

Help For Working Women

The suffering and pain endured by many working women is almost beyond belief.

How distressing to see a woman struggling to earn a livelihood, or perform her household duties when her back and head are aching! She is so tired she can hardly drag about, and every movement causes pain, the origin of which is quickly traced to some derangement of the female organism.

When the monthly periods are painful or irregular, when backaches and headaches drive out all ambition, when "I-can-hardly-drag-about" sensation attacks you, when you are "so nervous-it-seems-as-though-you-would-fly," it is certain that some female derangement is fastening itself upon you. Do not let the disease make headway; write your symptoms to Mrs. Pinkham for her free advice, and begin at once the use of

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

Profit by the Experience of the Women Whose Letters Follow:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I wish to write and thank you for all you have done for me. I have been suffering with womb and ovarian trouble for about four years and tried everything, but found no relief. I went to the best specialists in St. Paul, Minneapolis and Chicago. I thought at times I would go crazy. I suffered so. The doctors told me the only thing would be to have an operation and my ovaries taken out. I at last decided to quit the doctors and give Mrs. Pinkham's remedies a trial. I used both Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash, and now find myself completely cured. I had the doctor to make an examination and he said I was cured. I cannot say enough for what your remedies have done for me, and have advised all my friends to try it."—Mrs. CLARA MALL, with N. P. & Nat. Express Co., Ashland, Wis.

Mrs. Frances Stafford, 243 East 114th Street, New York, N.Y., says:

"It affords me great pleasure to tell you of the benefit I have derived from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I am now enjoying better health than I ever did. It seemed to me that I had no strength at all. I could hardly drag about. I was in pain 'lover."

"I began to feel better after taking the first dose, and am now like a new woman. I know that if other suffering women would only try it, it would help them. I thank you with all my heart for what your medicine has done for me."

Mrs. Lou Davis, 74 Institute Place, Flat 5, Chicago, Ill., says:

"August 24, 1901. For the good of others I wish to testify to the merits of your wonderful medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

"I was certainly in a very bad condition. I suffered terribly with a continual backache and headache. I had pleurisy in my right side, bearing-down pains, and those dizzy, sinking or fainting spells, was nervous, peevish and despondent."

"I was advised to try your medicine, and was greatly surprised at the benefit I derived from its use. I am now entirely cured of these ailments, and consequently feel and look like an entirely new person."

"I shall always be pleased to influence suffering women to try your Vegetable Compound. It has done wonders for me, and I am very thankful."

Danger of Colds and Grip.

The greatest danger from colds and grip is their resulting in pneumonia. If reasonable care is used, however, and Chamberlain's Cough Remedy taken, all danger will be avoided. Among the tens of thousands who have used this remedy for these diseases we have yet to learn of a single case having resulted in pneumonia, which shows conclusively that it is a certain preventive of that dangerous disease. It will cure a cold or any attack of the grip in less time than any other treatment. It is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by Slocum Drug Co.

STEAMER GRAVEYARD

New Jersey Town Where Many Old Eastern Vessels Lie.

Well-Known River Craft That Have Become Worn Out Find a Resting Place on the Karitan's Banks.

It appears to have been left for the residents of the little town of Perth Amboy to prove that the Hindoo belief in the transmigration of souls is a reality, at least, as far as boats are concerned, says the St. Louis Republic.

Steam craft which in years gone by made great records in the local waters and later were dragged out of the busy swirl tired of the struggle, are to-day so much a part of the Karitan river town that their names are household words there.

The graveyard of old vessels has had a day of resurrection.

The valiant spirit of each has left cold boiler and paralyzed engine to take up its abode in dwellings, decorations and the hundred and one things into which its dismembered but resurrected body has been transformed.

During the last few years many well-known boats have been brought together on the shelving banks of the Karitan river, where the junkman decides their destiny.

The giantess of them all is the famous old Albany boat Drew.

Close beside her are the fire-ravaged hulls of the ferryboats Elizabeth and Plainfield.

The worn-out ferryboat Central and the ill-fated Northfield are rubbing their noses in a friendly way with the rise and fall of the tide against the Drew's port quarter.

The half-burned Thomas McManus keeps well under water on the river side of the fleet.

The side-wheel steamer Colonia, of Philadelphia, which was condemned as unseaworthy after the last international yacht races, and the famous old ferryboat Chancellor, the only craft to cross the bay during the blizzard of 188, have both settled high up in the sands.

These boats represent more than $4,000,000 in original cost, and are in all stages of dismantlement.

Probably one of the greatest boons that ever came to Perth Amboy was the steamer Drew.

She was towed to her present berth a little more than a year ago.

From the outside she appeared to be a great unwieldy hulk of little value, but within she has proved to be a veritable treasure ship.

Houses have been built from the well-seasoned planking of her superstructure.

The panel work and rich carvings of her 400 and more staterooms have been used for interior decorations, and the staterooms themselves for storehouses.

There is one stateroom which has been left just where it was when the old river boat made her last trip.

Money cannot buy it from the junkman.

The pleasant memories of his honeymoon still linger with it.

From one end of the craft to the other it is the only spot which will not feel the sharp edge of the wreckers' tools.

With the exception of that part of the Drew which has been used by the junkman himself in the construction of living quarters for his men and a combination office and storehouse, in the heart of the town, all the material has been sold at a good price.

An elderly widow is the proud owner of a comfortable home made entirely from the Drew.

Her dog and chickens are also snugly housed within a portion of the resurrected craft.

So extravagant were the builders of the boat in the selection of materials used for her construction that carpenters and decorators of the town have purchased almost the entire superstructure, although it is as yet not more than half dismantled.

In the building trade there is a demand for "Drew timber" and among decorators a call for "Drew trimmings."

The foregoing is the spirit of the Drew made manifest in Perth Amboy.

It is not confined there alone, however, for all over the country there is a demand for some part of her construction.

The giant parts of her engines have already gone to the steel works of Pennsylvania and Connecticut to be fashioned into car wheels, axles and building material.

What a Rude Editor!

An authoress of some note in her day once asked a famous editor to give his opinion on a book which she intended to publish. In her letter she said:

"If the work is not up to the mark, I beg you will tell me so, as I have other irons in the fire; and should you think this not likely to succeed, I can bring out something else."

Having read over several pages of the manuscript, the editor returned it, with the following brief remark:

"Madam, I would advise you to put this where your irons are."—Stray Stories.

SEVERE ATTACK OF GRIP.

Cured by One Bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

"When I had an attack of the grip last winter (the second one) I actually cured myself with one bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," says Frank W. Perry, Editor of the Enterprise, Shortsville, N. Y. "This is the honest truth. I at times kept from coughing myself to pieces by taking a teaspoonful of this remedy, and when the coughing spells would come at night I would take a dose and it seemed that in the briefest interval the cough would pass off and I would go to sleep perfectly free from cough and its accompanying pains. To say that the remedy acted as a most agreeable surprise is putting it very mildly. I had no idea that it would or could knock out the grip, simply because I had never tried it for such a purpose, but it did, and it seemed with the second attack of coughing the remedy caused it to not only be of less duration, but the pains were far less severe, and I had not used the contents of one bottle before Mr. Grip had bid me adieu." Views on Ambition and Dyspepsia.

"Dyspepsia," wrote Eugene Field, "often incapacitates a man for endeavor and sometimes extinguishes the fire of ambition." Though great despite his complaint Field suffered from indigestion all his life. A weak, tired stomach can't digest your food. It needs rest. You can only rest it by the use of a preparation like Kodol, which relieves it of work by digesting your food. Rest soon restores it to its normal tone.
