

TRAVELERS' GUIDE. DISTANCES: Heppner to Portland 197 miles...

Here and There

J. W. Becket and S. T. Robinson were in yesterday from the great grain belt of Eightmile. Freezing weather now generally means a warm and early spring...

Ben Patterson is again attending to business at his drug store after faithfully nursing his wife through her recent illness. Hon. Henry Blackman came home for a visit over Sunday...

John Ewing, of Portland, has bought Floyd Thomas' interest in the store here, and will soon take hold in earnest. R. F. Hynd says that Mr. Ewing is an enterprising business man.

Clean newspapers to cover shelves, put under carpets and line houses are sometimes scarce, but just now there is a full supply on sale at the Gazette office at 15 cents a quart.

Mrs. L. J. Estes has greatly reduced her Japanese goods in order to dispose of them in the next two weeks. They consist of cups and saucers, sugar bowl and creamer, teapots, vases, rose jars, shells, trays, paper knives, etc., etc.

A. C. Giger and wife will start Friday on a visit to their old home at The Dalles, and then Mr. Giger will go on to Portland to meet representatives of eastern houses and buy a spring stock for his big Fair store.

On the Heppner ice ponds above town the crop was 4 inches thick yesterday, and when another inch is added, cutting generally begins.

Jim Jones has built a new fence along his hill pasture above town, so that travelers do not now need to scatter all over the country while following the county road in the dark.

At Weiser last week J. W. Cowins found that there was no winter, and stock was all doing well. The several Heppner stockmen in that region are all prosperous, and Newt and Gene Jones had just come to town with a band of horses.

Is there anything the matter with the title to your land? If there is, call at the Gazette office and get it cleared up.

Candy? O, yes, the very choicest kinds are kept at Dan P. Doherty's I. X. L. store.

Fine eating apples at Bishop's. The finest line of bulk pickles that ever came to town at Matlock & Hart's. Sour, sweet and dills.

Fresh cauliflower just received at Bishop's.

Sam Swan, ewegle, with 1 wife, 2 dogs and 4 offspring, came into Heppner Monday and enjoyed 3 full days looking at the sights of the town. The ladies of the family feasted their eyes on the dry goods and millinery and dolls, and Sam says his great delight was in parading up Main street and reading the store signs.

EWES WANTED. Sheepmen, take notice. I want to buy 1500 ewes. Must be first-class; let me hear from you. J. Danzels, 271 1/2 St., Portland, Ore.

LOCAL NOTES.

Born - At the home of its grandparents, Judge and Mrs. A. G. Bartholomew, in Heppner, Feb. 6, to the wife of Ed Sali, a sweet little baby girl.

Heppner has pushed ahead. It used to be that Judge Dutton had to send away back to his native Vermont and bring out a few gallons of pure maple syrup and distribute it among his friends. Now Heppner merchants bring such syrup here by the ton.

Nelse Magnusen is the most industrious man on earth. While the stars are still blinking these mornings he has hitched up and is hauling trunks down to the depot, so as not to interfere with the regular passenger trips he makes later with the beautiful bus and fine team. The horses show the good care Nelse gives them.

Now is the maple sugar season, and it always brings on discussions as to the merits of the article. In talking the matter over at Minor's big store the other day a pioneer resident of Salem said that the best maple sugar he had ever tasted was some that Charley Heilenbrand made from common brown sugar and enough maple syrup to flavor it.

J. W. Cowins, wife and daughter, returned Monday from Idaho. They arrived at Weiser too late for the funeral of Mr. Cowins' brother, as they were expected earlier.

J. M. Kernan this week purchased a very fine $650 Chickering piano from Eilers Piano house. This piano is one of the very best ever brought to Heppner, and Mr. Kernan feels justly proud of this instrument. Such sales as this are very satisfactory to Eilers Piano house, also to their local agents, Wells & Co., Heppner, Or.

Score cards on which you can keep tally on all kinds of games are now kept on sale at the Heppner Gazette office.

Bishop's store always has oranges, bananas and lemons.

All kinds of building material promptly delivered by Heppner Lumber Co.

Queen olives in bulk at Matlock & Hart's.

Hon. Phil Metschan, in connection with Mr. C. W. Knowles, has taken charge of the Imperial Hotel, of Portland. The reputation of these gentlemen insures the success of the enterprise. The diningroom is excellently managed and is unsurpassed.

Sheep-ranch outfits, stock salt, hats and furnishing goods, pipes, tobacco, candy and nuts—all these are sold at T. R. Howard's store.

Legal blanks and all kinds of job printing at Gazette office.

The very choicest of canned and dried fruits are always kept on hand at the grocery store of T. R. Howard.

When you want fresh nuts go to Bishop's.

Why make mince meat, when you can get as good and cheaper than you can make it, at Matlock & Hart's.

Please remember this: You can get letterheads, billheads, cards, books or any kind of job printing done at the Heppner Gazette shop.

Pickled pigs' feet, salt salmon, herring and mackerel at Matlock & Hart's. Heppner Gazette only 4 bits for 3 months.

BETTER THAN EVER.

The Heppner Steam Laundry has just made many important improvements by adding new machinery so as to keep up with the work and do it even better. A new mangle has been arranged for, and all the machinery overhauled, and the enterprising proprietor, Frank Krug, has increased the size of the building 14x24. People should all patronize this home institution and promptly pay their bills the first of the month. There is no good business policy in sending washing away from Heppner.

CITY BAKERY.

I have reopened the City Bakery and Lunch Counter on May Street, and will furnish bread, cake, pastry and lunches at all hours. Mrs. P. J. BOWERMAN.

CLEARANCE SALE.

Mrs. L. J. Estes has reduced the prices on all winter goods in order to make room for her spring stock. A few choice jackets at cost; also fur capes and boas. She has a full line of woolen hose, corsets, skirts, etc.

A HOME ON TIME.

A good ranch of 160 acres, 140 of it good plow land, located on county road, 5 miles southwest of Heppner, is now offered at $4 an acre. Any man who will work it may have it on 3 years' time, pay in easy installments. Apply at Heppner Gazette office.

IS GOING WEST.

As it is nearly time for my annual attack of spring fever, and therefore being about to follow Horace's advice and go west, I offer for sale a good ranch of 324 acres 5 miles from Heppner; another same distance of 1000 acres; another 3 miles out, of 1200 acres; either or all at $5 an acre, and all have running water, and no fleas, flies or bugs or wells to fall into. Address J. W. Redington, Heppner.

DO YOU TAKE IT?

This is the all-freest world to march on and have things to happen in it of any you ever got into. Are you keeping posted on men and things by reading the Oregonian? If not, order the daily at Patterson & Son's Up-to-Snuff drug store, and it will be delivered at your home every evening. If you want the Weekly, call at the Gazette office.

TYPEWRITER.

A new typewriter will cost you $100. The Gazette office has one to sell at $30 that will do just as good work as a $100 machine.

PRIVATE BOARD.

Anyone desiring Private Board will do well to call on Mrs. Morrison, at her rooms back of P. O. Borg's Jewelry Store.

OLD CAMPAIGNER.

One of the pioneer pathfinders of the Pacific Northwest was Lieut. E. S. Farrow, of the gallant old 21st U. S. Infantry. With his regiment he campaigned through all the Indian wars here, and was on the 2,000-mile march after Chief Joseph's Nez Percés in 1877, after fighting all over the Clearwater country. That was a long campaign, and the soldiers who took the field in leafy June did not again reach their posts until chill December, and the hunger and cold and hardships they endured while marching through the high Rocky mountain region can only be realized by those who participated.

In 1878 Lieut. Farrow was again in the field and fought hostile Snake Indians all over the Eastern Oregon and Idaho country.

So successful was he as a soldier that Gen. Howard selected him to command an independent expedition into the rough Salmon River region in Idaho against a big band of hostile Sheep-eater Indians who were located there and making forays from their fastnesses against the nearest frontier settlements.

Other troops had failed to dislodge these terrorists, and Warjack's warriors had driven Captain Catley and his 2d infantry outfit clear out of the country and back to Mt. Idaho and Camp Howard.

Lieut. Farrow arranged things according to his own ideas. He took a mixed outfit of about 50 Indians and soldiers and jumped right into the rough region held by the hostiles, and signaled to them that his crowd was there to stay. He gave the hostiles no rest—fought them day and night, and burned up the tons of dried salmon they had put up for winter food. His men were always ready to fight, but never to run, and they wore out the hostiles and finally captured them.

Lieut. Farrow's fighting brought peace to the Pacific Northwest; his command cleaned up the last hostiles here, and there hasn't been a war-shot fired here since.

The lieutenant has resigned from the army, and is now in civil life in New York, where he is one of the editors of that great journal, Turf, Field and Farm.

The people of the Northwest are always glad to hear of Farrow, for he was one of the enterprising pathfinders who made it possible for whites to inhabit the far west.

If you want to buy a small or large home in Heppner, inquire of the Gazette office.

PAINFUL PICTURE.

On one of the Khea creek ranches yesterday a little girl was taught a very severe lesson. Her mother had told her she could take a run around the yard, and the keen, frosty morning air would do her good.

After she had had a few runs she stopped at the kitchen woodpile, and with child-like curiosity, put her tongue onto the back of the axe resting in the top of the chopping-block. The chilled iron, full of frost, glued itself right onto the tongue and held it fast.

It took all the grit in the little girl's system to push herself loose, and then she left the surface of her tongue on the axe, which refused to let go.

Very fortunately there was a box of Cuticura salve in the house, and this eased the little girl's suffering very much, and in time a new surface will grow on the tongue.

Children should be careful not to allow their curiosity to cause them such suffering.

BEAUTIFUL ROBES.

Things that all Oregon ought to be proud of are the beautiful Indian robes made by the Pendleton Woolen Mills.

They are articles of rare beauty, and every household should have one or more for couch covers, baby-carriage robes and all such purposes.

Not only is there a beautiful blending of colors in these robes, but the material used in making them is the very finest fleece wool, grown right here at home in Eastern Oregon.

These pretty and substantial robes are on sale at the big store of Minor & Co., Heppner, and it is a real pleasure to look upon them and feel their fine texture. Theron Fell, the enterprising manager of the Pendleton Mills, has drawn on every tribe in the west to get good color effects, and has succeeded.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than in all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment.

Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address, F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O. Sold by druggists, 75c. Hall's Family Pills are the best.
