Local Notes.

Monday is school election day.
County court convenes next Monday.
Read The Fair's new ad. and save money.

This is growing weather for the agriculturalists.

Dan Horner and family moved this week into the Hiram Rush property.

Will Spencer and wife are now located in their new home with Wm. Ayers.

Two "curios", real live chimney sweeps, swept the flues of the city this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Ayers took possession of their new home on Chase street this week.

Dr. J. W. Vogel, specialist for refraction and defects of the eye, will be here every three months. 648-lyr

Rev. Flesher is delighted with the interest taken in his series of sermons on "Jonah, the Prophet."

Don't overlook the Morrow County Land and Trust Co. in disposing of your beef hides and sheep pelts. 5-2

If you want a tailor-made suit, refer to Minor & Co.'s guarantee in their display ad. in another column.

The Lion brand of hats are the best in quality and cheapest in price. Sold exclusively by Brown & Hughes.

The funds of the city treasury were increased this week by a fine of $7.50. The result of a "man on his muscle."

The second quarterly conference will be held at the Methodist Episcopal church next Sunday evening at 7 o'clock.

A money-making investment with local capitalists would be a number of snug cottages, which are in urgent demand.

Walter Hale, who has been attending the Portland business college during the winter, has returned to his home in Lexington.

Mr. Yeager, the furniture dealer, has the windows of his place of business nicely decorated with artistic signs, by Mr. Hanrahan, the painter.

Presiding Elder Rev. Robert Warner, of the Methodist Episcopal church, will occupy the pulpit of Rev. Flesher next Sunday morning and evening.

Be not deceived! A cough, hoarseness or croup are not to be trifled with. A dose in time of Shiloh's Cure will save you much trouble. Sold by Conser & Warren.

Rhes & Welch call attention to their space, promising in next week's issue an announcement of the arrival of their spring goods. You should not overlook their space.

Dyspepsia cured. Shiloh's Vitalizer immediately relieves sour stomach, coming up of food distress, and is the great kidney and liver remedy. Sold by Conser & Warren.

Cure that cough with Shiloh's Cure. The best cough cure. Relieves cough promptly. One million bottles sold last year. 40 doses for 25cts. Sold by Conser & Warren.

A Mr. Downs, with his daughter, has moved to Lexington and will establish himself permanently as a blacksmith. The townspeople extend to Mr. Downs a cordial welcome.

Ladies, take the best. If you are troubled with constipation, sallow skin, and a tired feeling, take Karl's Clover Tea, it is pleasant to take. Sold by Conser & Warren.

Lexington is to have a new two-story hotel 40x52 feet, fitted up in first class style. The few business men of this enterprising little burg have the pluck and energy to succeed.

J. Bargayne, the Lexington miller, is considering the advantage of removing his mill adjacent to the railroad, thereby saving expense and will substitute water power for steam.

Karl's Clover Root Tea is a pleasant laxative. Regulates the bowels, purifies the blood, clears the complexion. Easy to make and pleasant to take. 25 cts. Sold by Conser & Warren.

Senator Morrow continues the artistic decorations of the Palace club rooms, and now prides himself with a room second to no other in the northwest, outside of the metropolitan cities.

Mr. J. K. Carr and family arrived in our city Monday evening. Mr. Carr is an accomplished performer upon the cornet and his playing will be a great help in the Southern Methodist choir.

The young men (?) who indiscreetly "kettled" the dog today escaped a $300 damage bill by the strength of a good hitting strap that held Judge Dutton's team. They will pay for their fun yet.

Judge Frazier, on Monday, ordered Samuel Kiezman and his daughter to show cause within ten days why $350 in the hands of the father should not be paid into court on a judgment taken in favor of C. E. Redfield. The court will then decide whether Redfield can take judgment against the father.

Work on the Southern Methodist church building will be commenced at once. Extensive and much needed improvements will be made. The Baptist church has been kindly tendered to this congregation.

Mr. Ad Matteson and Miss Beattie Estes were quietly married yesterday at Lone, and proceeded to Portland on a tour. The many friends of the popular young folks wish them their full share of happiness and prosperity.

"What Came of a Pont", a sermon to children and young folks, will be the subject at the M. E. church, South, next Sunday at 11 a. m. Rev. Gibbs, the presiding elder, will preach at 7 p. m. League at 6 p. m., Prof. Howard, leader.

A meeting of the city council was held Monday evening, when the election vote was thoroughly canvassed, with the same results as announced on election day. Numerous bills were ordered paid, besides a few other unimportant matters attended to.

J. K. Crabb, the veteran stage driver, is now on the line between Lone Rock and Condon, a distance of 22 miles. He was fortunate in missing the winter's severity, taking charge of the stage stock on this end of the line for the past few months.

Next Monday at 7 o'clock p. m., all the members of the Methodist church, South, will meet at the church and relate how they earned some money to pay on the parsonage rent. A most enjoyable occasion is anticipated. Immediately after this the business session of the quarterly conference will be held.

Miss Clyde Melton, a charming and accomplished young lady from Georgia, arrived in Heppner on Monday evening's train. Miss Melton expects to join the band of faithful teachers in this country. She comes highly recommended as an able and conscientious instructor. Miss Melton is stopping at Rev. St. Clair's for the present.

Prof. G. M. Paul, has another class of forty pupils in penmanship, as a result of the enthusiasm enlisted during his school recently expired. The professor's success is merited by his faithful devotion to his pupils, holding their interest and respect, which results in the marked progress made, as noted in the Gazette at the conclusion of his last term.

Rev. E. Edwards, pastor of the English Baptist church at Minersville, Pa., when suffering with rheumatism, was advised to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm. He says: "A few applications of this liniment proved of great service to me. It subdued the inflammation and relieved the pain. Should any sufferer profit by giving Pain Balm a trial it will please me." For sale by Conser & Warren.

The April Ladies' Home Journal will contain the first article of a series telling "How to be Pretty Though Plain." The author, who has verified all her statements, insists that it is within easy possibility for the plainest woman to be pretty, and she thinks it not an unworthy ambition. Good common sense forms the basis of this author's advice to all women who wish to be pretty.

Mike Roberts, at the Belvedere, having remodeled the popular old-time corner, extends to the public a cordial welcome. The beverages he dispenses will be kept up to the highest standard, and the enlargement and comfortable equipment of his billiard parlors and club-rooms are a drawing feature. 92-ft

The Pendleton Republican says: Judge S. A. Lowell returned Friday morning from Portland, where he attended the eighth annual banquet of the Oregon Society, Sons of the American Revolution. The affair occurred at the Commercial Club, Judge L. Williams presided. Judge Lowell responded to "The Spirit of '76 and the Spirit of '98," in which he drew some patriotic pictures.

Theron E. Fell, manager of the Pendleton Wool Scouring Mills, and well known in Heppner, has just returned from a several weeks' tour throughout the East, and expresses his belief that the wool growers generally have missed it in holding their wool for higher prices. Manufacturers have been using shoddy, thus leaving a vast accumulation of wool, which he thinks will weaken the price.

The O. R. & N. Co.'s new book on the Resources of Oregon, Washington and Idaho is being distributed. Our readers are requested to forward the addresses of their Eastern friends and acquaintances, and a copy of the work will be sent them free. This a matter all should be interested in, and we would ask that everyone take an interest and forward such address to W. H. Haribart, General Passenger Agent, O. R. & N. Co., Portland. 81-ft

The torpedo boat Fox, built by Wolff & Zwicker of Portland, made her official trial trip recently and made a success of it, a performance which had never been equaled on an official trip in the annals of shipbuilding. The average speed for the two hours was 23.13 knots, and at one time the speed of 27 miles an hour was reached. Owing to the fog the navigators of the craft could not see a boat's length ahead, which retarded the speed and made the voyage decidedly interesting.

District Attorney H. J. Bean is pleased at the passage of the law placing the district attorneys of the state under a salary, instead of having them work on part salary and part commission as theretofore. Mr. Bean's salary under the new law will be $3000 per year. Out of that he will have to pay his deputies if he hires any. He will hold his office for the period for which elected, which is two years. At the next election, however, district attorneys will be elected for four years instead of two. That latter change also met with Mr. Bean's hearty approval. The new law passed with the emergency clause attached, so it is now in effect. The state will pay the salaries of district attorneys hereafter, instead of the different counties composing the district judging in each and each paying its pro rata share.—Pendleton Republican.

THE INFLUENZA OR GRIP.

A Disease No One Is Exempt From—Cause and Treatment.

Dr. Swinburne furnishes the Gazette with an article written for the Medical Council, from which we extract the following points of importance:

Caution.—The grip has been traced back to Arabia, where it was born. It exists there endemically, and spreads thence rapidly westward over the entire civilized world. It had not manifested itself long before its special causative bacillus was discovered, as is so usual nowadays. It travels quicker than most other epidemic diseases, and it is worse in densely crowded cities, probably for no other reason than that most of their denizens are underfed, overworked, ill-housed and worried. Their resisting powers are weakened. They are in "poor condition," and necessarily afford a suitable medium for the ravages of disease.

I have twice noticed a combination of conditions that may be coincident or bear to each other casual relationship. The preceding large epidemic of the grip was in the winter following the great Johnstown flood. That was the wettest and most miserable summer I can recall, and have seen none like it since. The rain was so frequent that many more scheduled games of base ball were postponed that summer, especially during the first half of the season, than ever before in the history of the game. The excessive atmospheric humidity, together with a temperature ordinarily bearable with comfort, became almost intolerable. Individuals complained everywhere of the prostrating weather. Strangers upon the streets and public conveyances would remark it to one another day after day and week after week, so decided and unusual was it. The summer of 1898, though not so wet as that other one, was a humid, the relative humidity being repeatedly reported by the weather bureau as higher than ever before, and almost always as very or unusually high and persistently so. This condition existed during most of the summer. Ball players, who usually have little regard for the heat, felt the oppressiveness to an unusual extent. It was a common thing, I know, for them to remark it.

I shall not go into the extreme high temperature that was experienced in other parts of the world preceding the spread of the present wave of the grip nor of the excessive cold that dominated other, and sometimes the same, section during the preceding winter; it does not seem necessary. But it does seem to me that the enervating effect of a precedent hot and humid summer has had an immense influence in reducing the resisting powers of entire communities, or at least such part of them as work and worry day after day in the competition for existence.

Treatment.—The treatment of the grip is simple in principle, though manifold in its application. If the grip is essentially, as I believe it to be, an acute, severe prostration of the nerve forces, a dissolution of strength and resisting power, the treatment resolves itself, first of all, into rest in bed to avoid the waste of strength and resisting power; second, support; and third, the relief of pain and the treatment of special symptoms and complications. Stimulation is to be avoided as wasteful of strength, and as being equally as dangerous as the free use of alcohol out in the cold. But I do not mean to forego the use of stimulants, by any means. The proper use of stimulants gives support to waning power, whilst its use beyond this point is the stimulation that is objectionable, causing a waste of energy, with, possibly, in many instances, collapse and death. Feeding within the ability of the patient to assimilate seems to me to be the best supportive measure we have. I incline to no special diet, though only nourishing food should be used to tax the digestive organs. It should, notably in bad cases, or in the old and infirm, be as ready for assimilation as it can be made. Some like milk and oat take care of it, whilst others abominate it. This is an instance of a thing being good for one and not for another. Beef juice, home made, or that made by the wholesale drug houses, is very helpful to many. Some like it, but cannot retain it. I find that many who reject it at first keep it down if it is more diluted. Beef juice is sometimes very irritating. A soft boiled egg is relished by many, and is well taken care of. Others like an egg beaten up in milk, with some alcoholic added. Preferences of patients should always be consulted in these matters—their predilections usually point in the right direction for themselves. Oranges or baked apples may be given as relishes. Nationality must be taken into consideration, and the preferences of the patient be given a slight trial at least, especially to teach a patient that he is wrong by letting him see it for himself and then do with it, than to worry for a thing for hours or days.

Local Amateurs.

Saturday night the lone amateurs, under instruction of Mr. and Mrs. Dell Knowlton, played to a Lexington audience that popular drama "Ten Nights in a Barroom." Wm. Myers went forth to help them out. The company was well received, and taking into consideration their limited practice, gave an entertainment satisfactory to their audience. While these entertainments do not compare with professionals, the social features of the occasions are most important, as they develop an acquaintance and neighborhood interest, which, sooner or later, is appreciated.

Notice of Stockholders Meeting.

Notice is hereby given that a meeting of the stockholders of the Morrow County Land and Trust Company will be held at their office in Heppner, Oregon, on the second Saturday in March, 1922, at 7 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of electing directors for the ensuing year.

WOMAN'S WAYS.

A Few Hints by a Heppner Gent Who Contemplates Matrimony.

A woman's lips are the rose, and her tongue the thorn.

When a woman weeps scalding tears, she is boiling over with rage.

A woman never tells her age after she is old enough to know better.

Women are rarely good listeners—unless there is a convenient keyhole.

Men sometimes think they understand women, but men are sometimes fools.

Age may not be talkative, but it is sure to tell on women in course of time.

The society woman has two faces; one for home use and the other for company.

The woman who can look at a hole in a newspaper without wondering what was out out is a freak.

To please a man, get him to talk about himself; to please a woman, get her to talk about her neighbors.

Telephone operators are always bound to have the last word; that's why females are always employed in that capacity.

A pretty woman without brains soon goes to the devil, but a pretty woman with brains always sends a man instead.

We want more potatoes—bring all you can spare. Highest market price.

Sheepmen and Wool Handlers Going.

The people of Pendleton, Oregon, are making preparations to extend the best of hospitality to those who attend the second annual convention of the Pacific Northwest Wool Growers' Convention, to be held there on March 7th, 8th and 9th. The convention promises to be more than an occasion for mere enjoyment; but one on which there will be given many things of inestimable value to sheepmen and wool handlers. No one interested in this industry can afford to miss it.

Railroads have given a one and a fifth fare. See that you secure tickets based on this rate.

Dreadfully Nervous.

Gents:—I was dreadfully nervous, and for relief took your Carl's Clover Root Tea. It quieted my nerves and strengthened my whole nervous system. I was troubled with constipation, kidney and bowel trouble. Your Tea soon cleansed my system so thoroughly that I rapidly regained health and strength. Mrs. S. A. Sweet, Hartford, Conn. Sold by Conser & Warren.

Poor and Weak

Catarrh and Bronchial Trouble—Had no Appetite—Now Better in Every Way—A Delicate Child.

"Some time since I took a sudden cold and could not get rid of it. Being subject to catarrh and bronchial trouble I coughed terribly. I lost my appetite and grew poor and weak and I did not feel like work. I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. In a short time the cough disappeared, I slept well, had a good appetite and I was better in every way. Last spring I was not feeling well. I had no appetite and no strength. I resorted to Hood's Sarsaparilla and soon felt more like work. My little nephew was a delicate child and had a humor which troubled him so he could not rest at night. He has taken a few bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla and now he has a good appetite and is able to sleep." Miss ABIE J. FREEMAN, South Duxbury, Mass.
