In eastern markets there has been a good demand during the week and the market has ruled rather firm. Millers wanted choice wheat and it was taken up quite readily. The receipts have been rather small and the reports of damage to the growing wheat helped to sustain prices. Country bolders appear to be indifferent about selling and may possibly be inclined to hold until the conditions of the new crop can be ascertained. This may partly account for the small movement. The demand has been good and soft wheat was especially wanted. Millers have taken about all of the wheat received, though occasional care went direct into the elevator on purchases made to arrive. In the speculative market wheat continues to rule Ukish, and Robin W. Fletcher have filed irregular, sentiment still being very

L. F. Gardner Pardoned,

Oregon Independent. Governor Geer probably did right in pardoning L. F. Gardner, who was sentenced to serve in the penitentiary for S years for the crime of rape. We are told that the petition was signed by Judge Burnett, District Attorney Hayden and all the jury convicting him, claiming that there were grave doubts as to his baying committed the crime. The fact of the matter is that this "age of consent" business is liable to great abuse, and often on the oath of a silly and unprincipled girl, innocent persons are sent to the peniteniary to pine away years of their life. But we do not say that this was so in Gardener's case.

If the jury who convicted Gardener had grave doubts of his guilt, they should not have rendered the verdict they did. We cannot understand the moral obliquity of a jury who would convict a man of such a dreadful crime, and then turn around some months
