, but the grand jury took no action until now. Several of the men are quite prominent in Marion county politics.

M. L. Akers left here on Wednesday morning's train for The Dalles, where he will join A. W. Lundell, Rev. D. V. Poling and S. N. Steel, where they will unite in organizing a quartette, soon to give a series of concerts, beginning with The Dalles, thence to neighboring towns for a period of two weeks. These gentlemen formed at one time the concert company known as "The Alps," and won merited recognition in consideration of the harmony of their well-trained voices. It is to be hoped they will meet their deserved recognition, and will afford the neighboring cities a decided musical treat.

Our Fire Fighters. Saturday the fire boys were out for a trial and after a magnificent "spurt," in making an attachment to the hydrant found the water missing, owing to the inexperience of the new engineer at the power house, as substituted for Mr. Bruyn a visit to the power house opened up the system and the boys proceeded to the court house where a good force of water responded insuring a successful fight on those premises, should a fire occur. From there they went to the school house, and the verdict "I told you so," by the way, was confirmed, as the water's top notch was the building's first floor, an even level with the company's storage reservoir. Now, the question is, "what shall be done to save the school house?" An additional reservoir a little higher up seems the only solution, and that costs money.

Mr. Nat Webb, of Walla Walla, who has extensive land and stock interests in this vicinity, came in on Tuesday night's train.

Mr. E. G. Roberts, the energetic monument hunter of Walla Walla, has been doing quite an extensive business in this part of the country.

Reports are that Mrs. George White is improving at a rapid rate, and Mr. White is expected home on a business trip within a few days.

Miss Henrietta Sinsheimer returned to her home in Portland after a visit of several weeks in Heppner. Miss Sinsheimer proved herself a very interesting addition to our social circle.

Mrs. L. E. Estes left for Portland, accompanied by her mother, on yesterday morning's train and will remain there three weeks, giving attention to the details of the millinery business and making selections of spring goods.

Mr. M. S. Maxwell, formerly of Hartman, will establish a collection agency and notary public office at Ione, as advertised in another column. He paid the Gazette a pleasant visit this morning, laying in a large supply of legal blanks.

Mr. Carr, a contractor and builder of Pendleton, was in Heppner the first of the week. Mr. Carr was so well pleased with our city and its people that he will make this his future home. We are always glad to welcome such people in our midst.

Wm. Ross returned here Tuesday night and reports Mrs. Ross' condition improved, and the doctors had no hesitancy in permitting him to leave. She will probably not be compelled to undergo the operation generally resorted to in such cases.

Mrs. Eugene Freeland reached home Saturday evening from Salem, where she went at the beginning of the session of the legislature. Mrs. Freeland gave heartily of the professional duty and feels that Heppner seems very pleasant to her.

City Recorder Richardson was one of the fortunate participants in the Elk's festivities at The Dalles. The judge reports a most enjoyable time among his many friends there, and feels that The Dalles Elk are fully up to the requirements of a good time, irrespective of expense, and took special pains in their entertainment of visitors from neighboring towns.

Mrs. Dave McAtee left on Tuesday morning's train for Moscow, Idaho, summoned for quite a stay while proceedings are instituted for her share of a very valuable estate left by her deceased father recently. It is to be hoped that Mrs. McAtee will get her proportion. Gov. Ross, the efficient lawyer, has the matter in hand, and will leave nothing unturned in behalf of the client.

TO OUR SUBSCRIBERS.

The Gazette to Be Materially Changed in Next Issue.

Since assuming responsibility of the publication of the Gazette last August, I have spared no effort to reach an understanding of the requirements of the business institutions of the city in the shape of an advertising medium, and have made it an aim to establish a fair representative paper. At this time my conclusion is that the paper should be reduced in size to a four-page and continued on that basis. Such it shall appear in next issue, and we will continue to fight our way on those lines. We appreciate the promising future of this country, and are determined to keep our "heads above water" and share its prosperity. We make no appeal for charity—just business. The time is ripe for renewal of subscriptions, and we are here to write receipts for the same. Those feeling that the paper is of interest to them, and valuable as an exponent of our home interests, are earnestly requested to come forward with $1.50—the price of one year's subscription.

To succeed in business, business methods are essential, and as we adopted them on our arrival, we will continue them until our departure. Our advertising columns are and have been the signification of the appreciation of our local business men, and we are at their service in encouraging the patronage of home institutions, and meeting competition of our enterprising neighbors. Heppner cannot afford to "hide her light under a bushel."

DR. ESTES' FUNERAL.

Laid to Rest in the Heppner Cemetery Last Sunday.

The funeral services over the remains of Dr. Logan Jesse Estes were held at the Christian church at 2:30 p. m., Sunday, Revs. Shelley and Fleisher officiating. The church was crowded to its utmost and at the conclusion of the services the funeral procession, under escort of the Knights of Pythias, was one of the largest ever witnessed by the residents of our little city. The consideration shown the family of the deceased was truly an illustration of the appreciation of the human family of those unfortunately in distress. Not one of those in attendance but appreciated the ability of the deceased, and could he have been restored to a normal condition would have been to the community an alleviator of distress second to no member of the profession in the country. He simply fell the victim of an overtax of his physical nature. The members of his family were conclusive proof of his past intelligent associations, with an ambition to better the condition of the human family, and he is mourned for and referred to with regret that his usefulness should have been taken away at its prime.
