FULTON ELECTED SENATOR

Result Accomplished on Forty-second Ballot.

RECEIVED FORTY-SIX VOTES

Hour of Midnight Had Passed When the Announcement Was Made.

Salem, Ore., Feb. 20.—Charles W. Fulton was elected United States Senator at 12:12 o'clock. Victory came after scenes of intense excitement and amid the wildest clamor from his friends. It was on the 18th ballot of the evening and the 42d of the session. At 11 o'clock the opposition made a futile attempt to unite upon the name of H. W. Scott, of Portland. Mr. Scott received the unanimous support of the Multnomah delegation for two ballots. On the third ballot, or the 18th of the evening, when the minute-hand of the clock was pointed to within three minutes of midnight, Mr. Nottingham, of Multnomah, arose as his name was called, and made the first break from the Portland members for Mr. Fulton. He was followed by Mr. Banks, and then, after several other changes had been made, by Representatives Fisher and Jones. Mr. Jones' vote, however, was not needed—he was the 46th man. To Senator Daly, of Benton County, the fortune of completing the triumph of the candidate of Astoria fell. He was the 45th, and it took 45 to elect.

The order in which the changes from the opposition had come to Mr. Fulton was brought about as follows:

Nottingham, Banks, Croisan, Hume, Hayden, Johnston, Mulkey, Steiwer, Fisher, Daly and W. N. Jones of Multnomah. Kay of Marion had, however, taken up his abode in the Fulton camp at 11 o'clock, when the name of Mr. Scott was first proposed.

How Fulton Won Out.

Salem, Or., Feb. 20.—The balloting for United States Senator began at 8 o'clock and was carried forward continuously until the time of the great triumph of Mr. Fulton. Despite the efforts of a hard-worked committee to limit the number of persons in attendance, there was a vast crowd of persons in the Hall of Representatives. The noise and confusion were great. It was necessary many times to interrupt the roll call in order to restore order, but it was generally in vain. The crowd was there to see a Senator made, and to make a demonstration for the favorite candidates. Mr. Fulton appeared to be the popular choice of the majority, though there was a numerous and strong lunged contingent of men who frequently made themselves heard for Governor Geer. The progress of voting was somewhat slower than on previous similar occasions. President Brownell, at the end of almost every ballot, gave a brief respite to the labors of the wearied legislators by allowing the convention to rest at ease, or such ease as it could command.

The struggle journeyed on, and there was no change from any candidate, no speeches and no distinct evidence of what the outcome would be until 10:55 o'clock. Then Dr. Andrew C. Smith, Senator from Multnomah, arose and addressed the chair for the first formal address of the evening. The crowd became once silent, and awaited with intense interest the beginning of Dr. Smith's remarks. He nominated H.

W. Scott, in an address of glowing eloquence, eulogizing him in the highest terms and inviting the Legislature now to unite upon a candidate who was eminently fit to represent the state at Washington.

It was 11:30 o'clock when President Brownell ordered the next roll call. Bailey led off with a vote for Mr. Scott, and was followed by Banks, for the same candidate. The Fulton men stood pat, refusing to be stampeded. When the roll call had been completed Kay of Marion arose, and in a few remarks changed to Mr. Fulton. The result was: Fulton 35, Scott 28, Geer 8, Wood 17, Binger Hermann 1.

Consumption

Salt pork is a famous old-fashioned remedy for consumption. "Eat plenty of pork," was the advice to the consumptive 50 and 100 years ago.

Salt pork is good if a man can stomach it. The idea behind it is that fat is the food the consumptive needs most.

Scott's Emulsion is the modern method of feeding fat to the consumptive. Pork is too rough for sensitive stomachs. Scott's Emulsion is the most refined of fats, especially prepared for easy digestion.

Feeding him fat in this way, which is often the only way, is half the battle, but Scott's Emulsion does more than that. There is something about the combination of cod liver oil and hypophosphites in Scott's Emulsion that puts new life into the weak parts and has a special action on the diseased lungs.

A sample will be sent free upon request.

Be sure that this picture in the wrapper of every bottle of Emulsion you buy.

BURIED IN PENSION OFFICE.

Veterans' Claims Rejected on Technical Grounds.

Washington, Feb. 19.—Since his attention has been called to the fact that a number of claims of Oregon Indian War veterans are being rejected either because "the records of the War Department fail to show service of the claimant," or "there is no record of his having received pay from the United States," Representative Moody has been conducting a systematic investigation to determine why the records are deficient. After several weeks' search he finds that the rolls of many of the old companies are not properly filed in the record of the War Department, but had years ago been put away in bundles in the archives of the Pension Office, without classification, without any record whatsoever; in fact, their presence there was not known to a single official of the Pension Office. He further finds, since through his efforts the records have been received, that pensions are still disallowed because the "records of the War Department" do not show service, a mere technicality upon which adverse action is being taken in many cases.

To cure this evil, and in order to have the records properly filed and recorded, he has introduced and will secure the passage of a resolution authorizing the transfer of all Indian War rolls from the Pension Office to the record division of the War Department, where all other military records are now kept. When this is done, many of the Oregon and other Indian War claims that have heretofore been rejected or still await action, will be passed to issue.
