Hardman News.

Harry Warren and family left here last week for Sumpter, where Mr. Warren will look after his mining interests.

M. C. Fuqua and family spent Sunday in town.

C. M. Hastings was in from his ranch and reports stock looking fine.

Fred Tash and wife went out to the ranch Friday evening returning Sunday. Fred says their fall sown wheat looks well.

The farmers of this section are finding a good market for their hogs at the new butcher shop at Hardman. Adams and Cowdry are hustlers.

Bert Allen was in town from his Rood canyon ranch a few days ago. Bert is wintering about 150 head of cattle for Mrs. Parker and reports all stock doing fine.

J. W. Stevens came in last week. Wes says him and the cattle are both fat.

The good people of Hardman and vicinity donated liberally for repairing the M. E. church. Now we think the trustees ought to have the roof fixed as the shingles were hauled last summer.

Dave Jenkins is found always early and always late in his harness shop.

James and Robert Medlock are putting in a choice bank of logs for Geo. Hayden.

Frank Engleman and family of Ione, were the guests of Jack Lane last week.

Will Beymer came up from his sheep camp near Heppner Junction last week and reports all the sheep in that section looking fine.

Called to Honolulu.

Rev. W. E. Potwine, who for 22 years has been the rector of the Episcopal church at Pendleton, and who is well known in Heppner, has declared his intention of resigning his pastorate, and is going to the Sandwich Islands.

Twenty-two years ago in July Mr. Potwine came to Pendleton, and assumed the charge of the then small congregation that went to make up the Church of the Redeemer in Pendleton. It was his first charge, as he had just left the divinity school of "Trinity," and it is greatly owing to his untiring energy and zeal that the parish has grown from a missionary to a self supporting parish, and as the congregation outgrew the old frame building that had done service as a church for so long, Mr. Potwine conceived the idea of constructing a new church of larger dimensions, and more suited in every way to the growing congregation and, after several years of toil in the way of securing funds, his efforts were rewarded, and a stone church was erected at a cost of $8500.

Mr. Potwine has had a call to Honolulu from Bishop Resterick, of Honolulu, who was a classmate in college of his, and it is with lasting regret to the communicants of the church that he has at last signified his intention of accepting the call, and will leave here some time in the spring.

For Great American Navy.

Washington, January 14.—The National Association of Naval Militia met today to frame a basis for legislation to promote the naval militia of the country. Later the 50 delegates present called on President Roosevelt. The President greeted the delegates cordially, and delivered a brief address to them on their work. He said:

"I have a peculiar interest, and I think I may say knowledge of the naval militia, and of the work that it has done. When I was Assistant Secretary of the Navy the interests of the naval militia came peculiarly within my province. I am particularly glad to see you here, and I most earnestly hope that you will be able to harmonize any small differences of opinion among you and work for a common end. It is with the naval militia as it is with the National Guard generally. If they can decide definitely what they want and agree upon it, we can come pretty near putting their policy through, while if there is a disagreement it is an extremely difficult thing to obtain proper legislation or administration.

"It is not necessary for me to say to a body like this that the position of the United States as a great world power and her ability to maintain with dignity any self-respect, her position in the world at large, depend primarily upon the efficiency of her navy, and that you by the work you do in the naval militia, can contribute as no other body of civilians on land can possibly contribute to make that efficiency reach a high standard."

May Fire Theater.

Chicago, January 14.—As soon as the Coroner's jury releases its control of the Iroquois Theater, the playhouse will be again given over to the flames, if plans evolved by Mayor Harrison and Walter F. Fisher of the City Club, are carried. Experts who will fight over again the Iroquois conflagration will have trained firefighters at their elbows to see that the demonstration of the plan does not bring about any property loss outside the partially ruined playhouse. The purpose of again firing the theater is to test the sufficiency of city ordinances, present and prospective.

At a conference today between Mayor Harrison and Mr. Fisher this subject was discussed exhaustively, and it was decided that nothing that had been done in Chicago for many years would approach this plan in the amount of good for the public that would result.

With men who understand every detail of the test to watch every action of the flames and gases, and to regulate effects by the manipulation of the ventilators and doors, it was urged that the benefits to accrue from the fire test would be practically inestimable. With the Iroquois stage filled with excelsior and rubbish, and a fire raging thereon, the conditions being like those of the fatal afternoon of December 30, the experts expect to learn a great deal about the flames that swept so many lives away. J. R. Freeman, an expert, on fire, will be asked to take charge of the test.

Of 4,790 children under 16 years of age brought into the police court of New York city during 1903, only 430 were girls.

A committee of the National G. A. R. is drafting a new pension law, or rather a much amended revision of the present law.

Rumors that the Salvation Army colony in Colorado is badly embarrassed financially are stoutly denied by army officials.

Herbert Spencer's Curious Will.

London, Jan. 14.—Herbert Spencer's will is a curious document. It directs that his body shall be placed in a coffin with a loose lid and cremated and the ashes buried, all without any species of religious ceremony. All the rights and property in his books and investments are given to the trustees, Honorable Auberon Herbert, Dr. Henry Charlton Bastian and David Duncan, with instructions to employ the yearly revenue "in resuming and continuing during such period as may be needed for furthering my express wishes, but not exceeding the life time of all descendants of Queen Victoria, who shall be living at my decease, and of the survivors of them and for 21 years after the death of such survivor, the publication of the existing parts of my descriptive sociology and the compilation and publication of the fresh parts thereof upon the plan followed in the parts already published."

Afterward all copyrights, stereotype plates, etc. are to be auctioned and the proceeds divided among a number of scientific societies.

The will orders that Herbert Spencer's autobiography is to be published simultaneously in Great Britain and the United States and requests David Duncan to write a biography in one volume of modern size. Another interesting clause is:

"Give to Charles Holme, son of my late friend, George Holme of Derby, in remembrance of his father having saved my life when a boy, the watch presented to me by friends in Boston, U. S. A., and so inscribed, together with the attached chain; and I hope, the legatee may think it well to keep it in his family as an heirloom."

In a codicil, Mr. Spencer reiterated his objection to the metric system and expresses the desire that whenever a bill shall be introduced in parliament on the subject his pamphlet against the system shall be reprinted and distributed to the members of parliament.

The pawnbrokers of Lima, Peru have formed a trust with $1,000,000 capital.

The government forces and rebels are fighting in Uruguay. The war is a continuous program of guerilla fights.

There has been for many years a large amount of canned and pickled salmon sold in the markets of Europe each season, and the demand there for our toothsome fish, already extensive, is constantly growing. In fact, many of the packers look to those countries for the sale of the greater portion of their product. There, however, appears now to be a demand for the fresh fish and undoubtedly the trade in that line will reach large figures within a very few years. Frozen fish have been shipped from the Columbia River to the cities on the Atlantic coast for some time. Under present methods of refrigeration it is as practicable to ship fresh fish to Germany or England as it is to New York, and if the cost of transportation is not too great there is no reason why the fresh fish from the coast may not be made as popular in foreign countries as the canned and pickled products are.—Astoria Budget.

Boer Colony For Montana.

St. Paul, January 14.—Arrangements are almost completed for establishing a Boer colony in Montana. Land either along the Shields River or Milk River Valley will be selected, and it is expected that the immigration of the Boers will begin early this spring.

The preliminary arrangements regarding the establishment of Boers in America is in charge of General G. D. Joubert and Captain W. S. O'Donnell.

The idea of establishing a colony in Mexico was given up several weeks ago on account of the prevalence of yellow fever. James J. Hill is largely responsible for the selection of Montana for the colony.
