Those Dreadful Sores

They Continued to Spread in Spite of Treatment but Now They are Healed—A Wonderful Work.

"For many years I have been a great sufferer with various sores on one of my limbs. My foot and limb became dreadfully swollen. When I stood up I could feel the blood rushing down the veins of this limb. One day I accidentally hit my foot against some object and a sore broke out which continued to spread and was exceedingly painful. I concluded I needed a blood purifier and I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. In a short time those dreadful sores which had caused me so much suffering, began to heal. I kept on faithfully with Hood's Sarsaparilla, and in a short time my limb was completely healed and the sores gave me no more pain. I cannot be too thankful for the wonderful work Hood's Sarsaparilla, has done for me." Mrs. A. E. GILSON, Hartland, Vermont.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Persons contemplating purchasing residence property in Heppner in order to take advantage of our unrivaled school facilities will do well to call on or address L. W. Briggs who has the choicest location in Heppner. Four and one-third lots, small house on one, will sell in piece or divide.

The Dalles complains of some wool-growers not selling when fair prices are offered, fearing that some of them will have their clips on hand until it loses its value. Heppner wool-growers "got next" to themselves and disposed of their wool. Wool buyers here are scarce as hen's teeth. They are all good fellows and pay their board bills, but 12 cents per pound it a good substitute.

Walden Rhea and family, accompanied by Hick Mathews and family and Lesa Matlock, left for Ditch creek the first of the week. It is reported that a yellow flag flies from each "wigwam." Walden is authority for "a farmer coming up the road and, nearing the camp, discovered the yellow snubbonnet perched on a stick, when he jerked the old horse around for his fight with a suddenness that snapped the animal's head off."

Simons & Son, the pioneer blacksmiths, are up to the times in securing a latest improved "Little Giant Hub Boring Machine" with Abbott's box puller for putting in and taking out borse. Pap Simons has been a long time in the business and selected this machine after a thorough personal investigation, and upon recommendation of the leading wagon makers of America, who have substituted all other machines with it. He finds it as it is guaranteed, the latest and best development of its kind.

Harry E. Warren returned on Tuesday night's train with his family from a week's stay at Wind river, on the Washington side of the Columbia river, the popular summer resort of The Dalles, where he found many of the principal citizens of that city. Fishing, bathing and general rustication under the shadow of the mountain sides made his stay a delightful pastime. As he neared home he received the first news of our smallpox sensation and arriving here was more than pleased to find the city calmed down, and no indication of the disease spreading, with business assuming its normal condition.

Caldwell Record: The gentleman who worked some of our business men for adic in the Presbyterian manual that he was going to publish, returned unexpectedly to town in company of Sheriff Campbell, who was one of his victims. Dan got him at Montpelier, where he was doing good work in the same line that he has been working in Weiser and this city. On his arrival here he explained to the Rev. Smith that he was mistaken on his construction of the agreement, claiming that he had stated that he would return in three weeks and have the work done. On this showing the prosecuting witness on the advice of the county attorney dismissed the charge and let the young man go free. It is safe to bet that the next advertising agent that strikes this town will have to get his work done before he gets any checks. The boys are onto themselves, as it were.

Herb Bartholomew and John Ayers left Tuesday morning for the Long Creek country to receive some cattle purchased a few days since, which they will take to their ranges in Grant county and "fill up" for a promising market in store for them. Before departing Herb gave an exhibition of equestrianism on Main street, which, compared with Barnum's equestrian monkeys, carried off the palm. Alighting in the saddle, both hands went intuitively to the horn, and "jag-holt" regardless of the reins. The guileless mustang turned slowly in direction of the stable, depositing Herb in the middle of the street. The tables had turned, and the hilarity of his audience knew no bounds. The touch of "high life" he had administered to horses the previous day or two had come back to him fourfold. Herb acknowledged his defeat by turning the animal over to its proprietor at the end of a long rope, with a distressing appeal for a buccaro. The owner appealed at once to a little child, and the little fellow responded by riding the gentle animal back and forth, to the chagrin of the veteran "couter-hopper" and all his friends. It is safe to predict that Herb as a stockman will round his cattle up on foot with a shepherd's "crook."

JESS STEWART RETURNS.
His Band of 75 Head of Horses Turned Over to Willamette Farmers.
Jess Stewart is again installed into his position with Rhea & Welton, having experienced an adventuresome trip across the mountains with his horses. He traveled the McKenzie route, encountered snow on the ascent of the mountains for a distance of 15 miles, a portion of the distance on the crust, which at times gave way precipitating the horses, which resulted in the exhaustion and death of eight head. The reflection from snow almost blinded the drivers, who neglected smoked glasses. At the time of leaving the valley he had disposed of a number of head, principally unbroken horses. The others will be held in pasture until disposed of. Had he arrived there a few weeks sooner the sale of the entire band would have been assured in short order.

Death of Arthur Tibbitts.
Died at Lower Lake, Cal., of consumption, July 7, Arthur Tibbitts, aged 28 years and 8 months. The deceased was a member of the city band and had been attending Whitman college for the past four years. His many friends will be grieved to learn of his untimely death. He was a great favorite at the college and well liked by all who knew him. Arthur was raised in Heppner, and his many friends will feel sad that his young life could not have been spared for the useful purpose for which he had prepared himself.

Personal.

Andy J. Cook, of Lens, registered at the Palace Tuesday.
Emery Lezer substitutes Frank Natter at the Hop Gold palace.
Miss Mable Lezer has returned after an enjoyable visit at the metropolis.
Mrs. Fred Book returned from a visit with her parents in Portland last night.
Representative Freeland is editor-in-chief of the Times during Editor Shutt's seige of small-pox.

W. J. Walsh, Iona's wide-awake sheepman, paid Heppner a business visit the first of the week.
Mrs. Evans, wife of the late Allen Evans, is the mother of a beautiful little daughter, born last week.

The family of Jack Matlock have removed to town and will spend some time at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Matlock.
Geo. W. Young, a conductor of a construction train was killed near Victoria, B. C., last week. He was formerly an Arlington merchant.

W. L. Saling, Clyde Saling, Jake Wells and Jess Shelley are now at the head of Willow creek in search of venison and bear meat.
Mrs. Martha Ross, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Neville, returned to Portland Monday accompanied by Mrs. Jas. Lacey.

Mr. O. J. Reynolds, a graduate of Portland's Business college, spent Wednesday visiting Jess Stewart, on his return home to Helena, Montana.

Hon. Henry Blackman left Monday morning for Spokane. He is about to form a copartnership in the brokerage and insurance business with one of Washington's most prominent and influential citizens.
Most Natter and Otis Welch will be "shining society lights" at the Teal springs, during the heights of the season. Toggied in their "ice cream" suits, patent leathers, etc., they started for the popular resort Tuesday. Hearts will suffer.

The Dalles Times-Mountaineer refers to Mrs. J. Crawford, the professional nurse, as having gone to Spokane for her health. Mrs. Crawford spent a few weeks in Heppner recently in quest of health, and it was hoped by her Heppner friends that she had benefited.

The city marshal has proven himself equal to the smallpox emergency and has not only administered unceasingly to the wants of those afflicted but has enforced distinction regardless of long residence and prominence. George does not weigh 200 pounds but he gets there just the same.

Messrs. Macklin and Fordyce, the popular druggists, braved the sensational rumors about town and were doing business with our merchants this week just the same. They report this mild epidemic all along the line, with scarcely any of the business communities paying it any attention.
C. E. Fish, of Portland, has rented the building formerly occupied by the Elk restaurant and on the first of the month will open up a cigar factory. Mr. Fish is a smart man and will familiarize our traders and consumers with the details of its growth, treatment and manufacture. This industry is deserving of support and adds to our home industries.

C. L. KEITHLY RETURNS.

Back From Dawson City for a Few Months' Visit Here.

C. L. Keithly, son of ex-County Judge Julius Keithly, who left here four years ago last February, returned here last week to visit his parents. Going to Juneau from here, he spent one year's time there, and with a number of others crossed the Chilkoot pass and located on Forty Mile creek, 50 miles beyond the present site of Dawson City. Mr. Keithly mined there with varied success until the Bonanza creek excitement was sprung, and, like many others, resented there as pioneers on the ground selecting his claim by the "staking out" process, customary there in the absence of a code of laws. Their venture later on came in conflict with the laws of Canadian authority and he was one of four whose claims were crowded out of the rich belt. Remaining there he spent considerable work on various claims until the city of Dawson was founded, where he has been since. Mr. Keithly, acquainted with the conditions of that country, feels that his business chances there are better than here. While the country is considerably overrun now, with those who will come out and a distribution of others, opportunities in the future should be good for a person with pluck enough to stay.
He came down the Yukon by way of St. Michaels, occupying a month's time. Returning this fall he expects to go in via Skagway, where the railroad over the pass will be completed, which will do away with the former difficulties and hardships.
Mr. Keithly is the picture of health, and shows no indications of having missed any meals. He is careful not to inspire a stampede for that country, in consideration of the homeick venturers there already trying to get out.

Resolved, That these resolutions be placed upon the records of this lodge, a copy transmitted to the immediate relatives, and a copy printed in each of the Heppner newspapers.

Geo. Conser, E. L. Freeland, R. F. Hynd, Committee.
