J. B. Merrill, of Hindsboro, nine miles east of Arcola, Ill., is the owner of a colt said to be the smallest ever born. It is now two weeks old, but is not as large as a shepherd dog. It is only 23 inches tall, and weighs just 39 pounds. Notwithstanding its diminutive size, it is healthy and fully developed, and is as lively as any colt of the same age. The little fellow is proving a great curosity.—St Louis Post-Dispatch.

VIRULENT CANCER CURED

Startling proof of a wonderful advance in medicine is given by druggist G. W. Roberts of Elizabeth, W. Va. An old man there had long suffered with what good doctors pronounced incurable cancer. They believed his case hopeless till he used Electric Bitters and applied Bucklen's Arnica Salve, which treatment completely cured him. When Electric Bitters are used to expel bilious, kidney and microbe poisons at the same time this salve exerts its matchless healing power, blood diseases, skin eruptions, ulcers and sores vanish. THE SIN OF NAGGING.

One That Destroys Home Comfort and Creates Discord and Discontent Among Servants.

There is an exceedingly disagreeable habit into which some people fall without seeming to notice it. This is nagging. They cannot say what they have to say and then let it alone, but keep pecking and pecking at it on every occasion and if occasions do not arise naturally, they make them. In this nagging, sarcasm or irony bear a leading part. A thing may be said once or twice as a pleasant raillery, in a genial humor, but when repeated over and over it ceases to be fun. It then cuts. Sarcasm is a two-edged tool; it cuts and wounds the one at whom it is aimed and it irritates and toughens the one who uses it. It is a [illegible] for one to use [illegible] either kind or [illegible] to the lips and the intellect takes a certain kind of delight in [illegible] genuity or sharpness. He [illegible] on one. At least the habit [illegible] so habitual that it is [illegible] seriously. However good-natured one seems to take it it is almost certain to leave a sting; there is a wound that hurts. Struggle against it as one will, there will often be an impression carried that some part of it is meant in earnest.

Too often to all of us would the feelings of others by carelessness in speech. We cannot too carefully guard ourselves against the nagging habit. It rasps and wears out the best of dispositions. Let us endeavor ever to make our speech kindly, even when obliged to find fault. "A blow with a word strikes deeper than a blow with a sword." We shall never err by speaking too kindly. These naggers are often kind at heart, and would not willingly wound another. They have formed the habit unconsciously and are not aware how frequently they indulge in that kind of talk. It does not occur to them that anyone may take a further meaning than they have meant, or that any part of it will be taken seriously. It is unavoidable, however, that this is so, says the Milwaukee Journal.

The nagging habit is the real reason why some women find it difficult to retain servants. It is for the sharpness of their tongues that some really excellent people are avoided and disliked in society. People dread the tongue lashings that slip so easily from lips and without real malice, but they nevertheless cut deep. Let us put a guard on ourselves and see that this habit of sarcastic speech and nagging is not ours. The Chinese have a saying that "A man's conversation is the mirror of his thoughts." There is a truth in it. If we habitually talk in a certain way we grow to be that way in character.

A Strange Libel Suit.

The prince and princess of Wales (then duke and duchess of Cornwall and York) happened to be in Sydney when the last birthday of the former occurred. A local firm was commissioned to provide a birthday cake, and it gave perfect satisfaction, eliciting a complimentary letter from the princess, which was proudly displayed in the window of the firm. Thereupon a rival firm posted in their window an announcement claiming credit for the cake as the work of their "decorative artist." For this allegation the first firm claimed [illegible] damages. The case [illegible] It would appear that the "decorative artist" and all the confectionery talent of Sydney had a hand in the business and worked far into the night to make the royal birthday cake a success.—Lloyd's Weekly.

Mamma says it's dyspepsia makes him act so crazy.

That's about the way it strikes the small boy. The dyspeptic has no idea of his own unreasonableness or harshness. Little things are magnified and seem to justify his quick anger. There's health for the dyspeptic and happiness for the family by the use of Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, and restores perfect health and strength, by enabling the perfect digestion and assimilation of food.

"I have taken one bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for indigestion and liver complaint," writes Mr. C. M. Wilson, of Yadkin College, Davidson Co., N. C. "Have had no bad spells since I commenced taking your medicine—in fact have not felt like the same man. Before I took the 'Golden Medical Discovery' I could not eat anything without awful distress but now I can eat anything I want without having unpleasant feelings."
