

I Coughed

"I had a most stubborn cough for many years. It deprived me of sleep and I grew very thin. I then tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and was quickly cured."

R. N. Mann, Fall Mills, Tenn.

Sixty years of cures and such testimony as the above have taught us what Ayer's Cherry Pectoral will do.

We know it's the greatest cough remedy ever made. And you will say so, too, after you try it. There's cure in every drop.

Three sizes: 25c., 50c., $1. All druggists.

Consult your doctor. If he says take it, then do as he says. If he tells you not to take it, then don't take it. He knows. Leave it with him. We are willing.

J. C. AYER & CO., Lowell, Mass.

GOOSEHERRY NOTES.

Jay Ball will soon be ready to make his debut as a musician.

More wheat is being put in this year than ever known before.

This is the day we all stay at home and talk about our neighbors.

We often change our opinion, especially when the other fellow puts in his logic.

Miss Unice Estebbs and her best fellow were seen on our streets last Sunday.

Most all our town friends are quiet on religious subjects, perhaps due to so many other vexations.

Mr. George Holmes says his wife thinks the last load of oak wood is much harder than the Missouri poles were.

Ben Akers says he counted one hundred and twenty-five stalks that came from one grain of wheat; you will have to show me, Mr. Akers.

I wonder how many country churches there are in Morrow county. We have ordered us one for Xmas, hope it will not get the handle broken off.

Mr. McVay, one of our leading farmers, has lately built an addition to his house, and caught therein rather a strange specie of an Eastern genius.

We have a heavy mail on Saturdays, and a heavy school master with heavy feet, but his clothes are too light for the breeze that's been going against them for the past few days.

Ganette Akers thinks that every school house should be furnished with a public library suited to the different grades, and Jay Ball's idea is to furnish the teacher with a suit of yarn clothes.

Little Ethel Holmes, Elmer Ball and Frank Courter are carrying the banner in their classes. There are several other bright little fellows in school of which our community should be proud.

All teachers should first gain the confidence of their pupils, then how important it should be that he be a model teacher in every respect, principle, morals, cleanliness, and as religious as the community will allow him to be.

Having further investigated the anxiety and aspiration of the farmers in this part of the country relative to a home market, I find that there is a plan on foot for this relief, which will be put in action by the time their next crop will be harvested. It will not be advisable for the dealer to question them on this subject, as they are supposed to withhold all such information for some time yet.

Really, do you suppose that the teachers of our country schools feel the great responsibility that is brought upon them when they agree to lead the innocent bright-eyed youth of our land in that narrow path that leads to eternity. Certainly no parent could stand by and see his child ushered into destruction, yet we are fearful that they are not as careful about the welfare of their children as they should be.

The word religion has been so abused that we have decided to substitute the two words "Do right." MURCHIO.

Carrie Breaks Out.

Topeka, Kan., Dec. 5.—Mrs. Carrie Nation, the saloon smasher, returned to the city yesterday, and this morning made a tour of the saloons of the city, preparatory to beginning another smashing tour, as she expressed it.

She was forcibly ejected from several drug stores, and one of the most prominent hotels in the city. Some saloons let her walk in, and as she was closely watched she attempted no smashing. Toward the last, a hooting mob followed her, and other druggists and joints slammed the doors in her face.

The crowd following grew so large that the police arrested Mrs. Nation on a charge of disorderly conduct. She was given a small fine in the Police Court this morning.

Mrs. Nation announces that she will repeat her old-time exploits in this city before long.

A Valuable Publication.

There is a publication that is always very much looked for, on account of the instructive reading matter that it contains. We refer to Hostetter's Almanac for 1903, published by the Hostetter Company, Pittsburg, Pa., proprietors of their famous Stomach Bitters. This medical treatise is published in the English, German, French, Norwegian, Swedish, Bohemian and Spanish languages, and contains interesting reading in regard to your health, many testimonials as to the efficacy of the Bitters, many amusing anecdotes and other items that will interest you throughout the year. Don't fail to obtain a copy from your druggist, also give the Bitters a trial if you are a sufferer from dyspepsia, indigestion, constipation or nervousness. It will cure you.

E. Simonis, of Baker county, has been sentenced to three years in the penitentiary for the attempted poisoning of Lena Howell and Wallace, of Eagle valley.

A. J. Snell wanted to attend a party, but was afraid to do so on account of pains in his stomach, which he feared would grow worse. He says, "I was telling my troubles to a lady friend, who said: 'Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy will put you in condition for the party.' I bought a bottle and take pleasure in stating that two doses cured me and enabled me to have a good time at the party. Mr. Snell is a resident of Summer Hill, N. Y. This remedy is for sale by Slocum Drug Co.

Private Ernest Thompson, of Fort Stevens, has been found guilty of setting fire to the fort and will be given the long time imprisonment of 20 years.

COUGHS AND COLDS IN CHILDREN

Recommendation of a Well Known Chicago Physician.

I use and prescribe Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for almost all obstinate, constricted coughs, with direct results. I prescribe it to children of all ages. Am glad to recommend it to all in need and seeking relief from colds and coughs and bronchial affections. It is non-narcotic and safe in the hands of the most unprofessional. A universal panacea for all mankind.—Mrs. Mary R. Melendy, M. D., Ph. D., Chicago, Ill. This remedy is for sale by Slocum Drug Co.

Jessie Gilbraith, boss weaver of the Albany woolen mills, was fatally injured Thursday by being caught in a loom.

Sam Carson, of Santa Monica, Cal., was bitten by a spider Thursday and died from the effects shortly after.

A Cold Wave.

The forecast of sudden changes in the weather serves notice that a hoarse voice and a heavy cough may invade the sanctity of health in our own home. Cautious people have a bottle of One Minute Cough Cure always at hand. E. H. Wise, Madison, Ga., writes: "I am indebted to One Minute Cough Cure for my present good health, and probably my life." It cures Coughs, Colds, La Grippe, Bronchitis, Pneumonia and all Throat and Lung troubles. One Minute Cough Cure cuts the phlegm, draws out the inflammation, heals and soothes the mucous membranes and strengthens the lungs. Slocum Drug Co., Heppner, and Ione Drug Co., Ione.

WOMAN'S BIG GOAT RANCH.

Her Flocks of Angoras Richly Reward an Energetic and Persevering Widow for Their Care.

Mrs. Armour, in Sierra county, N. M., owns a herd of more than 25,000 Angora goats, from which she is making $25,000 profit a year. Her "Columbia Pascha" is the most valuable Angora in America, and worth $1,500, says the Chicago Tribune.

In 1899 she was left a widow, penniless and with nine small children dependent on her for support. The ranchmen and miners took compassion on the destitute family and contributed a small sum for their immediate relief.

Then she pluckily cast about for some means of earning a living, so that she might not be a burden on the generosity of her friends. By chance there drifted into camp a ranchman with a herd of 80 Angora goats for sale. Nobody cared to buy them, for it was thought there was more money in cattle raising. With genuine intuition Mrs. Armour looked at their silken coats and knew that they would be valuable.

But she hadn't any money and didn't want to borrow. So she made a proposition to take a small flock of the goats, tend them and care for them and breed them, and at the end of the year divide the profits with the owner. The proposition was accepted. She took her goats and her children, and went up on the mountain side, 6,000 feet above the sea level, where the scrub oaks grow in profusion. Thus she secured the necessary fodder, and as for shelter the goats needed none. She located a claim, built herself a ranch, and settled down to work. At the end of a year her success was such that she had money enough to buy a flock of her own and start out independently.

Since that time each year has added to her prosperity. She now employs 20 goatherds to care for her flocks. The greatest precaution is required to protect the goats from the inroads of the mountain lions, or cougars, which are so numerous that the ranchmen have to organize hunts to get rid of them.

Through her industry and perseverance and pluck, Mrs. Armour has made herself wealthy. She has sent her eldest son to college, where he is now studying law, and her four other children attend school in Kingston.

Historic Trees.

Litchfield, Conn., has more historic trees than any other town in New England. Among others are two elms planted by John C. Calhoun; a sycamore said to be one of the 13 planted by Oliver Wolcott, signer of the Declaration of Independence, and named after the 13 original colonies; an elm which served as a whipping post in colonial days, and a willow tree which grew from a walking stick stuck in the ground by Col. Talmadge, an American officer who captured Maj Andre the British spy.

Language.

"It's wonderful," said the meditative man, "how one small word, insignificant in itself, may induce an endless train of thought, speaking volumes, in fact."

"Yes," replied the caustic man. "Take the word 'but,' for instance, when a woman says: 'Of course, it's none of my business, but.'"—Philadelphia Press.
