ONLY ONE MILLER.

People who heard him lecture in Heppner last spring will never forget the originality of Joaquin Miller.

When he returned from the golden Klondike he was wearing on his feet muckluks, skin shoes the shape of washtubs...

But everybody will be glad to know that Mr. Miller can not only wear boots again, but $1000 boots.

In describing his interview with Li Hung Chang, Mr. Miller says: "But where do you get your money?" Li asked.

"I earn my money. There is no bank in Tien-Tsin. Money is very heavy."

"Where do you carry your money? Why, the Boxers would cut you open for a dollar."

"He looked at me and, out of his suddenly hard eyes, and I looked back. There was a battle of not blood or hate, but honest inquiry. I could not afford to lose this fight. He was doubting my word. I looked him straight in the face. I looked this glittering-eyed prince of fortune straight in the face. I hear that a thousand liars, men of low estate and high estate had lied to him; bad come to him as beggars, had received favors, and then had lied about him like traitors. I remembered that he had gone up to Peking a barefooted boy to compete with learned men and to begin life as a scholar. I even at that instant thought of Lincoln lying on his face and writing his first thought on the back of a five shovel by the light of a hickory torch fire in the cabin.

"Quick as thought I jerked off my big right boot, by aid of my left foot and then thrust my arm down. I drew forth a flattened book of United States bank notes and behold nearly every one had the face of his friend Grant.

"There, $500 in each boot. $1000 of your Mexican money in each boot I brought with me to China.

"Think of a man pulling off his boot in the presence of the richest man, a man of etiquette, a man who was matched against the powers of the world.

"I arose to go. He stood up, tall, very tall, as if he never would stop straightening up. And then he reached his hand to me, full of bones and finger nails, quite a fistful of long fingers and nails, and he took my hand in his closely, and, saying low and silently: 'We will not meet any more, you of the West and I of the East. Good-by.' "We stood a second still. Then I bowed my face above the hard hand of bones and finger nails—the hand of this barefooted boy, my brother, who had gone up with a bottle of water and a little bag of rice to his capital nearly a century ago to compete for a place in literature among the learned of China."

Consumption

is destruction of lung by a growing germ, precisely as mouldy cheese is destruction of cheese by a growing germ.

If you kill the germ, you stop the consumption. You can or can't, according to when you begin.

Take Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil: take a little at first.

It acts as a food; it is the easiest food. Seems not to be food; makes you hungry; eating is comfortable. You grow stronger. Take more, not too much; enough is as much as you like and agrees with you. Satisfy hunger with usual food; whatever you like and agrees with you.

When you are strong again, have recovered your strength—the germs are dead; you have killed them.

If you have not tried it, send for free sample, its agreeable taste will surprise you.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, 409 Pearl St., New York. 50c. and $1.00; all druggists.

AT ATHENA.

Athena is preparing for a lively season of base ball, whether the league idea carries or not, says the Press. Work has been commenced on the grounds, which will be among the best in the country.

A grandstand will be erected, and the comfort of patrons looked after. Practice will be begun in earnest as soon as the weather permits, some preliminary work having been already entered into. The prospects are bright for a successful season.

COSMOPOLITAN FRANCE.

Proposed Bills to Prevent the Immigration of Foreigners.

There are no less than five bills before the French chamber whose object is to check or prevent the immigration of foreigners. According to the latest figures there are 480,000 Belgians, 280,000 Italians, 100,000 Germans and 40,000 British and Swiss settled or employed in France. These 900,000 aliens are likely, moreover, to increase rapidly, not only by immigration but by superior fecundity, the birth rate among foreigners being far higher than among Frenchmen. The foreigners are exempt from the conscription, which causes employers to prefer them as laborers, and they send away large sums of money—$35,000,000 from Paris alone in a single year.

The committee which has the bills in charge proposes, therefore, to compel every immigrant to take out a permit of residence, which, it seems to be understood, will be refused when the French laborers complain of competition, and to pay one franc a year to the funds of the commune he inhabits. The grievance about the conscription is generally considered to be genuine, and to justify a tax; but it is pointed out that Italians or Belgians, or even Englishmen, become in the second generation Frenchmen. The Riquetis, Napoleons, Gambettas and Mc Mahons have never been suspected of being anything but French.

GOING TO CHURCH.

Nowadays the grandson of these Bible worshippers, still nominally a Christian, an educated young fellow familiar with the literature of half a dozen countries, probably never has read a chapter in it and never will, says an American Mother in the Ladies' Home Journal.

Whether it is the Word of God or of some Jewish poets he really has never cared to inquire. The odd point, indeed, of his position as to this question is his absolute indifference to it. He has a vague idea that the Book was lately overthrown by the Higher Criticism.

But as to what the criticism is, or what the Book is, he has but vague ideas. They bore him, and in his hasty march through life he has learned the trick of promptly ridding his path of all things that bore him.

What religion have American men now? Have they any? They say they are Christians and are journeying to the Heaven or hell of his forefathers. But a man on a real journey does not give all his attention to the happenings by the way. He is careful to choose the best route to the place where he is going. How often in a year does the American go to church to find out his best route? He pays for a pew, and his wife (perhaps) takes the children, but he stays at home, declaring that the sermon is literary twaddle, and that the preacher knows no more of real life than the bird skimming over the waves knows of the horrors that are in the bottomless deep below.

Well, sometimes he is right. But, being at home, does he shut himself up alone with God to ask Him where he is going? Or does he read the Sunday papers?

A man, too, on a real journey often consults his map. The Bible is the only map of the territory which we are crossing between one eternity and the other. But how many American men ever read the Bible now?

WM. PENLAND DEAD.

The news of the sudden death of Wm. Penland will be a severe shock to the people of Morrow county.

It occurred at Portland Monday after undergoing a surgical operation for relief of kidney trouble.

Mr. Penland had for years been the sheep king of Morrow county, and only a few months ago sold his large interests to the inland Land and Livestock Co.

While retaining an interest in the business, his relinquishment of the active management gave him an opportunity to take long-needed rest, which he so well deserved, and which he had looked forward to with pleasant anticipations.

Mr. Penland was one of the earliest pioneers of Eastern Oregon, coming here with a band of sheep 33 years ago. He stuck to sheep through thick and thin, worked hard in all sorts of weather, and now when he had arrived at a point where he could enjoy the results of his toil, the end is, alas! death.

Mr. Penland has built up vast interests, and has had much to worry him, but through it all he has been always accommodating, always fair and square with his fellow man. Peace to his ashes.

The funeral is announced to occur at the old home place today, and the remains will be laid to rest in the Lexington cemetery.

A large number of people will go down from Heppner and pay their tribute of respect.

SCALPS.

The new law provides that all scalps must be taken to the county clerk direct by the party who kills the varmints, when the clerk will issue a county warrant for $2, which, in Morrow county will be worth its face.

The scalp taker does not have to pay anything to the clerk for taking his affidavit. After the clerk issues the county warrant he reports to the state treasurer, who then issues a state warrant in favor of the county for two-thirds of the amount.

CHANCE FOR A HUSTLER.

There is a chance for a young man or woman to make money with The Unique Monthly. This was formerly the Penny Magazine, but has now become the standard half dime magazine of the world. It wants one agent in this vicinity and will give exclusive territory to the right person. Besides paying big commissions to its representatives, it sends a present worth more than the price of The Unique Monthly to every subscriber that is secured by the representative. Better address at once The Unique Monthly, Depew Building, New York.

Education in Porto Rico.

The expense of maintaining schools in Porto Rico is very high, if we consider the amount spent for the small number of pupils enrolled; but as the country is gradually brought in closer touch with our own, their system will evidently be changed, until it reaches our present state of perfection. In this country the people are being educated to the fact that there is a sure cure for dyspepsia, indigestion, constipation, liver and kidney troubles, and that medicine is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. It should be taken at the very first symptom, if you would avoid unnecessary suffering. It will give prompt relief and eventually cure, as hundreds of people, including many prominent physicians, have testified during the past fifty years.
