Here and There

Hardy wildflowers are beginning to bloom throughout the Rogue Valley. Clyde Walls is out for dinner, but he must come in and get something he left at his back at night.

As early as Thursday morning, the temperature at Grants Pass was 67 degrees, and Sunday at 70 degrees. The ground was already bare of snow, but the country was under a blanket of clouds. The air was very cold, but the weather was fine.

Sea of Gold

With the opening of the season, the Rogue River is again alive with the sound of the gold miner. The water is clear and cold, and the gold is abundant. The miners are hard at work, and the city is alive with excitement. The air is filled with the sound of the tootsie-frogs, and the smell of the freshly dug earth.

Honeydew

The honeydew is the first crop of the season. It is ready for picking, and the farmers are busy gathering it. The honeydew is a small, round fruit, and it is rich in sugar. The farmers are learning to control the growth of the plants, and they are able to produce a large harvest. The honeydew is a popular fruit, and it is enjoyed by people of all ages.

Hillside

The hillside is covered with flowers, and the air is filled with their sweet perfume. The flowers are of many colors, and they are in full bloom. The hillside is a beautiful sight, and it is a joy to walk through it. The flowers are a reminder of the beauty of nature, and they are a source of inspiration.
