Disputes over the range question in Grant county between sheep and cattlemen is a serious matter, and at the present time is more complicated than ever before.

The wool business is now about all wound up in Morrow county. Only a few lots remain unsold.

All America sends words of sympathy to England in her trying hour. Especially do we sympathize with our friends over the water for it has only been a short time since the life of our martyred president was hanging in the balance.

The Republics of Missouri in state convention, endorsed the administration of President Roosevelt and declared him to be the logical candidate for 1904.

Five years ago, when the republican party succeeded to the control of national affairs, business was stagnant, credit impaired, currency disordered and industries prostrate.

The organization of the Oregon Wool Growers' Association has been a success and the sheepmen are now well aware of the fact that they have been benefitted in many ways.

A census bulletin on agriculture in Oregon, just issued shows that farms of the state, on June 1, 1900, numbered 35,837, and were valued at $182,337,514.

Senator Lodge uses the worst sort of argument that the election of Senators by the direct vote of the people would inevitably be followed by proportionate representation in the Senate and thus bring about a radical revolution in the form of our Government.

the trouble he fears than denial of that right. Persistence in the present system will finally work so much mischief that the people may be inclined to throw aside the safeguards of the Constitution in order to effect a reform in the mode of choosing Senators.—Ex.

FOR INDIAN TEACHERS.

Institutes are to be held this summer in different parts of the country for the benefit of teachers in Indian schools, and it is expected that at all of them there will be important discussions of topics pertaining to the instruction of the wards of the nation.

It will be interesting to know what the teachers of the Indian youth think of the permanent value of the work they are now doing. A notion prevails that a good deal of the text book instruction given in Indian schools is of little benefit to the pupils, especially if they are afterward allowed to resume tribal relations, and instances are shown of Carlisle graduates returning to their homes and tepees only to take up the barbaric ways of their kindred and become more worthless than ever because of the learning they have acquired.

It has been thought that much greater good would result if the Indians were given instruction in agriculture, mechanics or industrial arts so that they might become self supporting farmers instead of idle swash savants, and it would be worth while for the teachers in the Indian schools to give their opinions on this important matter.—Spokesman Review.

"I am using a box of Chamberlain's Stomach & Liver Tablets and find them the best thing for my stomach I ever used," says T. W. Robinson, Justice of the Peace, Loomis, Minn.
