Irish Fought Nobly

Bloemfontein, April 5.—The Royal Irish Rifles had been marching in the but business seems slow. However, there are symptoms of growers and buyers getting closer together, and they are really not far apart. A. M. Bunce and O. E. Farnsworth have had a pleasant picnic bush wheeking around each three guns in position. The Irish inant picnic bush-whacking around each other about buying and selling, but no trenched themselves while the mounted three guns in position. The Irish in-trenched themselves while the mounted infantry scouted along both flanks, only

Al Justice on yesterday sold 1200 mixed yearlings, and is said to have actually received $2.60 a head; but buyers claim that this sale does not represent the true condition of the market, and that it was an accidental sale.

Charles White has this season bought in Heppner 18,000 sheep, some yearlings,—mostly 2-year-olds,—and the average price he paid is about $3.

Infantry scouted along both flanks, only to find escape impossible.
