The claim of other cough medicines to be as good as Chamberlain's are effectually set at rest in the following testimonial of Mr. D. D. Glass, an employe of Bartlett & Dennis Co., Gardiner, Me. He says: "I had kept adding to a cold and cough in the winter of 1897, trying every cough medicine I heard of without permanent help, until one day I was in the drug store of Mr. Houlahan and he advised me to try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and offered to pay back my money if I was not cured. My lungs and bronchial tubes were very sore at this time, but I was completely cured by this remedy, and have since always turned to it when I get a cold, and soon find relief. I also recommend it to my friends and am glad to say it is the best of all cough medicines." For sale by Conser & Warren, druggists.

DRIVING A DOG TEAM. Flying Over the Snows of Northern Canada in Rubber Skins. The sled consists of a narrow box four feet long, the front half being covered or boxed in, mounted on a floor eight feet long resting on runners. In this box the passenger sits, wrapped in rabbit skins so that he can hardly move, his head and shoulders only projecting. In front and behind and on top of the box is placed all the luggage, covered with canvas, and securely lashed, to withstand all the jolting and possible upsets, and our snowshoes within easy reach. An important item is the dog-whip, terrible to the dog if used by a skillful hand and terrible to the user if he be a novice; for he is sure to half strangle himself or hurt his own face with the business end of the lash. The whip had a handle nine inches long and lash 30 feet, and weighed four pounds. The lash was of folded and plaited seal hide, and for five feet from the handle measured five inches round, then for 14 feet it gradually tapered off, ending in a single thong half an inch thick and 11 feet long. Wonderful the dexterity with which a driver can pick out a dog with this lash. The lash must be trailing at full length behind, when a jerk and turn of the wrist causes it to fly forward, the thick part first, and the tapering and continuing the motion till it is at full length in front, and the lash making the fur fly from the victim. But often it is made to crack over the heads of the dogs as a warning. The 11 dogs were harnessed to the front of the sled, each by a separate thong of seal hide, all of different lengths, fastened to a light canvas harness. The sled, and the leader, with bells on her, about 60 feet, the thongs thus increasing in length by about three feet. When the thong is good the dogs spread out like the fingers of a hand, but when the snow is deep they fall into each other's tracks in almost single file. As they continually cross and recross each other, the thongs get gradually plaited almost up to the rear-most dog, when a halt is called, the dogs are made to lie down, and the driver carefully disentangles them, taking care that no dog gets away meanwhile. They are guided by the voice, using "Hunk," that is, "Eskimo," words; "work," to the right; "arrah," to the left, and "hoit," straight on. But often one of the men must run ahead on snowshoes, for the dogs to follow him.—London (Ont.) Times.

GREAT EMBARRASSMENT. Caused by Royalty by the Sale of Private Papers. Every now and again the royal family in England is dismayed by the sale at auction of confidential letters and private papers the contents of which they have every reason to desire unknown to the general public. Thus just at the present moment a lot of valuable papers which formerly belonged to Queen Victoria's uncle, the duke of Sussex, and which at his death remained in the possession of members of his household, are being disposed of to the highest bidder. They comprise a quantity of very confidential letters written by the queen to her uncle, some of them relating to domestic affairs and quarrels, while others contain caustic comments on people who fondly imagined that they occupied a very high place in the esteem of her majesty—a belief shared by their children now living.

HERPICIDE Relieves Dandruff Immediately and causes thick, glossy hair to supplant the former thin, brittle growth. Nowbro's Herpicide performs its work on the principle, "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect," and consequently it reaches and kills off the ever-busy microbe, which is responsible for all scalp diseases. It thus makes dandruff and falling hair impossible, and promotes a luxuriant growth of hair that soon becomes the pride of the owner. Even on bald spots it soon produces hair as thick and luxuriant as anyone could wish for. One bottle will assure that it is the only hair restorer that really restores. For Sale by all First-Class Drug Stores.

ROMANIA'S KISSING FESTIVAL. A Queer Annual Fair at Helmaneg and the Strange Origin Alleged. Helmaneg, a Rumanian country town of twelve hundred inhabitants holds its annual fair on the feast of St. Theodore. On this occasion the place swarms with newly married bride from sixty or eighty villages in the district; widows who have taken fresh husbands remain at home. The young women in festive attire, and generally attended by their mothers-in-law, carry jugs of wine enwreathed with flowers in their hands. The Rumanische Woehenschrift says they kiss every one they meet, and afterward present the custom in their own "nip." The individual thus regarded bestows a small gift on the fair Cybele. Not to partake of the proffered wine is regarded as an insult to the young wife and her family. She is, therefore, reserved to whom she thinks likely to taste of her wine. The kissing is carried on everywhere—in the street, in the taverns and in private houses. The origin of this custom is well in obscurity. Some say that it dates back to the time when the Turks made frequent raids into Transylvania, and carried away all the young women they could lay their hands on. Such of them as contrived to escape from captivity, happening to return to Helmaneg at the time of the fair, kissed their friends and relatives, and even strangers who congratulated them on their wonderful deliverance.
