FEED THEM WELL.

One of the things that the average sheep man is most likely to forget, is the fact that the ewe is doing two things at the same time and cannot be expected to do both successfully upon an amount of food which is barely sufficient for her own needs. She is keeping up her own frame and keeping it warm during winter's cold weather; she is at the same time trying to nourish a foetus, and if she is to do this well, it can only be done upon an extra allowance of food for the purpose. If she be not given this extra food, she has to suffer or her foetus will suffer and come into the world a puny, useless animal that will speedily succumb or prove profitless to the owner. The food of maintenance is that amount of food which will keep the ewe while she neither adds to nor parts with any of her weight. This amount of food proves barely sufficient when the weather becomes unusually cold, for at such times the ewe will have to use up a part of the food for the formation of heat and another portion is utilized in a similar way when the ewe has to drink ice cold water and raise it to the temperature of her body. If while this is going on the ewe be not given an added amount of food, what is to become of the lamb? Some may not have given this matter any thought, but common sense should teach that the embryo lamb cannot be having very good times when the ewe is experiencing semistarvation. If the dam is starving, the foetus will starve, too, and worse, will sometimes die, and yet the owner will be at a loss to account for. It pays to feed well not only for the saving of the lambs in embryo, but also that the ewe may have a good flow of milk in spring time and so feed her lambs and make them grow fast and lustily. It pays to feed the ewe while in lamb, because she will not go back after the lamb comes but have a reserve amount of flesh and vim to fall back upon and so keep her own good health and flesh when the lamb commences to drain her by suckling.

Caked Breast

Just two applications did the work

Gentlemen--I suffered for days as only a woman will suffer, and in my last condition, I was reduced to a mere skeleton. The first application gave relief and the second restored the breast to its normal condition. Without incurring the expense of the flow of milk, I have used your truly Mysterious Pain Cure, a genuine household remedy, for nearly a year and consider it the greatest external remedy in the world. MRS. M. P. D. Oakland, Cal., July 14, 1901.

DOCTORS USE IT.

Gentlemen--I have known of the use of your Mysterious Pain Cure for several years, but not until within a few months have I used it upon my person and in my family, and I can say unhesitatingly that it is one of the best remedies for pain that I have ever tried. Thoroughly applied it is, in my experience, very sure to give quick and permanent relief. Respectfully, DON'T RUB IT IN. DON'T RUB IT IN. GENTLY RUB IT IN. A Life and Death Fight.

Mr. W. A. Hines, of Manchester, Ia., writing of his almost miraculous escape from death, says: "Exposure after measles induced serious lung trouble, which ended in Consumption. I had frequent hemorrhages and coughed night and day. All my doctors and I must soon die. Then I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, which completely cured me. I would not be without it even if it cost $5 a bottle. Hundreds have used it on my recommendation and all say it never fails to cure throat, chest and lung troubles." Regular size 50c and $1. Trial bottles free at Conser & Warren Drug Co.

FIRE AND WATER.

At the meeting Friday night of the Heppner Literary and Debating Society at the Christian church, a fair-aided audience was present by invitation, and the subject debated was, Resolved that fire is more destructive than water.

The affirmative side was taken by Miss Mabel Ayers, W. L. Salig and Martin Anderson. Negative by Miss Lena Glasscock, O. A. Jones and J. B. Beal.

The decision was in favor of the affirmative, the judges being Miss Lillian McNay, Jas. Hart and C. D. Nickelsen -- 2 for, 1 against.

The society will have another debate at same place next Friday night on-- Resolved, that man's circumstances are governed more by his environments than by his character. Jas. Hart and Bruce Kelly will be the leaders.

Neuralgia's Tongs

For years I suffered with neuralgia, which especially affected my eyes; and a plain, unvarnished story of my sufferings would read like exaggeration. Words are powerless to express the pain I endured. Three years ago I tried a bottle of Dr. Miles' Nervine, and it helped me so much that I bought a dozen more. Before they were gone the neuralgia was completely cured, and has never bothered me since."

Labor Saving Reading for Busy Men and Women, in THE OUTLOOK

$3.00 a year. A cent a day. 52 numbers a year.

A Weekly Newspaper and an Illustrated Magazine in one. Tells the story of world-happenings every week in brief, clear-cut paragraphs. Lyman Abbott is the Editor-in-chief, and Hamilton W. Mabie the Associate Editor.

JACOB A. RIIS

The author of "How the Other Half Lives" will give in The Outlook an intensely human and vivid account of his experiences as a child in Denmark, an immigrant in America, a workman, a traveler, a reporter, and finally a student of tenement house problems, and an efficient aid to Theodore Roosevelt in reorganizing the New York police. Mr. Riis writes with simplicity, humor and vigor.

RALPH CONNOR

Under this pseudonym were written two of the most striking of recent novels, "Black Rock" and "The Sky Pilot." A new novel of Canadian and Western life by this author will appear in The Outlook during the year. In spirit, humor, pathos and strong character-drawing it is even superior to its predecessors.
