Alton Basoy of this city who had a hearing in Justice Williams court Tuesday, charged with stealing a horse from A. J. Clem, was acquitted. Several witnesses were examined. There was little or no evidence to show that young Basoy had ever had any intent to unlawfully take the horse or dispose of it, and Judge Williams dismissed the case.

Y., Mr. Douglass says: "At the Pan-American in Buffalo a few days since, I had the pleasure of a few minutes conversation with the Hon. Henry Blackman, one of the Oregon commissioners. Your state made a splendid exhibit, very tastefully arranged and from what I have heard has created a very favorable impression upon visitors from this section. Having been a resident of Oregon for twenty-five years, I was much interested in it and proud of interest taken by Eastern people."

Great reform movements produce great orators. The abolition movement gave us Beecher, Sumner, Phillips, Lincoln. The temperance reform has given to the country a galaxy of star orators—Gough, Finch, Frances Willard, Woolery, Dickie. Our community is fortunate in the opportunity to hear one of the foremost of the younger generation of advocates of this great reform in the person of Quincy Lee Morrow of Indiana, who speaks in the opera house, on Thursday, Nov. 21. The Evening Telegram of Providence, R. I., said, "Mr. Morrow delivered the greatest lecture heard here in twenty years." Admission will be free and the public cordially invited.

That $50,000 should be added to Milton's wealth from the apple crop alone this year is a source of congratulation to producers and business men especially when it was at first reported that the codlin moth had cut down the marketable yield four-fifths. This is the amount that will have changed hands before the season is over. Winter apples, the last of the year, are coming in steadily. When they are all sent out a total of 50 carloads, averaging 500 boxes a car and $1.50 a box will represent the product. Shippers were Wm. Shields, the branch house of the Walla Walla Produce Company, and the Milton Fruitgrowers' Union, Pendleton, Spokane, Baker City, the Coeur d'Alene, the Dakotas, Minnesota and Wisconsin, and even the extreme East have the markets.

Wednesday, the 23d of October, 1901, was the 40th anniversary of the discovery of gold in Baker county. In the spring of 1861, a party of prospectors from Portland, headed by David Littlefield, Henry Griffin and W. S. Schriver left the Willamette valley for that district and on the 23d day of October discovered gold in paying quantities at Griffin's gulch, now known as the town of Auburn. A part of the company went back as far as Walla Walla and purchased a supply of provisions for the winter and the remainder returned to Portland, where they told the story of the wonderful find. The news spread rapidly but it was too late in the season for anyone to attempt to cross over the mountains. Early in the spring of 1862, great crowds of prospectors began to flock into the country until the town of Auburn grew to be a city of about 5000 inhabitants a few weeks, and for several years Auburn was the largest and most important town in this part of the state. Day, according to the last census, once prosperous city numbers 18 inhabitants.

Catarrh

Is a discharge from the mucous membrane of the nose, throat, stomach, bowels etc., when kept in a state of inflammation by an impure condition of the blood and a want of tone in the system.

Softens the inflamed membrane, strengthens the weakened system, and the discharge will stop—to do this purify the blood.

"I was troubled with catarrh for years and tried various remedies but found nothing that would cure me. I then resolved to try Hood's Sarsaparilla and took four bottles which entirely cured me. I have never been troubled with catarrh since. As a blood purifier I can find nothing else equal to Hood's Sarsaparilla." WILLIAM SHERRMAN, 1030 6th St., Milwaukee, Wis.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures catarrh radically and permanently—removes its cause and overcomes all its effects.

CORNER STONE LAID.

Large Number of People Witness Impressive Ceremonies.

The laying of the corner stone of the new building which is being erected by Willow Lodge, marked an important event in the history of Odd Fellowship in Heppner.

There were many visiting members from different parts of the state, besides a full attendance of the members of Willow Lodge.

The Odd Fellows assembled at the old hall at the corner of Chase and May streets at 1:30. The procession was in line at 2 o'clock, and headed by the Heppner Ladies' band, and San Souci Rebekah Lodge, followed by the Odd Fellows, marched from the hall up Chase street to Main, and down Main street to the building.

At the building an immense crowd had already assembled to witness the exercises.

A temporary platform was arranged in front of the building for the band.

Past Grand Master O. D. Dean of The Dalles, assisted by Deputy Grand Master C. W. Younggren of Silverton, had charge of the exercises.

The acting Grand Officers assisting in the ceremonies were as follows:

Past Grand Master, O. D. Dean of The Dalles; Deputy Grand Master, C. W. Younggren, of Silverton; Grand Secretary, Fred Warnock; Grand Treasurer, S. J. Leazer; Grand Chaplain, Rev. Curran of Condon; Grand Marshal, R. C. Wills; Grand Warden, Milt Maxwell of Ione; Grand Conductor, F. M. Griffin of Ione.

The beautiful ritualistic exercises were impressive. Here some of the grand principles of the great order that stands upon the strong foundation of friendship, love and truth, were exemplified, and as the metallic box was sealed with cement in the massive corner stone by Grand Master Dean, some of the lasting and great work of Odd Fellowship was realized by the immense audience.

At the close of the exercises, Grand Master Dean delivered a short address that was highly entertaining and impressive.

Acting Grand Secretary Fred Warnock read the list of articles that were deposited in the box as follows:

Eastern Oregon Corn.

Shipments of corn have begun from Athena, a carload this week making a total of three for the month and five for the season. The Athena Flour Mill Company buys from the reservation farmers and ships to Portland and the Sound markets. Carload shipments will continue to go out at intervals all season.

Few people outside the immediate vicinity know that Athena is fast becoming a corn center, and already produces more of that product than any other town in the Inland Empire. It is only the last couple of years that farmers have turned to this industry, and its growth is yet largely experimental. On the important question of whether wheat will alternate with corn depends the extension of the corn industry in this section. The experiment will be conducted next season. Several ranchers are leaving Summer fallow, or devoting their own to the purpose, and will plant corn. The corn crop will be followed closely by wheat. If the wheat turns out well, the future of corn on the reservation tributary to Athena is established. Even if it fails, the acreage will increase somewhat.

Men conversant with the situation estimate this season's corn crop at 30,000 bushels, most of it produced on the reservation, and much greater in quantity than even residents imagined. While some reports of patches of considerable area announce a 40 bushel-to-the-acre yield, 25 bushels throughout will represent the average approximately. This means an acreage this year of slightly over 1000 acres, a fine showing for a new enterprise. It is nearly double last year's acreage, and not much over half what is promised for 1902.

The Athena Flour Mill Company has contracted for 15,000 bushels of this crop, paying ranchers 50 cents a bushel, and because the yield is good and the expense of growing light, it has been found considerably more profitable than wheat.
