In 1897 we had thousands of requests from teachers and scholars for Wonderland '97. The edition-s large one-was exhausted long before the end of the year. Wonderland '98 cannot only be supplied to those unable to secure the former but also to others. It is entirely different however, from the first named book. It has a chapter on the Agricultural Northwest, cramed full of valuable information; one on Yellowstone Park. written especially for teachers; another on Alaska and Klondike, and one on a canone lake trip, that will be of interest to schools. The book has a high art cover designed by Leyendecker, and it is graphs.
