Still More Counterfeiting. The secret service has unearthed another band of counterfeiters and secured a large quantity of bogus bills, which are so cleverly executed that the average person would never suspect them of being spurious. Things of great value are always selected by counterfeiters for imitation, notably the celebrated Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which has many imitators but no equals for indigestion, dyspepsia, constipation, nervousness and general debility. The Bitters acts long right in the stomach, and when the stomach is in good order it makes good blood and plenty of it. In this manner the Bitters get at the seat of strength and vitality, and restore vigor to the weak and debilitated. Beware of counterfeiters when buying.

WAR IS AWFUL.

A man who fought all through the civil war and saw and felt its horrors, recently wrote of them as follows: We had been fighting in the edge of the woods. Every cartridge-box had been emptied once or more, and one-fourth of the brigade had melted away in dead, wounded and missing. We knew that we were being driven, foot by foot, and that when we broke once more the line would go to pieces and the enemy pour through the gap. Here comes help. Down the crowded highway gallops a battery. The field fence is scattered, the ammunition chests open, and along our lines runs the order, "Give them one more volley and fall back to support the guns."

We have scarcely obeyed, when boom! boom! opens the battery and jets of fire jump down and scorch the green trees under which we fought. The shattered old brigade has a chance to breathe for the first time in three hours as we form a line and lie down. What grim, cool fellows those cannoners are! Every man is a perfect machine. Bullets splash dust in their faces, but they do not wince. Bullets sing over and around, they do not dodge. There goes one to the earth shot through the head as he sponged his gun. That machinery loses just one beat, misses just one cog in the wheel, and then works again as before. Every gun is using fuse shells. The ground shakes and trembles, the roar shuts out all sounds from a line three miles long, and shells go shrieking into the swamp to cut trees short off, to mow great gaps in the bushes, to hunt out and shatter and mangle men until their corpses cannot be recognized as human. You would think a tornado was howling through the forest, followed by billows of fire, and yet men live through it—aye, press forward to capture the battery. We can hear their shouts as they form for the rush. Now the shells are changed for grape and canister, and guns are fired so fast that all reports blend into one mighty roar. The shriek of a shell is the wickedest sound in war; but nothing makes the flesh crawl like the demoniac singing, purring, whistling grape-shot, and the serpent-like hiss of canister. Men's legs and heads are torn from their bodies. A round shot or shell takes two men out of the ranks as it crushes through. Grape and canister mow a swath and pile the dead on top of each other. Through the smoke we see a swarm of men. It is not a battle line, but a mob of men desperate enough to bathe their bayonets in flame of the guns. The guns leap from the ground almost, as they are depressed on the foe, and shrieks and screams and shouts are blended into one awful and steady cry. Twenty men out of the battery are down, and the firing is interrupted. The foe accept it as a sign of wavering and come rushing on. They are not ten feet away when the guns give them a last shot. That discharge picks living men off their feet and throws them into the swamp, a blackened, bloody mass. Up, now, as the enemy are among the guns! There is silence for ten seconds, and then the flash and roar of 3000 muskets, and we rush forward with bayonets. For what? Neither on the right nor left, nor in front of us a living foe! There are corpses around us which have been struck by three, four, and even six bullets, and powder on this acre of ground is a wounded man. The wheels of the guns cannot move until the blockade of dead is removed. Men cannot pass from caisson to gun without climbing over winrows of dead. Every gun and wheel is smeared with blood; every foot of grass has its horrible stain. Historians write of the glory of war. Burial parties saw murder where historians see glory.

First to arrive with the telegraphic news—The Weekly Oregonian. AWFUL STORM. Wind and water did terrible damage Saturday at Galveston, Texas. 1000 people were drowned and killed. The storm began at 2 o'clock Saturday morning, and rain fell in torrents while the wind cut like a knife. The waters of Galveston bay and the Gulf of Mexico met and submerged Galveston to a depth of ten feet. The electric and gas plants were flooded, leaving the city in darkness. Buildings were wrecked, and people were drowned in their own houses like rats in traps. There is hardly a habitable house in the city. All the business buildings are ruined, also the schoolhouses and churches. At the forts nearly all the soldiers are reported killed and drowned. Texas City was also wrecked.

WANTED—ACTIVE MAN OF GOOD CHARACTER to deliver and collect in Oregon for old established manufacturing wholesale house, 1500 a year, sure pay. Nobody more than experience required. For reference, any bank in city. Send no self-addressed stamped envelope. Manufacturers, Third Floor, 324, Dearborn St., Chicago.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., 100 WILLIAM ST., NEW YORK.

WELCOME PIONEERS. The pioneers and old people of Morrow county will be welcomed and entertained by the people of Heppner on Saturday, Oct. 6. This was decided upon at a meeting of citizens last night, presided over by Mayor Frank Gilliam.

COYOTES AGAIN. The bounty on coyotes has been a good thing, and should be patrolled on the back and pushed by the next legislature. It has caused thousands of the thieves to be scalped, and between it and the hounds of Dave and Willard Herren and Bill Penland, coyotes have been rapidly thinned out in Morrow and adjacent counties. Oscar Shaffer, the well-known sheepman, is over to-day from Wall Krick, and says that coyotes are again bad there. He recently poisoned 7 by putting strychnine into the heart of an old petter just as its sun went down. Coyotes have just killed 17 sheep for Henry Blahm.

True Economy

The difference of cost between a good and a poor baking powder would not amount for a family's supply to one dollar a year. The poor powder would cost many times this in doctors' bills.

Royal Baking Powder may cost a little more per can, but it insures perfect, wholesome food. In fact, it is more economical in the end, because it goes further in leavening and never spoils the food.

Royal Baking Powder used always in making the biscuit and cake saves both health and money.

You cannot, if you value good health, afford to use cheap, low-grade, alum baking powders. They are apt to spoil the food; they do endanger the health. All physicians will tell you that alum in food is poisonous.

THE WAR IN CHINA. Washington, Sept. 10—Developments point to a speedy withdrawal of U. S. troops from China. They will winter in the Philippines, and be ready to return to China within a week. It is reported that the troops of Germany, England and Japan will remain in Pekin.

Shanghai, Sept. 8—The number of missionaries murdered during the uprising in China has been 83, while 170 others are unaccounted for. The massacre and persecution of Chinese Christians continues everywhere, and it is said the anti-foreign leaders intend to exterminate them. Li Sling Slang has promised that he will furnish escorts to the treaty ports for all missionaries who are still alive in Chi Li.

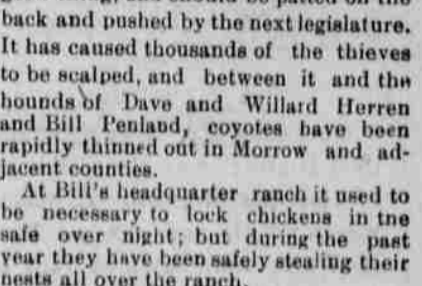

Chung Li, military commandant at Pekin, who is held responsible for the murder of the German minister, has been arrested and is confined by the Germans. Cured of Chronic Diarrhoea After Thirty Years of suffering. "I suffered for thirty years with diarrhoea and thought I was past being cured," says John S. Halloway, of French Camp, Miss. "I had spent so much time and money and suffered so much that I had given up all hopes of recovery. I was so feeble from the effects of the diarrhoea that I could do no kind of labor, could not even travel, but by accident I was permitted to find a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and after taking several bottles I am entirely cured of that trouble. I am so pleased with the result that I am anxious that it be in reach of all who suffer as I have." For sale by Conser & Warren.

Hon. H. B. Day, of Da ton, is dead. The picture of him printed in to-day's Oregonian ought to bring him back to life so as to take a shot at the pre-smack.

BRITON AND BOER. London, Sept. 10.—The War Office has received a report from Lord Roberts saying that General Buller, September 7, attacked and captured the Boer's position at Spitzkop. He adds that the Boers retreated over a narrow causeway, losing heavily. The British had 13 men killed and 25 wounded.
