SUCCESS AND FAILURE.

Rural Spirit: If you would succeed you must trust to your own efforts; keep your engagements, get a reputation for honesty as soon as possible. Master all the details pertaining to your business; cultivate clear judgment. Learn to see things as they are, not as they appear to be. Stick to one line of business. Cultivate a reputation for generosity. Don't be small in your dealings, if you do men will be small and close with you. Study the science of advertising and learn to read the motives of your fellow men. Keep your plans to yourself. Economize in time, that is don't do anything that a cheaper man can do for you. Employ the latest processes and machinery. Cut loose from people who are natural growlers and insist that everything is going to the dogs. Cultivate courage and hope.

If you desire to fail, start out by getting into the wrong business, then dodge about from one business to another until you become a Jack of all trades. Trust some one else to do what you should do yourself. Cultivate fast living and a free use of stimulants. Waste your time and wait for some great opportunity to turn up. Imagine that you are unlucky, that you are being oppressed, then abuse your competitor.

SPLENDORS OF A PALACE.

Russian rulers are surrounded with more than Oriental magnificence. No western imagination can easily conceive the idea of the splendor with which the Russian rulers are habitually surrounded, says the London Mail. Chairs and tables of solid ivory, silver thrones, thrones with brilliant and jeweled back covers—these are a few of the objects scattered about the czar's 12 palaces with a royal prodigality.

Galusha Grow's Eyesight.

Ex-Speaker of the House and Representative Galusha A. Grow, of Pennsylvania, is 73 years old, but he writes without glasses as readily as a boy of 18. The other day he was writing in the secretary's office of the house some autograph passes to the reserved gallery and some one complimented him on his good sight. "It is because I began to wear glasses as soon as I needed them," said the veteran Yankee, for he is a native of Connecticut. "I have at home the ones I wore when I was much younger, and they still fit me. I use them sometimes for reading the newspapers."

Brigandage in Greece.

Brigandage is rampant at the present moment in Greece. This is accounted for by the disbandment of large bodies of volunteers, who, owing to the stagnation of trade and industry, have no employment or means of livelihood and have taken to highway robbery for the purpose of avoiding starvation. Most of them were permitted to retain their arms when dismissed from the service, and are now putting these weapons to private account.

A Short Term.

The shortest period that a member of parliament has represented a constituency is two hours. Lord George Hamilton was re-elected as member of the Ealing division of Middlesex, on being appointed secretary of state for India, and the parliament to which he had been admitted was dissolved within two hours after his election.

GRANT'S LOG CABIN DECAYING.

Structure Removed from St. Louis to Philadelphia Needs Care.

The old log cabin once owned and occupied by Gen. Grant, which he had brought to Philadelphia from St. Louis 20 years ago and which is now in Fairmount park, is fast decaying. Many of the logs have been rotted by the elements and others have been carried away by relic hunters.

Gen. Grant presented the cabin, with the original furniture in it, to his friend, the late George H. Stuart. It is still the property of the Stuart estate, and neither the city nor the park commissioners can do anything with it.

George H. Stuart, Jr., applied four years ago for permission to remove it from the park, and permission was granted, provided the grounds would be restored to their original condition. Nothing has been done in the matter since. It is possible that the grand army men will take some action toward preserving the cabin.

GRANT COUNTY NEWS.

From the Long Creek Eagle.
Frank Forbes arrived Monday from Heppner with freight for Long Creek merchants.
Mrs. P. V. Middleworth, of John Day, passed through Long Creek yesterday, en route to Heppner, where she was called on account of illness of her son-in-law, Dr. Estes.

During the month of January the county clerk of Grant county recorded eight mortgages and 33 deeds, against seven mortgages and 31 deeds during the same month last year.

H. C. Falkner and W. Geas, of Dayville, were passengers on yesterday morning's stage, en route to the Astoria mining district, where they will join the Olin brothers, who went up about two months ago.

The Eagle is informed of the marriage of Mr. N. S. Hall and Miss Daisy Franklin, of Hamilton, which occurred at the home of the bride's parents at Hamilton Tuesday evening. Both Mr. and Mrs. Hall are well and favorably known in this part of Grant county, and the Eagle joins their many friends in wishing them a long, happy life.

The young man killed at Drewsey recently was named Willis Myers. He was a cousin of J. B. Barrett, of this city. He was intoxicated when the trouble happened, and possibly never knew the cause of the injury which resulted in his death. He and Dr. Armond, the man who struck him over the head with a billiard cue, had been bitter enemies for some time.

Nick Hall was up from Monument Sunday, returning home Monday. He informs the Eagle that some cattle and sheepmen in that locality are about out of feed, and will suffer some loss unless spring comes early.

Henry Walker, of Fox valley, who has just recovered from a serious illness, was in Long Creek Monday, accompanied by his wife. His Indiana relatives who recently arrived in Fox valley, have decided to permanently locate in Grant county.

A Warning to Cat Kissers.

It must be a terrifying revelation to those foreign ladies who kiss their cats that has been made by Prof. Fiocchi, the Italian chemist. He has found by experiment that when a cat licks its lips it spreads over them a saliva in which there are swarms of minute bacilli not free from danger to human beings. When he inoculated rabbits and guinea pigs with this noxious substance, they died within 24 hours; and he has come to the conclusion that it is dangerous for ladies to indulge in the habit of kissing their cats. We cannot conceive of any lady indulging in it. By the professor's experiments we learn, further, that there are ladies in Italy who kiss their lap dogs, a habit even more dangerous than the other. His analysis of the saliva of those beasts brought out facts that are too repulsive to be spoken of.—N. Y. Ledger.

RETIRED STATESMAN OWNS UP.

In All Trades are Many Tricks, and Sometimes in Politics. "The man who might call a retired statesman," said the old lawyer, whose practice is chiefly that of a counselor, "but before the war I was in politics up to my eyes," and his face grew younger with the memory, says the Detroit Free Press.

"I was in Kentucky, and the first time I ran for congress I beat one of the best campaigners in that state, and no state has a better. He was a veteran who had been over the course several times, and sneered at the thought of my being a serious opponent. He had the old system of being a hall fellow well met, kissed the babies while he was filling them up with candy and jollied along with the men as though each one was his special friend. I knew it was no use to fight him at his own game, so I invented some new tactics.

"Without the fact attracting any particular attention, it was made public that there were to be from three to five shooting matches and all-around tournaments in each county of the district. Nothing is dearer to the heart of the real Kentuckian. I was an athlete and a good shot, and I was at every one of these contests. I knew just who to beat and who not to beat. When the county had a champion it was proud if he always got the best of me, and I sounded his praises till the male population were fighting friends of mine. My opponent did not shine in feats of strength or skill, and I smoothly managed to create a sentiment wherever I went that the women had better send one of their own number to congress if they were to run the elections; for my part, I believed that the men should run the government. I won easily, and I kept right on winning until I left the state."
