Come to Morrow County for low-priced lands. Values are sure to double up. Never again will land sell so low as it does now.

WHEAT. Recent sales in Morrow county include 5000 bushels sold by County Commissioner Ed C. Ashbaugh to Alvah Leach at Lexington and 1200 bushels sold to Chas. Johnson at Pettys, all at 48 cents a bushel. Mr. Ashbaugh says there is no profit in raising wheat at 43 cents. He raised 15,000 bushels the past season. In 1891 Mr. Ashbaugh received 85 cents for his wheat and had a yield of 40 bushels to acre. In addition to his own land he rented 60 acres, paid $2 an acre cash rent, and cleared $1800 on it. Mr. Ashbaugh would like to see a big fall of snow, and feels sure it would be followed by big crops. In 1891 the fall was 27 inches, and the yield was great. The Oregonian of Dec. 30 said: The wheat market took a violent turn upward yesterday, and the East was booming. The Portland market has been so far in front of the procession throughout the season that the full extent of the advance in other markets was not reflected locally. Walla Walla wheat sold around 54 and 55 cts., and a fraction above these figures was paid for some fancy stock. Bluestem is in nominal demand at the usual differential of 2 to 3 cents per bushel. Shipments are holding up very well, another cargo clearing yesterday, and bringing the total shipments for the month, exclusive of flour, up to over 1,900,000 bushels. Valley millers continue to buy considerable wheat in this market, and so long as this condition of affairs exists there can be no export quotation of value on Valley wheat in this market. Freight rates are ruling steady, with a fair amount of business doing. As high as 37s 6d has been paid for next season ships, but large carriers are obtainable at less. Nothing is obtainable, however, this side of April at less than 40 shillings.

LONG HAUL FOR FUEL. H. V. Gates is shipping cordwood from Fairview, Multnomah county, to Heppner, for the use of his light and water plant there. This is hauling wood 150 miles, though there is plenty of wood in the Blue mountains, 20 miles from Heppner. The heavy body fir of Western Oregon, Mr. Gates thinks, is the best wooden fuel in the world, and so he considers it economy to ship it from Fairview. It costs him, laid down in Heppner, $3 40 per cord, while the soft pine of the Blue mountains can be bought in Heppner for $3.

The above is from yesterday's Oregonian, which is mistaken about the price of wood in Heppner. Pine and fir, 4-foot, retail here now at $6, and the summer price is $5. There are vast bodies of good fuel timber within 18 miles of Heppner, that can be bought, where chopped at $1.50 a cord, and it would be a paying investment for some capitalist to build a narrow-gauge, jerk-water railroad along the water-grade of Willow creek and haul fuel to Heppner.

Consumption is destruction of lung by a growing germ, precisely as mouldy cheese is destruction of cheese by a growing germ. If you kill the germ, you stop the consumption. You can or can't, according to when you begin. Take Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil: take a little at first. It acts as a food; it is the easiest food. Seems not to be food; makes you hungry; eating is comfortable. You grow stronger. Take more; not too much; enough is as much as you like and agrees with you. Satisfy hunger with usual food; whatever you like and agrees with you. When you are strong again, have recovered your strength—the germs are dead; you have killed them. If you have not tried it, send for free sample, its agreeable taste will surprise you. SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, 409 Pearl St., New York. 50c. and $1.00; all druggists.

STEALING. Chicken-stealing is often practiced and becomes generally justifiable in time of war, when hungry soldier-stomachs have their consciences blunted. But in time of peace it is not to be tolerated, and is not done on account of lack of food. Fifteen years ago many Heppner boys formed a syndicate and sold to Chinamen at a bit a head chickens they had stolen all over town. To get a little money to go to a roller-skating rink these boys disgraced themselves and their parents, and several of them received proper punishment. It looks as though a similar syndicate had recently been formed. There is a bounty on coyote scalps not only because the coyote steals sheep, but also because he robs hares.

Let boys beware lest in raiding roosts they may be mistaken for coyotes while lowering themselves into the same line of business.

GAY AND WITTY. The Irish peasant is still what Sir Walter Scott called him after the visit of the great novelist to Ireland in the early thirties—he is still "the gayest fellow in the world under difficulties and affliction." He has a cheerful way of regarding circumstances which to others would be most unpleasant and disheartening. A peasant met with an accident which resulted in a broken leg. The neighbors, of course, commiserated him. "Arrah," he remarked, with a gleam of satisfaction in his eye as he regarded the bandaged limb, "what a blessing it is that it wasn't me neck." Yes, the irrepressible Irishman has a joke for every occasion. Two countrymen who had not seen each other for a long time met at a fair. "Shure it's married I am," said O'Brien. "You don't tell me so!" said Blake. "Faith, yes," said O'Brien, "and I've got a fine healthy boy which the neighbors say is the very picture of me." Blake looked for a moment at O'Brien, who was not, to say the least, remarkable for his good looks, and then said: "Oh, well, what's the harm so long as the child's healthy?"

AT SOLDIERS' HOME. Philip Fair, writing from the Soldiers' Home at Roseburg, says: The old soldiers very much appreciate the copy of the Heppner Gazette you send here. We have about 100 members in the home. In summer time we generally have from 10 to 15 out on furlough, visiting relatives and friends. We have 75 members in the home building and about 25 patients in the hospital. Many worthy veterans are refused admission because there is no room to accommodate them. The home building and hospital are inadequate for the demand, and our last legislature reduced the appropriations several thousand dollars. This was done through some misrepresentations of some parties who were prejudiced or perhaps did not understand the needs of this institution, and we hope and look for our next legislature to make sufficient appropriations so as to enable the managers of the home to enlarge the hospital so as to accommodate those now awaiting admission. The sanitary condition is all it could be; the clothing is good and sufficient; the food is well cooked and served, and it is putting it mild when I state the variety of food is not excelled by any second-class hotel in Oregon, and I may add the average farmer and mechanic lives no better than we do in this home. We raise on our home farm the finest variety of vegetables in Oregon, and have fruit and berries. The farm work is mostly done by members, who receive not to exceed $5 a month. Our Commander W. J. Shipley and Adjutant D. G. Palm are men of the highest type always on the alert and looking to the best interest of the home and the members. Robt. Hart, formerly a resident of Heppner, is a member of the home. His weight has increased 17 pounds. He is fireman in the hospital, running the heating apparatus and he never felt better in his life. This home life agrees with him and he is here to stay.

GOOD CLIMATE HERE. Col. H. E. Dosh, the pioneer horticulturalist, who has traveled extensively and knows a good climate when he sees it, has gone to the Buffalo Exposition and writes from there to The Oregonian Dec. 26 as follows: If any Oregonian is dissatisfied with our climatic conditions, just let him take a pleasure (?) trip across the continent to the Atlantic seaboard at this season of the year. We had scarcely got out of God's own country when our troubles began—snow, ice and blizzards galore all along the line, and they are with us still. Snow drifts all along Bear valley, and when we were called at Laramie for breakfast at 6 o'clock a.m., found the thermometer had gone down to 20 degrees below zero, with a gentle 60-mile zephyr breathing across the prairie, and as the "Pinch" gas had given out, we were groping about in the gloaming for our unmentionables, our happiness was complete, and we have been happy ever since. The Missouri and Mississippi rivers are frozen over solid; the horses, cattle and hogs are standing in the fence corners in fact, behind every available little shelter, shivering, while their human brothers go about wrapped in comfortable fur coats and Arctic overshoes. The thousands of lightening rods on every dwelling, barn, chicken-coop and even telegraph poles, tell what kind of summers they have, and the people tell you they enjoy it, but I presume that for people who like that kind of thing, they certainly have the kind of thing they like. Oregon, glorious Oregon!

The beautiful timber belts so familiar to us are conspicuous by their absence, but Mr. Johnson, the forestry expert, pointed out a mill where we actually did see a lot of "saw-logs" 10 inches in diameter. The Twentieth Century. We now stand at the threshold of the twentieth century, and the nineteenth is a thing of the past. It will, however, always be known as the century of invention and discovery, and among some of the greatest of these we can truthfully mention Hostetter's Kidney Bitters, the celebrated remedy for all ailments arising from a disordered stomach, such as dyspepsia, indigestion, flatulency, constipation, nervousness and biliousness. It has been one of the greatest blessings to mankind during the past fifty years as health builder. Many prominent physicians prescribe and recommend it. Take their advice, try a bottle and be convinced, but be sure to get the genuine, with our private revenue stamp over the neck of the bottle.

Editor's Awful Plight. F. M. Higgins, editor Seneca, (Ill.) News, was afflicted for years with piles that no doctor or remedy helped until he tried Bucklen's Arnica Salve. He writes two boxes wholly cured him. It's the surest pile cure on earth and the best salve in the world. Cure guaranteed. Only 25 cents. Sold by Conser & Warren Drug Co.

TWAIN'S TALK. Only once has Mark Twain appeared in public as a political speaker, and that was in the presidential campaign of 1880. While visiting at Elmira, N. Y., in the fall of that year, he made a short speech, in introducing to the Republican meeting General Hawley, of Connecticut. In the course of his remarks, Twain said: "General Hawley is a member of my church in Hartford, and the author of 'Beautiful Snow.' Maybe he will deny that, but I am only here to give him a character from his last place. As a pure citizen, I respect him; as a personal friend of years, I have the warmest regard for him; as a neighbor whose vegetable garden joins mine, why—why, I watch him. As the author of 'Beautiful Snow' he has added a new pang to winter. So broad, so beautiful is his character, that he never turned a tramp empty-handed from the door, but always gave him a letter of introduction to me. Pure, honest, incorruptible, that is Joe Hawley. I haven't said any more of him than I would say of myself. Ladies and gentlemen, this is General Hawley."

IN CHINA. Being on the eastern side of a great continent, China has the same extremes of climate as are to be found in the United States. Fruits, flowers, and crops vary in like manner. The population of China is over 385,000,000. That of the British Isles in 1891 was not quite 38,000,000. That of France in 1896 was 38,500,000. The Russian nation, already extended over one-sixth of the globe, while China only extends over a little more than one-twelfth, musters little over 129,000,000, and thus has about one-third of the Chinese population, with about twice its territory to stretch itself in.
