R. C. Wills was down to lone yesterday and found big crops of good grain being harvested. E. G. Sperry & Son have two headers and 25 men at work, and are getting 25 bushels an acre from their 1300-acre patch, and it is good, plump wheat.

The Heppner wool market continues quiet, and recent sales of about 300,000 pounds were at from 8 cents for Columbia river sandy wool up to 13 for Heppner Hills. Among recent sellers were C. A. Rhea 75,000 pounds. Tunis Swick 38,000, W. G. McCarty 20,000.

What Is It?

A man who has been running a race with steam and electricity for years, finds himself suddenly stopped. It seems as if a cold hand clutched his heart. His brain whirls; he can hardly see. "What is it?" he asks himself as the attack passes. If his question meets a right answer, he'll be told that his seizure is a warning to pay more attention to his stomach, which is already deranged by irregular meals and rich foods.

Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition. It eliminates from the blood disease breeding poisons. It makes the blood rich and pure, and furnishes a foundation for sound, physical health.

"About ten years ago I began to have trouble with my stomach," writes Mr. Wm. Connolly, of 535 Walnut Street, Lorain, Ohio. "I got so bad that I had to lay off for three days in a week. I have been treated by the best doctors in this city, but got no help. Some said I had cancer of the stomach, others catarrh, others dyspepsia. Then I wrote you for advice. You advised the use of your Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Pellets. These medicines I have taken as directed. I commenced to get better from the start, and have not lost a day this summer on account of my stomach. I feel top-top, and better than I have for ten years."

Keep the bowels healthy by using Dr. Pierce's Pellets. They don't gripe.

Everybody wants to know what The Oregonian has to say.

SNAKES PLAN A ROBBERY.

An Ingenious Arrangement by Which Bank Swallows Were to Be Caught. A number of Baltimore naturalists had an unique experience the other day while on an ornithological excursion. They were searching for bank swallows in the neighborhood of Tolchester beach, about a mile from the pier where the excursion boats land.

The nests of bank swallows are built in holes in perpendicular banks, generally in colonies, dozens of holes being only a few inches apart. The bank the young men were exploring was about 30 feet in height, with the nests averaging seven feet from the top. The bank was almost perpendicular and the nests were reached by means of ladders constructed of trees.

One of the naturalists, after working for some time at one of the nests, felt his hand come in contact with some thing unusual. Drawing out his hand and looking into the hole he was surprised to find, coiled down at the bottom a huge blacksnake, which, after being gotten out and killed, proved to be nearly seven feet in length.

Toward two other snakes, equally as long, were found in different holes. The surface of the bank was perfectly smooth, so the only possible way for the snakes to have reached the nests was to have let themselves down from some short overhanging roots at the top of the bank.

The snakes seemed to have worked along the bank from nest to nest, as several nests were found in which were eggs that had been emptied of their contents. In a nest with one of the snakes was a bird which had been lately killed, and which the snake evidently was about to devour when its own end came.

The naturalists said they had been collecting eggs for many years, but had never before seen anything so like a well-planned attack of snakes upon birds' eggs.—Baltimore Sun.

GREAT UMBRELLA AT OMAHA.

Novel Mechanical Device at the Trans-Mississippi Exposition. The last Paris exposition had its Eiffel tower, Chicago has its Ferris wheel, Nashville has its gigantic seascaw. The department of concessions of the Omaha trans-Mississippi exposition of 1898 has also received application for space for the erection of a novel mechanical device for view. It resembles the framework of a gigantic umbrella more than anything else which might be mentioned. The part corresponding to the stick of the umbrella in an immense cylinder, 30 feet in diameter, constructed of steel plates firmly riveted, making a stand-pipe which rears its head 250 feet above the level of the ground. At the extreme top of this cylinder are fastened 12 long arms, resembling the ribs of an umbrella. These are steel trusses, reaching almost to the ground. At the lower end of each of these ribs is suspended a car for carrying passengers, each car having a capacity for 20 persons.

These monster ribs are raised by hydraulic power, acting by means of steel cables operating through the cylinder, aided by a mechanism greatly resembling that portion of an umbrella which comes into action when the umbrella is opened. By means of this mechanism the gigantic arms are raised until they are horizontal, the cars in the meanwhile being carried outward and upward until they reach a point 250 feet above the ground. The diameter of the huge circle formed by the suspended cars is also 250 feet. When the highest point has been reached another mechanism comes into play and the suspended cars are swung slowly around in a circle, after which they are lowered to the ground. The sides of the cars are of glass, so that the passengers may secure an extensive view of the surrounding country.—Manufacturer.
