

Republican Ticket.

For President, WM. MCKINLEY, Of Ohio.

For Vice-President, THEODORE ROOSEVELT, Of New York.

For Presidential Electors, O. F. PAXTON, of Multnomah County, TILMON FORD, of Marion County, J. C. FULLERTON, of Douglas County, W. J. FURNISH, of Umatilla County.

SENATOR MITCHELL COMING. Hon. J. H. Mitchell will close the campaign in Morrow county by speaking at Heppner Nov. 5.

Why should you vote for McKinley? Come to the opera house on the evening of Nov. 5 and hear a few reasons advanced.

VOTE RIGHT.

It comes home to every sensible man in Oregon that what he wants out of the presidential election is results—good results.

He must admit that results under Democratic free trade were very bad. Results under Republican policy are good.

The way to continue these good results is to re-elect McKinley. The matter of having good or bad times rests with the voters.

HE KNOWS.

G. W. Hunt, the railroad contractor, is a man of national experience and large caliber. He sees things from a business standpoint. He is in Heppner now, and said publicly yesterday:

"If Mr. Bryan is elected, the country is going to see bad times—very hard times. There is no question about it. I am an old-time Democrat, but my common sense tells me not to vote for a man whose policy would bring calamity upon the country. I have been through hard times before, and don't want to go through them again."

Col. Frank Wilkeson, Populist member of the legislature, says: I am an expansionist and believe in holding the Philippines for commercial reasons as well as a military and naval base.

"We have splendid fishing here, and at present it is no trouble to get bait, as the angle worms have come up on the sidewalks to get out of the mud and all we have to do is to pick them up."

"It is nothing unusual to see moss growing on the roofs of houses 6 inches deep, and a man came into my store to day with moss on his back 3 inches long."

"I believe that the success of Democracy will directly and disastrously affect my pocket; that it would be carried to a logical conclusion create industrial and commercial lethargy on the Pacific coast."

People outside of Heppner will find interesting doings here on Monday evening, Nov. 5. Ex-U. S. Senator Mitchell will be here and make an able speech on the political issues of the day.

Senator Mitchell has been in public life for a long term of years, and thoroughly understands national affairs. He is a man of ability, and will make a good speech.

On this occasion there will be martial music and a torchlight procession. People from the surrounding country are cordially invited to come.

Mr. Bryan's election to the presidency would mean the closing up of American mills, and, in consequence, more business for the mills of England and other countries.

Hiram Hammer, one of the ablest of Populists, says: I am a protectionist. I believed that unless we had free silver, want and destitution would follow.

The reverse has come true. I believe that in the future as in the past that whatever legislation we obtain in the interest of all the people must come through the Republican party.

Mr. Bryan has always been an advocate of the policy of giving work to foreigners rather than American workmen. He is on record as being opposed to any measure of protection to any American industry. He would admit to this country free of duty the wool of Australia and of South America, to ruin the wool growers of the United States.

There is no sense in getting excited over presidential politics or any other kind of politics.

Common sense and common business principles should rule. Therefore the plain talk of business men and taxpayers should have great weight in connection with the political issues of the day.

A man who is a large property-owner and taxpayer, and who lives close to Heppner said yesterday:

"My father was a Democrat before me, and I was a Democrat while there was any Democratic party worthy of the name."

"Now that there is no Democratic party, I am going to vote for McKinley, and there are lots of other Democrats in the same boat. It is the sensible thing to do. From a business standpoint we can do nothing else."

"I know that under the present policy of the Republican party my business and that of my neighbors has prospered. I have now a magnificent clip of wool on hand for sale, and my sheep have doubled up on me, and I feel as though my property was worth something."

"I also feel certain that if Mr. Bryan was elected the value of my present property would shrink away to nothing, as it did before under the free trade policy."

"I have large responsibilities resting upon me, and quite a force of men depending upon me for their wages. I am not going to endanger their interests or my own. By voting for Mr. Bryan I am sure I would do so."

UNJUST TREATMENT.

Considering its size and business importance, the town of Heppner is being treated very shabbily by the Western Union Telegraph Co. and the Pacific Express Co.

These powerful corporations, although abundantly able to give the people all reasonable conveniences, keep their offices 1/2 of a mile away from the business part of Heppner.

People who have to do business with the companies now have a pleasant picnic reaching their far-away offices, especially when they go after dark. When the sidewalk gives out, the traveler takes to the county road, which recent rains and hundreds of wheat-wagons have naturally put in fine condition for the wading of foot-travelers.

On account of the express company keeping its office out of town, Heppner people are paying nearly $400 a year for having their express packages delivered, while in other towns this same express company does all delivering free.

The post office department and the long-distance telephone company keep their offices in the center of town, and Heppner should use them instead of the telegraph and express which denies them the modern conveniences furnished to other towns.

FUNNY FRENCH.

Geo. W. French, formerly of Heppner, now of Olympia, is not only a live business man, but also a humorous observer of nature. In writing from the Puget Sound region to a citizen of Heppner, Mr. French said:

"Well, it is a little wet down here at present. We haven't seen the sun for 15 days. Our pump is only 6 feet from our kitchen door and I have not used it for three weeks. It has always rained the bucket full before I could get to the pump."

"We have splendid fishing here, and at present it is no trouble to get bait, as the angle worms have come up on the sidewalks to get out of the mud and all we have to do is to pick them up."

"It is nothing unusual to see moss growing on the roofs of houses 6 inches deep, and a man came into my store to day with moss on his back 3 inches long."

"Hoo-raw for McKinley."

OBITUARY.

Concerning the late C. M. Mallory, the Heppner pioneer who recently died in California, the Reedley Exponent says:

C. M. Mallory was born in Steuben county, New York, October 18, 1851, and died near Reedley, Fresno county, California, October 3, 1900, within a few days of his 49th birthday. He received a substantial practical education in his native district. In 1868, being full of an enterprising spirit, he came West and located in Oregon. In 1878 he located a claim near where the town of Heppner is located. In 1878 he moved into town and was appointed postmaster of that thriving burg. In connection with this office he went into the confectionery business and afterward added a drug department. In 1889 he sold out and engaged in the sheep industry, but soon returned to the drug business. In 1892 he was married to Miss Mary Davis, who, with her daughter, Maude, is left to mourn his loss. During his incumbency as postmaster he had to make up the mail in the night and contracted a severe cold which settled on his lungs and from which he never recovered. On account of his ill health he came to California, and settled near Reedley nine years ago.

Mr. Mallory was always accommodating, full of enterprise, and faithful to every trust imposed upon him. He was beloved and respected by everyone and always made friends because he was determined to be friendly with all. He was a member of the Methodist church of this place, and it can be truthfully said of him that he obeyed that divine injunction given to all men: "Let your light so shine before men that they may see your good works." He was one of those men whom the world can scarcely afford to lose in these days of greed for gain, yet the Lord takes these first, as such as he are always ready when the call comes. He is gone, but not forgotten; he has carried with him the everlasting respect of this entire community, and C. M. Mallory will long be remembered here, as he has been where he resided before.

REPUBLICAN RALLY.

Hon. T. T. Geer, governor of Oregon, arrived in Heppner Tuesday evening and was met at the depot by G. W. Phelps and R. F. Hynd, chairmen of the state and county committees.

At the meeting the governor's address was an able and convincing one. A large American flag formed a beautiful background to the opera house stage, and large oil portraits of McKinley and Roosevelt stood on easels at the front.

On the platform sat G. W. Phelps, who presided; Mayor Frank Gilliam, George Conser, Judge Ellis, Judge Bartholomew, Postmaster Vaughan and J. Q. Wilson.

The Heppner Symphony Band rendered most excellent music, and the audience was large and appreciative.

Gov. Geer had his facts and figures well in hand, and freely asked all present to question him or challenge any statement he might make. He was very fair in all his arguments, and made a good impression on his audience.

The governor drew strong pictures of free trade times and protective tariff days, and illustrated their effects on the great wool industry. He talked from a farmer's standpoint, for he has been a farmer all his life, and showed that Mr. Bryan's policy was insincere, and that the latter's whole campaign was being conducted along insincere lines. Bryan was trying to array the poor against the rich, which was unfair and dangerous.

Speaking of imperialism, Gov. Geer said that it was a trumped-up issue, and proved his assertion by quoting good Democratic authority. He showed the absurdity of the schoolboy speeches of Bryan, who was called the boy orator of the Platte because the stream was a mile wide and only six inches deep. The river sometimes dried up. In this it differed from Bryan who had chosen for an occupation running for president.

There are able men in the Democratic party, Gov. Geer said, but Mr. Bryan is not one of them.

The governor said that conditions had very much improved under the gold standard; penitentiary inmates were reduced one-half, and everybody was at work who wanted to work. He was glad of these changed conditions, and closed with a sensible appeal to Democrats and populists to divest themselves of party blindness.

At the close of the address many people availed themselves of Mr. Phelps' invitation to meet Gov. Geer personally.

COUNTY FIGURES.

The semi-annual statement of Morrow county, as made by County Clerk Crawford, Treasurer Liechtenal and Sheriff Matlock and published in this issue of the Gazette, is a good showing, and makes interesting reading for the taxpayers.

Morrow county is practically out of debt, and few counties can make as good a showing, and none excel it.

IF NOT REGISTERED.

If you were not registered last spring, or have become of voting age since then, you can vote by making an affidavit of facts, with six witnesses.

You can get the matter fixed up by County Clerk Crawford, at the court house, by U. S. Commissioner Morrow, at Palace Hotel, or by the notary at the Gazette office.

DEMOCRATIC SPEAKING.

The Heppner Symphony Band made music last night, and it was good music, and Frank Clarno, the noted Silver-Republican, spoke at the opera house to a large audience. He was appropriately introduced by Senator J. W. Morrow, and on the platform were Sheriff Matlock, Geo. Swaggart and Pap Simons.

Frank is a good speaker, and was fair and tolerant, and had the good sense to quit before his audience got tired. He threw across his figures at his hearers, most of which were too testily big for the comprehension of ordinary taxpayers. The speech was a very good one from a Bryan standpoint, but the Republicans who heard it were very hostile at the idea of comparing Bryan to Lincoln.

Billy Banner, the sheep-trailer who has been enjoying a drunk in town for two weeks and boring people with magic recitations of long-winded political proclamations, waited upon the platform, but took a seat and behaved himself like a gentleman throughout the meeting.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury. As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them.

Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system.
