WEDNESDAY, July 10, 1902

Heppner has some very bad side ways that ought to be fixed up.

Farmland is now wrestling with the proposition of selecting a site for the Lewis and Clark Fair and Centennial. The City Park will probably be the place selected.

King Edward is improving rapidly and is almost out of danger. At this news the world will rejoice. The coronation will take place some time between the 11th and 15th of August.

Almost daily loads of farm machinery are hauled out of Heppner by the farmers. They are getting ready to harvest a big crop which is now assured. The recent rains have been of great benefit and will make wheat fill well.

The war taxes are a thing of the past, with the exception of the tax on mixed flour and on tea, and tea will be untaxed after January 1 next. A reduction of $70,000,000 in taxation at one stroke is large beyond precedent, but the Republican surplus can stand it.—Ex.

Tracy is still at large and is probably heading for British Columbia. It is wonderful how this red-handed murderer has eluded his pursuers. In escaping from the penitentiary and since that time Tracy has murdered six men. Hunted with dogs like a wild beast, he has slipped away and is still at liberty. Under present methods, the Oregon penitentiary will never hold such desperate dare devils as Tracy. Ordinary criminals can be handled there, but when such men as Tracy and Merrill are put there another outbreak can be looked for, for it will surely occur unless the prison methods are greatly improved.

Favorable business indications in the United States continue. With the exception of the men who are entangled with strike difficulties, taking it all around, laboring men were never paid higher wages and there is plenty of employment. The Review of Reviews in speaking of trade conditions says: For the fiscal year ending with June, the exports of the United States will be from $90,000,000 to $100,000,000 less in value than those of the year ending June, 1901; but they will still exceed those of every other year, and amount to about $1,400,000,000. The imports, on the other hand, will amount to considerably more than those of any previous year, and the so-called balance of trade—that is to say, the excess of exports over imports—will be not far from $50,000,000. The falling off in exports is in part due to the shortage of the corn crop; but also largely to the steady demand and high prices for commodities prevailing in this country, which has had the effect of keeping our products for the home market. The wise administration of public affairs by the Republican party is apparent everywhere. It means permanent and continued prosperity.

WHEAT IN THE SOUTHWEST.

The average annual wheat crop of the United States is 450,000,000 bushels, of which 400,000,000 bushels are required for home consumption. When the yield is greater, there are additional exports. The great wheat belt of this country is ever changing. Two years ago we looked to the Northwest for our best wheat, and the largest quantity of it. Today the millers of large cities expect from the Southwest some of their best bread wheat. Kansas, Oklahoma and Nebraska are acknowledged wheat-producing sections. Last year, Kansas produced one-ninth of the wheat crop of the United States; summer county alone raised 1 per cent. of the entire crop of the world. Oklahoma raised 5,000,000 bushels of wheat in 1896; last year more than five times that amount. For three years Kansas has been in the first rank of the wheat-raising States. Despite the severe drought of 1901, Kansas produced 90,000,000 bushels, for which she received $50,000,000. Corn averaged less than one-fifth of a full yield, which discouraged the farmers, and last fall 1,000,000 acres of corn land were sown in wheat. Prior to that the corn acreage had been almost double. Last spring, because of the serious frosts of the winter, 1,000,000 acres were again ploughed up and have been sown in corn. Thus only 80 per cent. of the wheat remained in the ground, and this should produce 74 per cent. of a full yield. This means about 90,000,000 bushels of wheat to be gathered in the approaching harvest. These large and increasing crops have encouraged the farmers to enlarge their fields devoted to wheat.

A WELL CONDUCTED OFFICE.

The administration of the United States Land office at The Dalles since the appointment of Jay P. Lucas, register, and Otis Patterson receiver, has been such as to reflect great credit upon these gentlemen in their careful, able and just management of affairs in this important office. As servants of the government and of the public there never has been a single word of complaint. The people of this district recognize their faithful work, and especially would the people of Morrow county be disappointed if Messrs. Lucas and Patterson do not succeed themselves. The GAZETTE is only voicing the sentiment which is so apparent, in speaking of this as a public affair, for the people are not backward in expressing opinion on matters of importance.

The Dalles land office has been conducted in a most satisfactory manner, and for this the register and receiver deserve credit. Their re-appointment is desired.

LEXINGTON NEWS.

DEED.

MALLORY—In this city, Friday evening, July 4, 1902, Mrs. Mary Jane Mallory, wife of Augustus Mallory, aged 79 years, 10 months and 16 days. Deceased was born in the state of New York and came West arriving in Western Oregon in 1888. After two years in the Willamette valley, the family came to Heppner and have been residents here since 1870. She leaves a husband, Augustus Mallory and four children: Mrs. John Looney, of Jefferson, Mrs. Thos. Wright, of Union, Messrs. Will Mallory of Heppner and Chas. Mallory of Pendleton. Grandmother Mallory, as she was familiarly called, was loved by all. Her life was cheerful and for the betterment of mankind. For many years she removed stones in the rough pathway of life, and now at a ripe old age she has gone to her reward.

The funeral was conducted from the M. E. church in this city, Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

BROWN—At Blackhorse, Oregon, Sunday, July 6, 1902, J. P. Brown. The funeral was held Monday, Rev. J. V. Crawford, of this city, conducting the services. Mr. Brown was a Morrow county pioneer and a highly respected citizen.

Literary Notes

Miss Stone's third paper on her experiences with brigands, which appears in the July McClure's, is certainly the best part of far of this extraordinary narrative. It is devoted entirely to the birth of Mrs. T. K. Kelly and the events of the first weeks of her life in captivity. It is a story that only a woman could write, and as Miss Stone has written it no one can read it unmoved. McClure's, however, knows a few lines to get its best one better, and at the end of the article is the starting announcement that in the August number, Mrs. T. K. Kelly will tell the story of the coming of the "little brigand."

Your Hair

"Two years ago my hair was falling out badly. I purchased a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor, and soon my hair stopped coming out." Miss Minnie Hoover, Paris, Ill.

Perhaps your mother had thin hair, but that is no reason why you must go through life with half-starved hair. If you want long, thick hair, feed it with Ayer's Hair Vigor, and make it rich, dark, and heavy.

Terrible Cobra of India.

An average of 20,000 persons annually succumb to venomous snake bites in India. The cobra is the terrible scourge of India. The actual number of deaths during the decade 1890-1899, according to statistics, varied from 18,670 to 22,480 a year. For many years past the Government of India has offered rewards of "head money" for the destruction of venomous serpents. Notwithstanding the payment of large sums for this purpose, however, neither the supply of snakes nor fatalities from their bite seem to have decreased. During the above mentioned decade the number of poisonous snakes killed varied from 212,776 to 378,415 annually.—Kansas City Journal.

BEST LINIMENT FOR STRAINS.

Mr. F. H. Wells, the merchant at Deer Park, Long Island, N. Y., says: "I always recommend Chamberlain's Pain Balm as the best liniment for strains.
