At the old familiar corner, the Belvedere, a smile awaits you. Within will be found the choicest brands of liquors and cigars. Billiard and pool tables kept in prime condition.

Frank Whetstone, eldest son of Newt Whetstone, arrived here from Portland this week. The young man is just out of St. Vincents, where he underwent an operation for appendicitis.

The Heppner Steam Laundry is out with its new laundry list. After 10 months' experience we can give you the best satisfaction in price and work. You will save money by inquiring prices.

Ben Mathews returned from Portland with his wife Tuesday night, where he took her for treatment. He was fortunate in having her return with him, since when she has shown decided improvement.

Tunis Swick, the popular stockman, came to Heppner last week accompanied by his wife, son and daughter, who proceeded to the Willamette valley for a visit of several weeks. Mr. Swick enjoyed a few days here with his many friends.

The little son of Mr. Scrivner, the blacksmith, who broke his leg, between the knee and thigh several weeks ago, is now about with his limb perfectly straight, to the satisfaction of not only his parents, but Dr. Swinburne as well, who attended him.

Rev. C. D. Nickelsen will preach on the following subjects next Sunday at the M. E. church: At 11 a. m., "Helping and Over-helping;" at 7.30 p. m., "The Aloneness of Life." All not worshipping elsewhere are invited to worship with us.

Messrs Swaggart & McAtee both went to Portland this week to contract for the erection of a brick building on the site of their former place, which they hope to have finished in thirty days. They have also purchased new fixtures, which are said to be very fine.

Martin Anderson, a young man who has made his home with Senator Morrow, returned from Portland this week, where he went several months ago to take a course in the business college there, and has taken the position as day clerk in the Palace hotel.

A. M. Giesy, fire insurance adjuster, came up from Portland in the interest of his company, and allowed Benj. Mathews the full amount of his insurance, which amounted to about $600. Mr. Mathews will begin the erection of a new building as soon as carpenters are available.

Yesterday morning many of our citizens enjoyed the excitement of a coyote chase on the ridge east of the court house, at about eight o'clock. Dave Herren's pack of hounds were after it and finally run it into Senator Morrow's barn, where some small boys succeeded in capturing it.

The Rock Island Playing Cards are the slickest you ever handled. One pack will be sent by mail on receipt of 15 cents in stamps. A money order or draft for 50 cents or same in stamps will secure 4 packs, and they will be sent by express, charges prepaid. Address, JOHN SEBASTIAN, G. P. A., C. R. I. & P. Chicago.

In the presence of about thirty intimate friends of the young people, Rev. C. D. Nickelsen joined in holy matrimony Percy E. Dawson and Ella LeForsy at the home of the bride's parents, on Monday evening. Numerous presents were bestowed upon them, and their many friends unite in wishing them their allotment of happiness.

E. L. Berry, who took a summer's vacation from his painting and paper hanging business to run an engine for E. L. Campbell during harvest on Campbell's ridge and in Clarks Canyon, returned here a few days ago to resume his trade. Mr. Berry is a first-class engineer and follows his trade of paper-hanging and painting only through preference.

Mr. V. R. White's family arrived here last Saturday direct from Finley, Ohio, and have taken up their residence on the corner of Main and August streets. Mr. White's comes upon the solicitation of Geo. White's, his brother, the popular proprietor of The Fair store. The business of this institution has developed to such proportions that a small army of clerks are necessary to accommodate its customers.

Marshal Thorton and his deputies were kept busy Tuesday night, which was Halloween. What the boys left undone the officers were close to. Five of the young bloods were run to earth by the marshal, and he is authority for these young men having set about re-arranging too many gates to be enumerated, besides returning cords of wood to the sheds from which it was carried by the "devil's imps," who always raise the mischief on the night of October 31st.

Jas. Morrow has reached Skagway on his way home to Fossil from Klondike, penniless and badly used up with rheumatism. We understand a Fossil friend has sent him the money required to bring him the remainder of the way. Poor Jim! He is one of the great majority of gold-seekers who seldom hear anything about—the ones who fail to "strike it." His Klondike adventure has cost him his health, his money, and two of the best years of his life.—Fossil Journal.

On Saturday afternoon a number of our citizens were attracted to a horse suffering from lockjaw on our streets. Every suggested remedy was tried to relieve the animal without success. Its driver concluded to try and get home with it, but when opposite the ranch of J. Q. Wilson the animal dropped dead. Its driver abandoned it where it fell, and since then it has been a menace to travellers. The owner should be compelled to remove and bury it.

W. B. Robinson, a former popular hotel man of Portland, but late of Oregon City, spent Sunday here sizing up the Palace hotel proposition. He was decidedly impressed with our little city and had not other arrangements been decided upon he would probably been our future hotel manager. Those who met him pronounced him the kind of a citizen Heppner is in need of. We can vouch for his business ability, having formerly boarded at a hotel of which he was proprietor.

There are several methods of finding the live weight of cattle, but the following is probably the most correct: Measure the girth around the breast just behind the shoulder blade and the length of the back from the tail to the fore part of the shoulder blade. Multiply the product by 11 and the result will be the number of pounds. If between three and five feet multiply by 16; if between five and seven feet, multiply by 23; if between seven and nine feet, multiply by 31; if between nine and eleven feet, multiply by 40.

The O. R. & N. is going to build a brand new, spick and span, $3000 union depot at Biggs, or rather, a mile and a half west of that station, the work to commence about the 1st of November. This will make everybody around these parts jump for joy. That old shack has been an eyesore for a good many years, and we have seen pleasanter places to wait for a train. With a fine depot (with a lunch counter attachment) to rest in for three or four hours when going west, life will for passengers at the new Biggs be at least endurable. Besides, the new location is almost entirely devoid of the sand nuisance. —Wasco News.

DEATH OF GEORGE VINCENT.

A Bright Young Man Passed Away Tuesday Afternoon.

Just at the threshold of a bright career George Vincent, aged twenty, was taken away. For nearly three years he had shown symptoms of Bright's disease, and a few months ago it developed into an acute form which is responsible for his death. About two weeks ago George disappeared from the midst of his schoolmates and associates, when the announcement came that he was in a serious condition. Since then all who knew him have been in a condition of suspense, and the announcement of his death cast a gloom over the entire community.

George was truly an exception to the average young man, from the fact that he was inspired with an ambition to become more than an ordinary plodder, and, faithful to his studies, his ambition was sure of fulfillment, had not death taken him away at this important time. Considerate of others, he was always a gentleman, and this admirable trait won him the love and admiration of old and young.

At the Methodist Episcopal church yesterday afternoon, where his funeral was held, standing room was denied many who came to pay their respects to one so deserving. Rev. C. D. Nickelsen preached a touching sermon, and as he dwelt upon the companionship of this young man and his schoolmates, his obituary and his ambitions, the emotion of the entire assemblage was distressing. The girls and boys as well as fathers and mothers were sobbing as though their hearts would break.

Accompanying the remains to the cemetery was the fire department, of which he was a member, drawing its hose cart, and following the hearse was the room of his schoolmates to which he belonged. The close of this school year promised his graduation with high honors, and he had already planned for the study of dentistry.

The parents and family of this worthy young man have occasion to mourn the loss of one who would prove an example for all young men, regardless of their social conditions and influences, and they have the sympathy of all.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.

Brakeman Woodworth Has a Foot Run Over and Badly Crushed.

The train leaving here Friday morning reached Lexington at 12:40, where they found it necessary to do some switching, and in starting to climb the ladder on a freight car, the brakeman, Bert Woodworth, slipped and his right foot went under the truck crushing it badly. He was picked up and brought to Heppner on the locomotive, and taken to the Hotel Heppner, where Dr. House, assisted by Dr. McFaul, attended him. A cut of six inch extended the length of the upper and inner surface of the foot, the big toe was disjunct, and the other toes and portions of the foot badly crushed. The little toe, which was hanging by the skin, was taken off and the blood vessels tied, after which the injury was carefully dressed to await the return of circulation, that final decision as to how much of the foot should be amputated could be decided. The following morning orders came from the railroad company to bring him at once to the St. Vincents hospital in Portland, which was done. The doctors' opinion is that he will lose a portion of the foot.

The young man was 23 years of age and had been here but three weeks. He displayed wonderful nerve while submitting to treatment.

Gratitude.

The boys of the fire department had the occasion to realize that their efforts at the fire last week were appreciated. Senator Morrow presented the department with a check for fifty dollars, in consideration of their efforts to save his property. This money will be added to the fund which they expect to realize from the sale of tickets to their ball tomorrow night and be used for the purchase of a training truck and fire suits. The business men are responding generally and a well equipped department will be the result.

An Eight Mile Wedding.

Mr. Otto E. Lundstrom joined hearts with Miss Anna Lundell last Sunday at the Swedish church on Eight Mile, the Rev. E. W. Skans, of Portland, officiating. The ceremony was most interesting and friends from far and near gathered to wish the happy couple well. A sumptuous dinner was spread in the hall at the conclusion of the ceremony, and again on Monday. The couple have a wide circle of friends in that community and they were all there to join in the festivities.

Cunningham Bucks.

The well-known Cunningham Bucks, thoroughbred grades and Delain, will be on exhibition and for sale at Heppner on or about October 1st. Prices to suit the times. In charge of W. H. HUGHES.

Hon. Phil Metcahan, in connection with Mr. C. W. Knowles, has taken charge of the Imperial Hotel, of Portland. The reputation of these gentlemen insures the success of the enterprise. The diningroom is excellently managed and is unsurpassed.
