

JOHN MARSHALL DAY AT NATIONAL CAPITAL.

Sampson-Schley Controversy Bobs Up in Congress.

PORT RICANS SEND A PROTEST

Congress is Invited to Attend the Launching of the Battleship Ohio at San Francisco, and So is the President.

Washington, Feb. 4.—The memorial celebration of the installation of John Marshall as chief justice of the United States one hundred years ago today, were attended today in this city by all the distinguished people at the capital. In the hall of the house of representatives were seated the president and his cabinet, the members of the supreme court, and of the senate and house.

Washington, Feb. 4.—Senator-elect Kerns, of Utah, was sworn into the senate today.

The Old Sampson-Schley Controversy.

The old Sampson-Schley controversy has been taken up again today by the introduction of a resolution by Chandler, redirecting Secretary Long to transmit to the senate a list of officers of Sampson's squadron in Cuban waters, recommended by the president for promotion in the fifty-fifth congress, which were not recommended by the body and which have not been renewed. Hale stated he had requested the secretary again and again to have the names presented but it had not been done.

California Legislature's Invitation.

The resolution from the California legislature, inviting the president and his cabinet and congress to attend the launching of the battleship Ohio, was laid before the senate.

BORNE TO THE MAUSOLEUM.

The remains of Queen Victoria at Last Laid to Rest.

Windsor, Feb. 4.—At 3 o'clock this afternoon the remains of Queen Victoria were taken from the Albert memorial chapel and borne to the Royal mausoleum, at Frogmore, the Bishop of Winchester, the Dean of Windsor, King Edward, Kaiser Wilhelm, King Leopold, King Carl, King George, Prince of Prussia, Queen Alexandra and the royal ladies following behind the gun carriage on foot.

Girls on a Strike.

Scranton, Pa., Feb. 4.—Four thousand girls are on a strike at the silk mills in the city and vicinity, demanding better pay. All the mills are closed.

Advertising the Fight.

Cincinnati, O., Feb. 4.—The Sangreer directors today defy Governor Nash to stop the Jeffries-Ruhlin fight, claiming the law is on their side.

Will Dine in Company.

Washington, Feb. 4.—The president has decided to resume his official dinner parties, being justified in so doing by the improvement in his health.

THE CHICKEN FEVER.

It is Contagious and it Goes to the head Quickly.

M. M. Johnson, Nebraska, in a recent issue of Orange Judd Farmer, says:

STILL NO CHANGE AT SALEM.

Senate Asks for Information and Secretary Root Supplies It.

Washington, Feb. 4.—Secretary Root, in response to the request for information regarding the deportation to Guam of Mabini, a Filipino leader, sent to the senate today a batch of correspondence on the subject.

Only American Girl to Marry a King.

But one American girl has ever married a king, and she, a New England woman, now a widow, is living in a royal palace in the country of her adoption, almost lost sight of by her American sisters and friends.

John Marshall Day Exercises.

There will be a joint session of the legislature tonight, beginning at 7 o'clock, for the holding of a service in honor of Chief Justice Marshall, who was installed as chief justice of the United States 100 years ago today.

BIG BUILDING COLLAPSES.

A Four Story Iron and Brick Structure Takes a Tumble.

Pittsburg, Pa., Feb. 4.—A four story iron and brick building, occupied by Stevenson, Foster & Co., printers, of this city, collapsed this morning, the wreckage taking fire. Michael Fornalow received probable fatal injuries by a fall from the third story.

THE EVIL OF GAMBLING.

Dr. Felix Adler Lectures on the "Passion and Its Consequences."

Dr. Felix Adler, in New York, during the course of an address on "The Gambling Passion and Its Consequences," made a distinction between gaming and gambling. The former might be for recreation, but when the element of gain is widened it becomes gambling.

The savage and the child are natural gamblers. He said: "The streets of New York swarm with gambling children. Craps is a prevalent species of gambling among them. The Chinese and the Italians are passionate gamblers. On the whole civilized life is the least given to gambling, and particularly the life which is orderly and regular is apt to be free from it."

HE HAS LOST HIS OFFICE.

A Change in the Office of Internal Revenue Collector, at Walls Walla.

Walla Walla, Feb. 1.—Deputy Internal Revenue Collector H. C. Gregg has returned from an extended trip through the Palouse country in the interest of the government and upon his arrival here found awaiting him a communication conveying the information that he had been relieved from capacity and directing him to turn over to his successor the records and books of the office. Mr. Gregg was not officially informed who his successor is but it is known that J. L. Mohundou, of Dayton, was the successful applicant.

THE BOERS UNDER DEWEY.

They Are Getting Nearer and Nearer Cape Colony.

London, Feb. 4.—Lord Kitchener reports that General Dewet and force have reached a point south of Dewetdorp, indicating that the Boer commander is sweeping rapidly toward Cape Colony. General French is near Bethel, driving a force of Boers eastward. A column of the British under General Campbell, met five hundred Boers south of Middelburg, in Cape Colony, forcing them to retreat. The British lost five officers and eighteen men and four ambulances.

CAUGHT THE LEGISLATORS.

Mrs. Nation Discovers Several Law Makers Drinking in a Drug Store.

Topeka, Feb. 4.—Mrs. Nation and her children, an ardent temperance and hostile demonstration today but will meet tonight to perfect plans of demolishing every joint in town. She visited several drug stores this morning and warned the proprietors that she will treat their places the same as were not commenced by her body and which have not been renewed. Hale stated he had requested the secretary again and again to have the names presented but it had not been done.

The Noted Family of Along.

Honolulu, H. I., Feb. 4.—The law requiring registration of persons of Chinese blood in the islands is causing great trouble, especially in the noted Along family. One of Along's daughters is the wife of Commander Whiting, of the U. S. S. Albatross, and another daughter is the wife of Judge Humphreys, of the circuit court here. Action will be taken to exempt this family.

ADAMS WAREHOUSE BILL.

It Has Passed the Senate and Promises to Recede to Law.

The Adams Warehouse bill, senate bill No. 7, passed the Oregon senate Thursday, but not without opposition. The principal objection to the bill was that it imposes burdensome and unnecessary obligations upon warehousemen in requiring them to make regular monthly inventories and reports upon demand of stores of grain. The bill, as originally introduced, had been amended at the request of Senator Booth, so as to exempt from its requirements all operators of grist mills who do not receive grain for export.

CUTTING TEETH AT 52.

Mrs. Green Thought She Had Neuralgia Until They Appeared.

A remarkable case is that of Mrs. Dorothy Ward Green, of Trenton, N. Y., who is more than eighty-five years old and is cutting two new teeth. Some months ago Mrs. Green complained of pains in her jaws and was at a loss to understand the cause.

Austrian Parliament Opens.

Vienna, Feb. 4.—The Austria parliament was opened today by Franz Josef, who hinted that absolutism might become necessary unless the Reichsrath more peacefully performed its functions.

Explosion in a Mine.

Scranton, Pa., Feb. 4.—In an explosion in the Cayuga mine, soon after the miners descended this morning, one man was killed and thirteen seriously injured.

Wants an Income Tax.

Linn county representatives in the legislature believe in an income tax and have introduced bills in the house and senate providing that after March 1, 1902, all of the assessed, levied, collected and paid annually upon the gains, profits and income received in the preceding calendar year by every resident of the state of Oregon, a tax of 2 per centum above the sum of $4000. And a similar tax shall be levied upon the gains, profits, profession or vocation within the state of Oregon by persons or corporations residing without the state of Oregon. It shall be the duty of persons or corporations having an annual income of more than $5000 to make return thereon before March 31 of each year. Penalties for failure to make returns are prescribed. Certain religious and fraternal associations and officers are exempted and the salaries of congressional, state and county officers. This bill seems to have the indorsement of the senate, and is said to have been framed largely by Judge R. P. Boise.

Misuse of the Mails.

Deputy United States Marshal Roberts arrested E. Broszio, at Wilbur, on a charge of improperly using the United States mails. Broszio had sent half a dozen postal cards to a debtor, in which he applied various epithets, such as "swindler," "scoundrel," and "swine," to his demands for the money due him. These he sent out in numbers, usually taking the simple form: "You thief, when will you send my money?" Broszio was arrested on a United States warrant, and given the benefit of $5000 bail before the court in Portland at the proper time.

Vigilance Committee in New York.

New York city will be in the hands of a vigilance committee within 10 days from now. This committee will consist of several hundred men.

A Beneficent Discovery.

A Frenchman has discovered a remedy instantaneous in its effects for the horrible burns caused by the use of oil of vitriol. It is a soft paste of calcined magnesia and water, with which the parts burned are covered to the thickness of an inch. It alleviates the pain almost immediately, and when the paste is removed no scar remains.

Uganda Coffee.

Five years ago the first trials were made to cultivate coffee in Uganda. These plantations were established by English missionaries. Last year Uganda was able to export 250,000 pounds of coffee. The coffee coming from the British protectorate of Uganda is said to be the best coffee in the world, and to surpass in quality the best Mocha.

ENGLAND'S BELOVED QUEEN LAID TO REST.

The Funeral Procession Passes Through the Streets of London Town.

KINGS, PRINCES, PEOPLE FOLLOW TO THE GRAVE.

Thousands of Soldiers Keep in Check a Mass of Struggling Humanity—The Last Sad Rites at Windsor, Where Interment Takes Place.

London, Feb. 2.—Under leaden skies, harmonious with the solemn occasion, escorted by kings, princes, potentates and crowds of people, the mortal remains of Queen Victoria today traversed the streets of London from Victoria to Paddington railway station, receiving the mournful homage of countless thousands, who watched with hushed voice and bared head the last passing of a great woman and, at the same time, the most noted funeral of this or any other century. The body was landed from the royal yacht Alberta, at Portsmouth, at 8:30 o'clock this morning in a drenching rain. A special train with the precious burden started for London at 8:55 o'clock, while the monster fleet of warships thundered forth their minute guns.

London, Feb. 2.—Under leaden skies, harmonious with the solemn occasion, escorted by kings, princes, potentates and crowds of people, the mortal remains of Queen Victoria today traversed the streets of London from Victoria to Paddington railway station, receiving the mournful homage of countless thousands, who watched with hushed voice and bared head the last passing of a great woman and, at the same time, the most noted funeral of this or any other century. The body was landed from the royal yacht Alberta, at Portsmouth, at 8:30 o'clock this morning in a drenching rain. A special train with the precious burden started for London at 8:55 o'clock, while the monster fleet of warships thundered forth their minute guns.

London, Feb. 2.—Under leaden skies, harmonious with the solemn occasion, escorted by kings, princes, potentates and crowds of people, the mortal remains of Queen Victoria today traversed the streets of London from Victoria to Paddington railway station, receiving the mournful homage of countless thousands, who watched with hushed voice and bared head the last passing of a great woman and, at the same time, the most noted funeral of this or any other century. The body was landed from the royal yacht Alberta, at Portsmouth, at 8:30 o'clock this morning in a drenching rain. A special train with the precious burden started for London at 8:55 o'clock, while the monster fleet of warships thundered forth their minute guns.

London, Feb. 2.—Under leaden skies, harmonious with the solemn occasion, escorted by kings, princes, potentates and crowds of people, the mortal remains of Queen Victoria today traversed the streets of London from Victoria to Paddington railway station, receiving the mournful homage of countless thousands, who watched with hushed voice and bared head the last passing of a great woman and, at the same time, the most noted funeral of this or any other century. The body was landed from the royal yacht Alberta, at Portsmouth, at 8:30 o'clock this morning in a drenching rain. A special train with the precious burden started for London at 8:55 o'clock, while the monster fleet of warships thundered forth their minute guns.

London, Feb. 2.—Under leaden skies, harmonious with the solemn occasion, escorted by kings, princes, potentates and crowds of people, the mortal remains of Queen Victoria today traversed the streets of London from Victoria to Paddington railway station, receiving the mournful homage of countless thousands, who watched with hushed voice and bared head the last passing of a great woman and, at the same time, the most noted funeral of this or any other century. The body was landed from the royal yacht Alberta, at Portsmouth, at 8:30 o'clock this morning in a drenching rain. A special train with the precious burden started for London at 8:55 o'clock, while the monster fleet of warships thundered forth their minute guns.

London, Feb. 2.—Under leaden skies, harmonious with the solemn occasion, escorted by kings, princes, potentates and crowds of people, the mortal remains of Queen Victoria today traversed the streets of London from Victoria to Paddington railway station, receiving the mournful homage of countless thousands, who watched with hushed voice and bared head the last passing of a great woman and, at the same time, the most noted funeral of this or any other century. The body was landed from the royal yacht Alberta, at Portsmouth, at 8:30 o'clock this morning in a drenching rain. A special train with the precious burden started for London at 8:55 o'clock, while the monster fleet of warships thundered forth their minute guns.

London, Feb. 2.—Under leaden skies, harmonious with the solemn occasion, escorted by kings, princes, potentates and crowds of people, the mortal remains of Queen Victoria today traversed the streets of London from Victoria to Paddington railway station, receiving the mournful homage of countless thousands, who watched with hushed voice and bared head the last passing of a great woman and, at the same time, the most noted funeral of this or any other century. The body was landed from the royal yacht Alberta, at Portsmouth, at 8:30 o'clock this morning in a drenching rain. A special train with the precious burden started for London at 8:55 o'clock, while the monster fleet of warships thundered forth their minute guns.

London, Feb. 2.—Under leaden skies, harmonious with the solemn occasion, escorted by kings, princes, potentates and crowds of people, the mortal remains of Queen Victoria today traversed the streets of London from Victoria to Paddington railway station, receiving the mournful homage of countless thousands, who watched with hushed voice and bared head the last passing of a great woman and, at the same time, the most noted funeral of this or any other century. The body was landed from the royal yacht Alberta, at Portsmouth, at 8:30 o'clock this morning in a drenching rain. A special train with the precious burden started for London at 8:55 o'clock, while the monster fleet of warships thundered forth their minute guns.

London, Feb. 2.—Under leaden skies, harmonious with the solemn occasion, escorted by kings, princes, potentates and crowds of people, the mortal remains of Queen Victoria today traversed the streets of London from Victoria to Paddington railway station, receiving the mournful homage of countless thousands, who watched with hushed voice and bared head the last passing of a great woman and, at the same time, the most noted funeral of this or any other century. The body was landed from the royal yacht Alberta, at Portsmouth, at 8:30 o'clock this morning in a drenching rain. A special train with the precious burden started for London at 8:55 o'clock, while the monster fleet of warships thundered forth their minute guns.

London, Feb. 2.—Under leaden skies, harmonious with the solemn occasion, escorted by kings, princes, potentates and crowds of people, the mortal remains of Queen Victoria today traversed the streets of London from Victoria to Paddington railway station, receiving the mournful homage of countless thousands, who watched with hushed voice and bared head the last passing of a great woman and, at the same time, the most noted funeral of this or any other century. The body was landed from the royal yacht Alberta, at Portsmouth, at 8:30 o'clock this morning in a drenching rain. A special train with the precious burden started for London at 8:55 o'clock, while the monster fleet of warships thundered forth their minute guns.

London, Feb. 2.—Under leaden skies, harmonious with the solemn occasion, escorted by kings, princes, potentates and crowds of people, the mortal remains of Queen Victoria today traversed the streets of London from Victoria to Paddington railway station, receiving the mournful homage of countless thousands, who watched with hushed voice and bared head the last passing of a great woman and, at the same time, the most noted funeral of this or any other century. The body was landed from the royal yacht Alberta, at Portsmouth, at 8:30 o'clock this morning in a drenching rain. A special train with the precious burden started for London at 8:55 o'clock, while the monster fleet of warships thundered forth their minute guns.

London, Feb. 2.—Under leaden skies, harmonious with the solemn occasion, escorted by kings, princes, potentates and crowds of people, the mortal remains of Queen Victoria today traversed the streets of London from Victoria to Paddington railway station, receiving the mournful homage of countless thousands, who watched with hushed voice and bared head the last passing of a great woman and, at the same time, the most noted funeral of this or any other century. The body was landed from the royal yacht Alberta, at Portsmouth, at 8:30 o'clock this morning in a drenching rain. A special train with the precious burden started for London at 8:55 o'clock, while the monster fleet of warships thundered forth their minute guns.

London, Feb. 2.—Under leaden skies, harmonious with the solemn occasion, escorted by kings, princes, potentates and crowds of people, the mortal remains of Queen Victoria today traversed the streets of London from Victoria to Paddington railway station, receiving the mournful homage of countless thousands, who watched with hushed voice and bared head the last passing of a great woman and, at the same time, the most noted funeral of this or any other century. The body was landed from the royal yacht Alberta, at Portsmouth, at 8:30 o'clock this morning in a drenching rain. A special train with the precious burden started for London at 8:55 o'clock, while the monster fleet of warships thundered forth their minute guns.

London, Feb. 2.—Under leaden skies, harmonious with the solemn occasion, escorted by kings, princes, potentates and crowds of people, the mortal remains of Queen Victoria today traversed the streets of London from Victoria to Paddington railway station, receiving the mournful homage of countless thousands, who watched with hushed voice and bared head the last passing of a great woman and, at the same time, the most noted funeral of this or any other century. The body was landed from the royal yacht Alberta, at Portsmouth, at 8:30 o'clock this morning in a drenching rain. A special train with the precious burden started for London at 8:55 o'clock, while the monster fleet of warships thundered forth their minute guns.

London, Feb. 2.—Under leaden skies, harmonious with the solemn occasion, escorted by kings, princes, potentates and crowds of people, the mortal remains of Queen Victoria today traversed the streets of London from Victoria to Paddington railway station, receiving the mournful homage of countless thousands, who watched with hushed voice and bared head the last passing of a great woman and, at the same time, the most noted funeral of this or any other century. The body was landed from the royal yacht Alberta, at Portsmouth, at 8:30 o'clock this morning in a drenching rain. A special train with the precious burden started for London at 8:55 o'clock, while the monster fleet of warships thundered forth their minute guns.

London, Feb. 2.—Under leaden skies, harmonious with the solemn occasion, escorted by kings, princes, potentates and crowds of people, the mortal remains of Queen Victoria today traversed the streets of London from Victoria to Paddington railway station, receiving the mournful homage of countless thousands, who watched with hushed voice and bared head the last passing of a great woman and, at the same time, the most noted funeral of this or any other century. The body was landed from the royal yacht Alberta, at Portsmouth, at 8:30 o'clock this morning in a drenching rain. A special train with the precious burden started for London at 8:55 o'clock, while the monster fleet of warships thundered forth their minute guns.

London, Feb. 2.—Under leaden skies, harmonious with the solemn occasion, escorted by kings, princes, potentates and crowds of people, the mortal remains of Queen Victoria today traversed the streets of London from Victoria to Paddington railway station, receiving the mournful homage of countless thousands, who watched with hushed voice and bared head the last passing of a great woman and, at the same time, the most noted funeral of this or any other century. The body was landed from the royal yacht Alberta, at Portsmouth, at 8:30 o'clock this morning in a drenching rain. A special train with the precious burden started for London at 8:55 o'clock, while the monster fleet of warships thundered forth their minute guns.

London, Feb. 2.—Under leaden skies, harmonious with the solemn occasion, escorted by kings, princes, potentates and crowds of people, the mortal remains of Queen Victoria today traversed the streets of London from Victoria to Paddington railway station, receiving the mournful homage of countless thousands, who watched with hushed voice and bared head the last passing of a great woman and, at the same time, the most noted funeral of this or any other century. The body was landed from the royal yacht Alberta, at Portsmouth, at 8:30 o'clock this morning in a drenching rain. A special train with the precious burden started for London at 8:55 o'clock, while the monster fleet of warships thundered forth their minute guns.

London, Feb. 2.—Under leaden skies, harmonious with the solemn occasion, escorted by kings, princes, potentates and crowds of people, the mortal remains of Queen Victoria today traversed the streets of London from Victoria to Paddington railway station, receiving the mournful homage of countless thousands, who watched with hushed voice and bared head the last passing of a great woman and, at the same time, the most noted funeral of this or any other century. The body was landed from the royal yacht Alberta, at Portsmouth, at 8:30 o'clock this morning in a drenching rain. A special train with the precious burden started for London at 8:55 o'clock, while the monster fleet of warships thundered forth their minute guns.

London, Feb. 2.—Under leaden skies, harmonious with the solemn occasion, escorted by kings, princes, potentates and crowds of people, the mortal remains of Queen Victoria today traversed the streets of London from Victoria to Paddington railway station, receiving the mournful homage of countless thousands, who watched with hushed voice and bared head the last passing of a great woman and, at the same time, the most noted funeral of this or any other century. The body was landed from the royal yacht Alberta, at Portsmouth, at 8:30 o'clock this morning in a drenching rain. A special train with the precious burden started for London at 8:55 o'clock, while the monster fleet of warships thundered forth their minute guns.

London, Feb. 2.—Under leaden skies, harmonious with the solemn occasion, escorted by kings, princes, potentates and crowds of people, the mortal remains of Queen Victoria today traversed the streets of London from Victoria to Paddington railway station, receiving the mournful homage of countless thousands, who watched with hushed voice and bared head the last passing of a great woman and, at the same time, the most noted funeral of this or any other century. The body was landed from the royal yacht Alberta, at Portsmouth, at 8:30 o'clock this morning in a drenching rain. A special train with the precious burden started for London at 8:55 o'clock, while the monster fleet of warships thundered forth their minute guns.

London, Feb. 2.—Under leaden skies, harmonious with the solemn occasion, escorted by kings, princes, potentates and crowds of people, the mortal remains of Queen Victoria today traversed the streets of London from Victoria to Paddington railway station, receiving the mournful homage of countless thousands, who watched with hushed voice and bared head the last passing of a great woman and, at the same time, the most noted funeral of this or any other century. The body was landed from the royal yacht Alberta, at Portsmouth, at 8:30 o'clock this morning in a drenching rain. A special train with the precious burden started for London at 8:55 o'clock, while the monster fleet of warships thundered forth their minute guns.

London, Feb. 2.—Under leaden skies, harmonious with the solemn occasion, escorted by kings, princes, potentates and crowds of people, the mortal remains of Queen Victoria today traversed the streets of London from Victoria to Paddington railway station, receiving the mournful homage of countless thousands, who watched with hushed voice and bared head the last passing of a great woman and, at the same time, the most noted funeral of this or any other century. The body was landed from the royal yacht Alberta, at Portsmouth, at 8:30 o'clock this morning in a drenching rain. A special train with the precious burden started for London at 8:55 o'clock, while the monster fleet of warships thundered forth their minute guns.

London, Feb. 2.—Under leaden skies, harmonious with the solemn occasion, escorted by kings, princes, potentates and crowds of people, the mortal remains of Queen Victoria today traversed the streets of London from Victoria to Paddington railway station, receiving the mournful homage of countless thousands, who watched with hushed voice and bared head the last passing of a great woman and, at the same time, the most noted funeral of this or any other century. The body was landed from the royal yacht Alberta, at Portsmouth, at 8:30 o'clock this morning in a drenching rain. A special train with the precious burden started for London at 8:55 o'clock, while the monster fleet of warships thundered forth their minute guns.

London, Feb. 2.—Under leaden skies, harmonious with the solemn occasion, escorted by kings, princes, potentates and crowds of people, the mortal remains of Queen Victoria today traversed the streets of London from Victoria to Paddington railway station, receiving the mournful homage of countless thousands, who watched with hushed voice and bared head the last passing of a great woman and, at the same time, the most noted funeral of this or any other century. The body was landed from the royal yacht Alberta, at Portsmouth, at 8:30 o'clock this morning in a drenching rain. A special train with the precious burden started for London at 8:55 o'clock, while the monster fleet of warships thundered forth their minute guns.

London, Feb. 2.—Under leaden skies, harmonious with the solemn occasion, escorted by kings, princes, potentates and crowds of people, the mortal remains of Queen Victoria today traversed the streets of London from Victoria to Paddington railway station, receiving the mournful homage of countless thousands, who watched with hushed voice and bared head the last passing of a great woman and, at the same time, the most noted funeral of this or any other century. The body was landed from the royal yacht Alberta, at Portsmouth, at 8:30 o'clock this morning in a drenching rain. A special train with the precious burden started for London at 8:55 o'clock, while the monster fleet of warships thundered forth their minute guns.

London, Feb. 2.—Under leaden skies, harmonious with the solemn occasion, escorted by kings, princes, potentates and crowds of people, the mortal remains of Queen Victoria today traversed the streets of London from Victoria to Paddington railway station, receiving the mournful homage of countless thousands, who watched with hushed voice and bared head the last passing of a great woman and, at the same time, the most noted funeral of this or any other century. The body was landed from the royal yacht Alberta, at Portsmouth, at 8:30 o'clock this morning in a drenching rain. A special train with the precious burden started for London at 8:55 o'clock, while the monster fleet of warships thundered forth their minute guns.

London, Feb. 2.—Under leaden skies, harmonious with the solemn occasion, escorted by kings, princes, potentates and crowds of people, the mortal remains of Queen Victoria today traversed the streets of London from Victoria to Paddington railway station, receiving the mournful homage of countless thousands, who watched with hushed voice and bared head the last passing of a great woman and, at the same time, the most noted funeral of this or any other century. The body was landed from the royal yacht Alberta, at Portsmouth, at 8:30 o'clock this morning in a drenching rain. A special train with the precious burden started for London at 8:55 o'clock, while the monster fleet of warships thundered forth their minute guns.

London, Feb. 2.—Under leaden skies, harmonious with the solemn occasion, escorted by kings, princes, potentates and crowds of people, the mortal remains of Queen Victoria today traversed the streets of London from Victoria to Paddington railway station, receiving the mournful homage of countless thousands, who watched with hushed voice and bared head the last passing of a great woman and, at the same time, the most noted funeral of this or any other century. The body was landed from the royal yacht Alberta, at Portsmouth, at 8:30 o'clock this morning in a drenching rain. A special train with the precious burden started for London at 8:55 o'clock, while the monster fleet of warships thundered forth their minute guns.

London, Feb. 2.—Under leaden skies, harmonious with the solemn occasion, escorted by kings, princes, potentates and crowds of people, the mortal remains of Queen Victoria today traversed the streets of London from Victoria to Paddington railway station, receiving the mournful homage of countless thousands, who watched with hushed voice and bared head the last passing of a great woman and, at the same time, the most noted funeral of this or any other century. The body was landed from the royal yacht Alberta, at Portsmouth, at 8:30 o'clock this morning in a drenching rain. A special train with the precious burden started for London at 8:55 o'clock, while the monster fleet of warships thundered forth their minute guns.

London, Feb. 2.—Under leaden skies, harmonious with the solemn occasion, escorted by kings, princes, potentates and crowds of people, the mortal remains of Queen Victoria today traversed the streets of London from Victoria to Paddington railway station, receiving the mournful homage of countless thousands, who watched with hushed voice and bared head the last passing of a great woman and, at the same time, the most noted funeral of this or any other century. The body was landed from the royal yacht Alberta, at Portsmouth, at 8:30 o'clock this morning in a drenching rain. A special train with the precious burden started for London at 8:55 o'clock, while the monster fleet of warships thundered forth their minute guns.

London, Feb. 2.—Under leaden skies, harmonious with the solemn occasion, escorted by kings, princes, potentates and crowds of people, the mortal remains of Queen Victoria today traversed the streets of London from Victoria to Paddington railway station, receiving the mournful homage of countless thousands, who watched with hushed voice and bared head the last passing of a great woman and, at the same time, the most noted funeral of this or any other century. The body was landed from the royal yacht Alberta, at Portsmouth, at 8:30 o'clock this morning in a drenching rain. A special train with the precious burden started for London at 8:55 o'clock, while the monster fleet of warships thundered forth their minute guns.

London, Feb. 2.—Under leaden skies, harmonious with the solemn occasion, escorted by kings, princes, potentates and crowds of people, the mortal remains of Queen Victoria today traversed the streets of London from Victoria to Paddington railway station, receiving the mournful homage of countless thousands, who watched with hushed voice and bared head the last passing of a great woman and, at the same time, the most noted funeral of this or any other century. The body was landed from the royal yacht Alberta, at Portsmouth, at 8:30 o'clock this morning in a drenching rain. A special train with the precious burden started for London at 8:55 o'clock, while the monster fleet of warships thundered forth their minute guns.

London, Feb. 2.—Under leaden skies, harmonious with the solemn occasion, escorted by kings, princes, potentates and crowds of people, the mortal remains of Queen Victoria today traversed the streets of London from Victoria to Paddington railway station, receiving the mournful homage of countless thousands, who watched with hushed voice and bared head the last passing of a great woman and, at the same time, the most noted funeral of this or any other century. The body was landed from the royal yacht Alberta, at Portsmouth, at 8:30 o'clock this morning in a drenching rain. A special train with the precious burden started for London at 8:55 o'clock, while the monster fleet of warships thundered forth their minute guns.

London, Feb. 2.—Under leaden skies, harmonious with the solemn occasion, escorted by kings, princes, potentates and crowds of people, the mortal remains of Queen Victoria today traversed the streets of London from Victoria to Paddington railway station, receiving the mournful homage of countless thousands, who watched with hushed voice and bared head the last passing of a great woman and, at the same time, the most noted funeral of this or any other century. The body was landed from the royal yacht Alberta, at Portsmouth, at 8:30 o'clock this morning in a drenching rain. A special train with the precious burden started for London at 8:55 o'clock, while the monster fleet of warships thundered forth their minute guns.

London, Feb. 2.—Under leaden skies, harmonious with the solemn occasion, escorted by kings, princes, potentates and crowds of people, the mortal remains of Queen Victoria today traversed the streets of London from Victoria to Paddington railway station, receiving the mournful homage of countless thousands, who watched with hushed voice and bared head the last passing of a great woman and, at the same time, the most noted funeral of this or any other century. The body was landed from the royal yacht Alberta, at Portsmouth, at 8:30 o'clock this morning in a drenching rain. A special train with the precious burden started for London at 8:55 o'clock, while the monster fleet of warships thundered forth their minute guns.

London, Feb. 2.—Under leaden skies, harmonious with the solemn occasion, escorted by kings, princes, potentates and crowds of people, the mortal remains of Queen Victoria today traversed the streets of London from Victoria to Paddington railway station, receiving the mournful homage of countless thousands, who watched with hushed voice and bared head the last passing of a great woman and, at the same time, the most noted funeral of this or any other century. The body was landed from the royal yacht Alberta, at Portsmouth, at 8:30 o'clock this morning in a drenching rain. A special train with the precious burden started for London at 8:55 o'clock, while the monster fleet of warships thundered forth their minute guns.

London, Feb. 2.—Under leaden skies, harmonious with the solemn occasion, escorted by kings, princes, potentates and crowds of people, the mortal remains of Queen Victoria today traversed the streets of London from Victoria to Paddington railway station, receiving the mournful homage of countless thousands, who watched with hushed voice and bared head the last passing of a great woman and, at the same time, the most noted funeral of this or any other century. The body was landed from the royal yacht Alberta, at Portsmouth, at 8:30 o'clock this morning in a drenching rain. A special train with the precious burden started for London at 8:55 o'clock, while the monster fleet of warships thundered forth their minute guns.

London, Feb. 2.—Under leaden skies, harmonious with the solemn occasion, escorted by kings, princes, potentates and crowds of people, the mortal remains of Queen Victoria today traversed the streets of London from Victoria to Paddington railway station, receiving the mournful homage of countless thousands, who watched with hushed voice and bared head the last passing of a great woman and, at the same time, the most noted funeral of this or any other century. The body was landed from the royal yacht Alberta, at Portsmouth, at 8:30 o'clock this morning in a drenching rain. A special train with the precious burden started for London at 8:55 o'clock, while the monster fleet of warships thundered forth their minute guns.

London, Feb. 2.—Under leaden skies, harmonious with the solemn occasion, escorted by kings, princes, potentates and crowds of people, the mortal remains of Queen Victoria today traversed the streets of London from Victoria to Paddington railway station, receiving the mournful homage of countless thousands, who watched with hushed voice and bared head the last passing of a great woman