Captain Jack and the Prescher. The Klammath Falls Republican says: An interesting incident is related in connection with the execution of Captain Jack, who was one of the Indians hanged in this county for murdering Gen. Canby in the Modoc war. The day before his death, Captain Jack was visited by a number of the clergy and asked to receive the ordinance of baptism and otherwise prepare himself for a comfortable reception at the end of his journey on the morrow, being told of heaven's bliss and the means to attain it. The Captain inquired of the divine if he were actually sure of heaven and the way to get there, to which an affirmative answer was given, with positive assurance. Whereupon Jack replied: "As for me, I feel a trifle uncertain about the matter, and you being sure, I'll make this proposition to you: You take my place tomorrow and go to that region, about which you haven't a single doubt, and in return for the favor I'll give you all I've got—10 ponies—to add to your estate. I'm not usually very particular, but in this instance, feeling somewhat uneasy about the result, would a little rather stay here."
