A Life and Death Fight.

Mr. W. A. Hines, of Manchester, Ia., writing of his almost miraculous escape from death, says: "Exposure after measles induced serious lung trouble, which ended in Consumption. I had frequent hemorrhages and coughed night and day. All my doctors said I must soon die. Then I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, which completely cured me. I could not be without it even if it cost $5 a bottle. Hundreds have used it on my recommendation and all say it never fails to cure throat, chest and lung troubles." Regular size 50c and $1. Trial bottles free at Conser & Warren Drug Co.

"Yes, indeed, I sleep well now. No more nightmares for me," said Jas. Ritter yesterday as he happily beatoned on people he met. Briggs, and now if I die my wife and little ones are sure of money enough to carry them along for years."

THE GREAT JOHN DAY.

Ben Campbell, general traffic manager of the O. R. & N., in an interview published in the Sumpster Miner said: "There are about 200 miles square of this inland, isolated empire, with no transportation facilities except horses and wagons. There are thousands of acres of land in a high state of cultivation, hundreds of acres of the finest orchards in the world, tens of thousands of acres of unequalled grazing land, on which hundreds of thousands of cattle and horses are feeding fat. And this is the John Day country and beyond. "No section of the globe affords such rich promise for the farmer, stockman and miner."

THE COW FOR MILK.

The cow in all civilized countries is always a boarder upon some person. She should be made to pay for her board at such remunerative rates as will leave a profit for the boarding-house keeper. If she fails in that, she should be made to render a service which she will not willingly contribute. Her carcass should be made into beef, and her hide into leather. She should not be sent to board upon some other unfortunate man. A cow with the business habit of keeping her accounts with the world paid up, through the man who owns and feeds her, is a good business cow. Her power of service will be indicated by certain external points. She should have a large, long udder, of elastic, fine quality; a mellow, movable skin, covered with soft, silky hair; a long, large barrel, hooped with flat ribs, broad and wide apart; a broad loin, spreading out into broad, long hind quarters; an open twist, with rather thin hips, and a lean neck of symmetrical length, carrying a clean-cut, fine face, with prominent eyes. A cow with these points has ability to serve a man well, if she gets a fair chance.

That her calves may have powers equal to, or rather better than her own, care should be exercised in their breeding. The best blood of the breed adapted to the farmer's purpose should be used to enlarge and not to lessen, the working capacity to be transmitted to her calves.

DR. PIERCE'S GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY

"I have been thinking of writing you for some time," writes Mrs. W. D. Benson, of Maxton, Robeson Co., N. C., "to let you know what a wonderful thing Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery did for my little boy. He was taken with indigestion when he was a year and a half old, and he was under the doctor's treatment for five long years. We spent all we made for doctor's bills, and it did no good. He could not eat anything but a little milk and cracker, and sometimes even this would make him sick, and he got very weak; could not sit up all day, and I gave up all hope of his ever getting any better. Looking over one of your books I noticed Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery recommended for indigestion. We bought some and gave to our boy. Two bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cured him. He is well as can be, and can eat anything that he wants and it does not hurt him. He has not been sick a day since, and it has been three years since he took your medicine. I pray that God will always bless you and your medicine."

FOR DISEASES OF THE STOMACH, BLOOD, NERVES, ACID LUNGS.

DON'T BE DUPED
There have been placed upon the market several cheap reprints of an obsolete edition of Webster's Dictionary. They are being offered under various names at a low price. By dry goods dealers, grocers, agents, etc., and in a few instances as a premium for subscriptions to papers. Announcements of these comparatively worthless reprints are very misleading; for instance, they are advertised to be the substantial equivalent of a higher-priced book, when in reality, so far as we know and believe, they are all from A to Z.

Reprint Dictionaries, phototype copies of a book of over fifty years ago, which in its day was sold for about $5.00, and which was much superior in paper, print, and binding to these imitations, being then a work of some merit instead of one.

Long Since Obsolete.
The supplement of 10,000 so-called "new words," which some of these books are advertised to contain, was compiled by a gentleman who died over forty years ago, and was published before his death. Other minor additions are probably of more or less value.

The Webster's Unabridged Dictionary published by our house is the only meritorious one of that name familiar to this generation. It contains over 300 pages, with illustrations on nearly every page, and bears our imprint on the title page. It is protected by copyright from cheap imitation. Valuable as this work is, we have at vast expense published a thoroughly revised successor, known throughout the world as Webster's International Dictionary. As a dictionary lasts a lifetime you should

VERDICT OF GUILTY.

Georgetown, Ky., Aug. 18.—The verdict of the jury in the case of ex-Secretary of State Caleb Powers, charged with being an accessory before the fact to the murder of William Goebel, was: "We find the defendant guilty and fix his punishment at confinement in the penitentiary for the rest of his natural life."

When the jury retired the belief was general that they would not agree, and in this opinion the defendant was firmly convinced. When the verdict was returned, Powers, for the first time during the weary six weeks of the trial, betrayed his feelings. Under all of the trying incidents of the trial he had maintained a changeless expression, the same whether things were going favorably or against him. The verdict of guilty, however, staggered him. One of the jurors said tonight that the jury members were influenced in making up their verdict by many things in the evidence, but that some of the chief points were Powers' own admission on the stand that he organized a crowd of 1200 armed mountaineers, who came to Frankfort Jan. 15; his corroboration of parts of the testimony of Noakes, Golden and Culton; the proof that he gave Yontsee the key and that the shot was fired from his office.

During the trial Attorney Franklin said that the state of facts admitted by Powers showed him guilty of treason, even prior to the murder of Goebel. Powers, though he had taken an oath when sworn in as Secretary of State that he would uphold and defend the constitution and the laws of the state, had confessed to the witness stand that he and those associated with him meant to defy at least one of those laws, and in furtherance of that design he organized a band of braves for the purpose of intimidation and murder. When both the murder and intimidation had failed in its purpose, Powers and others had tried to overthrow the state government. The spectacle of an ex-governor of the state (referring to Brown) defending a man who had confessed as much as Powers, he said, was both surprising and humiliating. In conclusion, Attorney Franklin bitterly arraigned Powers for what he termed his conspiracy to cover up his own crime and let the guilt fall upon Yontsee.

Forty Years Among Cannibals.
The French adventurer who was a captive among cannibals in Central Africa for forty years, has decided to write a book, which will no doubt prove interesting. We own sympathize with his release from his terrible captivity, which must have been as joyous as that of a man who finds himself suddenly released from the captivity of a refractory stomach, by that peerless remedy, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which has done more to promote health than any other in existence. This is the medicine to take, if you are a sufferer from dyspepsia, constipation, indigestion, biliousness, nervousness or insomnia. Don't fail to give it a trial. Ask for Hostetter's, and do not accept a substitute. The genuine has Private Revenue Stamp over the neck of bottle.

CHEAP PASTURE.
Anyone wanting pasture for a bunch of cattle, horses or sheep, call on J. W. Redington, at Gazette office, Heppner.

"My baby was terribly sick with the diarrhoea," says J. H. Doak, of Williams, Oregon. "We were unable to cure him with the doctor's assistance, and as a last resort we tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I am happy to say it gave immediate relief and a complete cure." For sale by Conser & Warren.

LOAN WANTED.
A man who owns 900 acres of good land and much other property wants to borrow $3000 on 2 years' time at 8 per cent. Anybody who wants to make such a loan, send word to the Gazette office.

He Fooled the Surgeons.
All doctors told Renick Hamilton, of West Jefferson, O., after suffering 18 months from rectal fistula, he would die unless a costly operation was performed; but he cured himself with five boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, the surest pile cure on earth, and the best salve in the world. 25 cents a box. Sold by Conser & Warren Drug Co.

TEACHING REINDEER.

Rev. Sheldon Jackson, superintendent of government schools in Alaska, but who appears to be doing his superintendence of these schools, so far as the white population is concerned, as far away from them as he can get, is reported to have purchased in Seattle, $20,000 "of supplies for use in the Indian schools and government reindeer station of Alaska," says the Juneau Truth.

In an interview with him he says that "My plans are not different from those that I usually have," and there follows a lot of talk about the reindeer, with some reference to the Indians, and the white schools are only referred to once, and then in the most incidental manner. Wherever two or three Indians are gathered together there is a chance to spend money in the name of Uncle Sam, with no white man to criticize such expenditure. It will be observed that Mr. Jackson has found no need for schools for white children at the growing towns in American territory on the Yukon, but he has thought of the education of the reindeer at the mining camp of Cape Nome.

What has a superintendent of education to do with reindeers anyway? If they were originally intended to carry the Indian children to school, there are already more than is required. The reindeer herds on Behring sea last September, he reports, numbered 2800. The Indian pupils numbered only 1500 in all Alaska.

There were said to be some stranded and starving sealers at Point Barrow. They could only be reached speedily by the aid of reindeer. The government had over two thousand reindeer on that coast, that it had bought and paid for, but Mr. Jackson said it would be more expeditious to send to Lapland for reindeer for the relief expedition and then send these reindeer in over the Dalton trail. At a fair calculation this course would only take about six months to carry supplies to the starving sealers, and therefore it was an excellent plan. How it was carried out everybody knows, and the government was made a laughing stock. Yet here is the superintendent of education again spending the government money for the education of reindeer instead of for the education of white children born of American parents.

TO DAWSON.
A recent copy of a Keokuk, Iowa, paper contains the following: Mrs. Jessie L. Muir, of Heppner, Or., who with her little son has been making an extended visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Collidge, of Bonaparte, started last Tuesday night to join her husband in Dawson City, Klondike.

Mr. Muir has been in Klondike about two years and has done well and has a nice home all ready for his wife and little boy. This trip is quite an extensive one for a lady to make with no companion except a little child, as it embraces a distance of about 5,000 miles by land and water. She goes to Seattle, Wash., where she takes the palatial steamer Cottage City on the Pacific ocean one thousand miles to Skagway, then by rail to White Horse and from there by steamer on the Yukon river to Dawson.

She expects to complete her trip in about twenty days from the time of leaving Bonaparte.

QUEEN VICTORIA'S HAIR.
Its Profession, at Her Age, Has Always Been a Wonder.
Over 80 years old, Queen Victoria yet has luxuriant hair, which has for years been a marvel. The court physician, following Prof. Unna's discovery, has treated her Majesty's scalp with a germ destroying preparation, which he has always kept secret. It is now known, however, that the remedy for dandruff, the germ destroying element, is embodied in Newbro's Herculic, the only hair preparation on the market that does destroy the dandruff germ. Without dandruff, hair will grow profusely, and falling hair will be stopped. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect."

If you take this paper and The Weekly Oregonian you won't have to beg your news.
