Country Life

Ought, it would seem, to give exemption from the diseases which prey upon the residents of thickly populated cities. But there is no exemption from disease, and in the country, as in the city, one may see the cheeks grow hollow and the eyes grow dull while the frame wastes away with that terrible disease, consumption.

Weak lungs are made strong by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures obstinate and stubborn coughs, bronchitis, bleeding of the lungs and other symptoms which, if neglected or unskillfully treated, terminate fatally in consumption. The action of Golden Medical Discovery in the curing of wasting diseases is entirely philosophic. Emaciation, and consequent loss of weight, are among the most striking symptoms of what are known as wasting diseases. The body is not being adequately nourished, and the cause of this lack of nourishment is not lack of food but lack of ability in the stomach and the other organs of digestion and nutrition to prepare the food for the assimilation and nutrition of the body. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and the organs of digestion and nutrition, and so enables the body to be nourished back to strength in the only way by which strength can come; that is, by food perfectly digested and assimilated.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a temperance medicine. It contains no alcohol, neither opium, cocaine or any other narcotic.

Accept no substitute for "Discovery." There is nothing just as good for you, though many things may pay the dealer a larger profit.

CAUGHT COLD.

"The first day of this year," writes Mrs. Kate Sabo, "I caught a heavy cold which settled on my lungs and I had a terrible cough. From that time on until the first of April I bled from my lungs five different times. I was so weak and useless I could only do the lightest work. The doctor told me I was going into consumption. My friends were all discouraged and had given me up to die. I was in the city when I began to take Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. After the first bottle I was much better, and I could walk two or three blocks without trouble. My appetite was short and I was much improved. After taking five bottles I found myself all right, and I never felt better in my life. I think it is one of the best in the world and I recommend it to all who are troubled as I was."

WILL MAKE AFFIDAVIT.

"I was sick for about three months, had chills every day, and caught a great deal of rain in the open air," writes Mr. Augustus Tyson, of Wilmington, Del. "All my neighbors and friends thought I had consumption. I was reduced in flesh and was very weak. I only weighed 122 pounds. I was induced to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, for me and a friend of mine [illegible] had been taking it for chills and fever and found relief. I got a bottle of the 'Discovery' and took it according to directions, and before I had taken all of the bottle I was much better. I continued taking it until I had taken five bottles, and I was entirely cured. I have not had a chill since. I weighed 122 pounds when I commenced taking your medicine, and now I weigh 145 pounds. I can and will make affidavit to this fact. I am willing to do anything to help you, as I owe my life to your medicine, and I will answer all letters of inquiry."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, containing 1008 pages, and over 700 Illustrations, is sent free on receipt of stamps to defray expense of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 31 cents for the book in cloth binding. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

HISTORIC HONESTY.

How a Negro Charwoman Guarded a Treasury Package Containing Thousands of Dollars.

"The most notable exhibition of honesty ever in the history of the treasury department," says a writer in Leslie's Weekly Journal, "was made by Sophie Hawes, a colored woman first employed 40 years ago by Gen. Spinner, then treasurer of the United States, as a temporary charwoman. One afternoon in April, 1862, while sweeping and scrubbing the floor of the room in question she found a package full of crisp thousand dollar notes, which some careless clerk had neglected to put away in the safe. She determined to stand guard over the treasure and to confide her secret to no one but Gen. Spinner himself, who slept in the treasury building during those troublesome war times. She swept the dust of the room into one pile, then another, scattered it about and swept it up again and again, doing thus to keep up the appearance of industry and to make the atmosphere of the room as uninviting as possible to the intruding guards, who now and then sauntered in. From sheer weakness she finally fell asleep until past midnight, when, imagining she discerned a figure moving in the room, she groped her way to the valuable bundle, secreted it between two desks, sat upon it, and while continuing her vigil thus fell asleep again. About four o'clock in the morning she was awakened by Gen. Spinner's footsteps. Although she gave the treasurer a great fright he rewarded her with a life appointment as matron in the issue division. And he did justly. When the package was examined it was found to contain, some say, $30,000; others, $700,000."

CARNEGIE'S POSTED DEBT.

The Millionaire Bulletined at a Golf Club for Non-Payment of Sixty Cents.

"Andrew Carnegie, $0.60," was the entry on the bulletin board of the St. Andrews' Golf club, up in Westchester, and for three months the golfers of that organization got a lot of merriment out of it, states the New York Tribune. When the great steel master came home from his Scotch castle early in the fall he saw the curt little announcement, too, and promptly put a stop to further laughter over it by sending in his check for the 60 cents. It was not because the club management feared that Mr. Carnegie had defaulted intentionally on the trivial debt that his name was posted for nonpayment, but because the rules of the club are made to be enforced, no matter against whom.

There is a regulation at St. Andrews that little incidental debts incurred by the members must be paid within the month in which they are contracted, under penalty of posting on the bulletin board. Mr. Carnegie forgot the rule or the debt, one or the other, for early in the summer he sailed away for his bonnie Scotland, to be gone three months, leaving unpaid the 60 cents. It was for caddies, or for some one of the other little extra services for which golfers must pay, and at the expiration of the time limit allowed by the rules up went the debt on the bulletin board, along with a dozen others against lesser personages.

POLING TROUT AND STURGEON

Novel Method of Poachers in Catching the Game Fish in Eastern Streams.

Poachers in the Adirondacks and other wild sections of New York are taking trout by means of a hook tied to the end of a stick. The poacher lies down upon a log or stump above some deep pool in a trout stream and brings the stick close alongside the log, working it over and over as carefully as if the fish were in a glass bowl. When the pole is only a hair's breadth from the side of the trout he flips it with a jerk, and nine times out of ten it hits the fish. The method is specially destructive to good sport, for the reason that it enables the poacher to take the very finest trout in the body of the pool.

Closely allied to the method of sturgeon catching which is practiced in the Detroit river and a few of the streams emptying into Lake Superior, is the New York Times. The sturgeon has a way, after it has come up stream in spawning season, of rubbing against every bit of wood that may be fixed in the water. The fisherman goes out in a boat or takes his place at a bridge with a pole, on the end of which are tied three hooks pointing in three different directions from a common center. The end of the pole is a plaything in the hands of the fisherman while the other he holds in his hand. When he feels the movement of the sturgeon he jerks. The sturgeon is hooked and a grand fight begins.

A QUEER WEDDING FEAST.

At Which the Guests Ate the Food Although a Greedy Child Fell Into It.

The wedding feast has from time immemorial played an important part in Maoriland. S. Percy Smith, the surveyor general of New Zealand, says Woman's Home Companion, gives this account of one such feast. The guests numbered hundreds, and when the sweetened paste was to be served no dish could be found large enough. Accordingly a large canoe was brought, cleaned after their long ocean trip, and in this the paste was put. As the host stirred it with dipping it out and helping himself with the usual spoon, a greedy child fell headfirst into the canoe, being instantly immersed in the food. Quickly rescued, it was decided it would never do to waste so much good food, so the little one was passed from one to another along the line of guests, who proceeded to lick him over until clean.

IT SCARES PEOPLE

Who come of a consumptive family when they begin to cough and the lungs are painful. But it is a fact beyond disproof that consumption is not and cannot be inherited. The microbe which breeds disease must absolutely be received by the individual before consumption can be developed.

Men and women who have been afflicted with obstinate coughs, bronchitis, bleeding of the lungs, emaciation and weakness, have been perfectly and permanently cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures the cough, heals the lungs, and builds up the body with solid flesh.

"When I commenced taking your medicines eighteen months ago my health was completely broken down," writes Mrs. Coral L. Sunderland, of Chancyville, Calvert Co. Md. "At times I could not even walk across the room without pains in my chest. The doctor who attended me said I had lung trouble and could never be cured. At last I concluded to try Dr. Pierce's medicines. I bought a bottle of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' took it and soon commenced to feel a little better then you directed me to take both the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and the 'Favorite Prescription' which I did. Altogether I have taken eighteen bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' twelve of the 'Favorite Prescription' and five vials of Pellets. I am now almost entirely well and can do my work without any pain whatever and can run with more ease than I could formerly walk."

BRITISH NAVAL CUSTOMS.

An Interesting Account of the Origin of a Number of Regular Practices.

A fact not generally known is that the black silk handkerchief which Jack knots around his throat was first worn as mourning for Nelson, and has ever since been retained. The three white stripes around the bell bottoms of the sailor's trousers originally represented the victories of Aboukir, Copenhagen and the Nile. Thus it is remarked, the Nelson legend is kept up. Jack's watch cap, and indeed all his clothing is well laid on broad lines. It was first adopted at that period when sailors plastered their hair with a stiff pigtail with grease and pipeclay, says the London Family Herald.

ARE YOU DEAF? ANY HEAD NOISES?

ALL CASES OF

DEAFNESS OR HARD HEARING ARE NOW CURABLE

by our new invention. Only those born deaf are incurable.

HEAD NOISES CEASE IMMEDIATELY.

F. A. WERMAN, OF BALTIMORE, SAYS:

BALTIMORE, Md., March 10, 1901.

Gentlemen:—Being entirely cured of deafness, thanks to your treatment, I will now give you a full history of my case, to be used at your discretion.

About five years ago my right ear began to sing, and this kept on getting worse, until I lost my hearing in this ear entirely.

I underwent a treatment for catarrh, for three months, without any success, consulted a number of physicians, among others, the most eminent ear specialist of this city, who told me that only an operation would help me, and even that only temporarily, that the head noises would then cease, but the hearing in the affected ear would be lost forever.

I then saw your advertisement accidentally in a New York paper, and ordered your treatment. After I had used it only a few days according to your directions, the noises ceased, and to-day, after five weeks' use, my hearing in the diseased ear has been entirely restored. I thank you heartily, and beg to remain Very truly yours, F. A. WERMAN, 710 S. Broadway, Baltimore, Md.

Our treatment does not interfere with your usual occupation.

Examination and advice free. YOU CAN CURE YOURSELF AT HOME at a nominal cost.
