

OFF FOR THE STATE FAIR.

Obadiah Forbush recently sold his band of cattle at top prices and he and his good wife, arrayed in a new Wyandot dress started for the State Fair, the procession being led by their know-it-all, well-headed boy whom they are training to be president.

They all felt their oats, and stuck up their noses at a neighbor who has not yet realized any cash for his season's work.

But they will run across the buxco man at Salem and come back broke.

WILL NOT GO.

News from Long Creek indicates that the Chinese Empress Princess No-Heels is inviting all the Chinese shepherders to join the Boxers and fight for Motherland. A hieroglyphic sign like that above has been found posted on many rox and trees.

No herders have gone as yet, and probably will not, as they get good wages at herding, and have more to eat in a day than their gracious queen would give them in a month of Sundays.

WOOL.

The Heppner wool market is stagnant. All buyers have departed, and no sales are being made. Small lots are still coming into the warehouses.

In Boston quotations of leading descriptions of wool are:

WHEAT.

Golden grain is rolling into Heppner, and the warehouses here now contain about 8000 sacks, while piles bigger than meeting-houses are accumulating along the Heppner railroad.

BUGLE NOTES.

A stampede of 800 cavalry horses through the streets of San Antonio the other day caused a panic, and sent the blood of frontiersmen jumping through their veins as it has not jumped since Texas was a republic. The mounts of the First Texas Cavalry broke away from a corral at Fort Sam Houston, on Government Hill, about three miles from the Alamo. Some of the horses had been in service for years, but the majority of them were "cow ponies" that had never been drilled. Across the prairie ground they dashed, following a dun mare with flowing mane. Two cavalymen attempted to round up the herd. On went the flying steeds across the parade and into the drift ground they galloped, when suddenly there came from the direction of the officers' houses a bugle call. Chargers which had often responded to this call inensibly slackened their speed. Again rang out a call.

The dun mare and one-third of the stampeded horses continued their flight, while the other two-thirds turned squarely at right angles. The bugler repeated "columns right," and the two-thirds again turned at right angles, and galloped back in the direction from which they came. Once more the bugle rang out. The plunging mass took form and steadied its gait. Again the bugle sounded. The battalion broke the gallop, went into a trot, and wheeled into the parade ground. The bugler sounded "Halt," and that part of the stampede was over.

But the dun pony and her followers from the ranges continued their mad flight through the streets of San Antonio. Everything movable in the way of the horses was overturned and demolished. Pedestrians fled in every direction, while many carriage horses joined the horres of the plains. One horse dashed its head against a telegraph pole, and the dun mare lost a follower. Another's forelegs went through a basement hole in the sidewalk, and the unfortunate horse was quickly trampled to death. A saloon was reached, and one of the cow ponies was forced through its doors by the pushing horres as they continued. A railroad train came rushing along. With a bound the dun mare cleared the track in front of the locomotive, but several of her companions were hurled to death in an endeavor to follow.

The horres divided only to come together again when the train dashed by and resume their flight toward the prairies. Out into the mesquite and sagebrush the dun mare led them, and soon nothing was seen but a cloud of dust.

The trail of the stampede was as plain as the path of a cyclone. No lives were lost, but property damaged was very heavy. Squads of cavalymen started out and succeeded in roping all but thirty of the cow ponies.

GRANT COUNTY NEWS.

Blue Mountain Eagle. C. L. Marr and Charles Carr, stockmen who reside in Willow precinct, were in town Monday in search of stock to stock their ranges, but found prices too high, cattlemen here asking $40 per head for cows and calves. They started homeward Tuesday without making any deals.

D. G. Overholt has men at work on a foundation for an elegant residence which he will erect on his property adjoining his store building.

James Wilson, a prominent cattleman and land owner of Waterman Flat, this week made his first visit to Canyon City since the fire and stated that he was surprised to see the town building up in so substantial a manner.

POLLYWOGS IN HIS SPRING.

Pioneers of the Heppner Hills will remember Cabin Canyon, from which many of them hauled their fuel supply 25 years ago, and many people well remember Alex. Glenn, the honest, industrious man who pre-empted the place and made his home there for years. He sold out ten years ago and is now in Idaho. Should he return to Cabin Canyon he would fall off his sorrel mare in surprise at the changes he would see. His stable has fallen in, his fireplace ditto; torpedo-boats could be navigated in the washouts of his well-kept wagon-road; his fence is flat, and his bench lands on which grew but brush are now covered with trees 30 feet high. And in his cool, clear spring, which he kept so scrupulously clean, now float pollywogs, and the fretful porcupine strolls around at eventide, and the burrowing badger digs and delves and kicks dirt all over the canyon.

Surely nature has again claimed the place for her own.

WHEAT, WOOL AND STOCK.

Portland, Sept. 12.—There was a much better feeling in the Eastern wheat market yesterday, and Live-pool cables were higher. In the local market there is considerable wheat changing hands, but the most of it moves at extreme figures. Walla Walla is quoted at 55 to 60c, and some sales were made yesterday at 57c. In the interior, these prices have been exceeded.

His many old friends here will be sorry to learn that Fred Hallock is in trouble at Sumpter over missing money. Fred was raising in Heppner, and with his good bring up and natural talent ought to have had a very bright future before him.

Captain Warren and son H. E. and families have returned from their summer season at Teal Springs, where they enjoyed mountain life during the past three months.

Dr. McFaul has sold his home to Mrs. Elder. Mrs. McFaul and child started this morning for Pendleton, and their many friends wish them all happiness in the future.

HEPPNER PRIZE CATTLE. By this morning's train Oscar Minor's bunch of 20 head of fine Shorthorn cattle started for the State Fair at Salem.

They are fine specimens of the finest animals on earth, and among them is the famous prize winner Saly Girl, a cow that cost her owner $1750 in Indiana and $300 to get her to Heppner.

SOFT, GLOSSY HAIR.

It can Only be Had Where There is No Dandruff.

Any man or woman who wants soft, glossy hair must be free from dandruff, which causes falling hair. Since it has become known that dandruff is a germ disease, the old hair preparations that were mostly scalp irritants, have been abandoned, and the public, barbers and doctors included, have taken to using Newbro's Herpicide, the only hair preparation that kills the dandruff germ. E. Dodd, Dickinson, N. D., says: "Herpicide not only cleanses the scalp from dandruff and prevents the hair's falling out, but promotes a new growth. Herpicide keeps my hair very glossy."

A Night of Terror.

"A wful anxiety was felt for the widow of the brave General Burnham of Mechanics, Me., when the doctors said she could not live till morning," writes Mrs. S. H. Lincoln, who attended her that fearful night. "All thought she must soon die from pneumonia, but she begged for Dr. King's New Discovery, saying it had more than once saved her life, and had cured her of consumption. After three small doses she slept easily all night, and its further use completely cured her." This marvelous medicine is guaranteed to cure all throat, chest and lung diseases. Only 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at Conser & Warren Drug Co.

HOME VERY CHEAP.

For $375 we offer a nice little home in Heppner, well located and in good repair. House is new.

WILLS & PATTERSON.

Cold Steel or Death

"There is but one small chance to save your life and that is through an operation." This was the awful prospect set before Mrs. E. B. Hunt, of Lima Ridge, Wis., by her doctor after vainly trying to cure her of a frightful case of stomach trouble and yellow jaundice. He didn't count on the marvellous power of Electric Bitters to cure stomach and liver troubles, but she heard of it, took seven bottles, was wholly cured, avoided surgeon's knife, now weighs more and feels better than ever. It's positively guaranteed to cure stomach, liver and kidney troubles and never disappoints. Price 50c at Conser & Warren Drug Co.

SLEEPS WELL.

"Yes, indeed, I sleep well now. No more nightmares for me," said Jas. Ritter yesterday as he happily beamed on his wife. Then he went on to say: "The cause of my resting easy and whistling as I go is that I have just had my life insured by L. W. Briggs, and now if I die my wife and little ones are sure of money enough to carry them along for years."
