SHEEP HERDER SUICIDES

Karl Winterkorn Hangs Himself in County Jail.

BOTH FEET ON THE FLOOR

Cut up His Overalls and Made a Rope of Strings to do the Job With.

Karl Winterkorn, a demented sheep herder, committed suicide by hanging himself in the county jail yesterday.

Winterkorn, who has been employed by Andy Cook, was brought to this city Tuesday by Mr. Cook and turned over to the authorities. Judge Avere being out of town, his examination was put off for a day.

While working in the country, at times the unfortunate man seemed to be all right, but he had spells when his mind would wander and he would imagine all sorts of things. He was never violent and was always apparently harmless, his hallucination was that somebody was trying to do him great bodily harm. His great fear was that somebody was going to hang him.

During his last spell in the country, he ran away from where he was stopping and going to a neighbor's tied a rope around his neck and was found trying to pull a plow in a garden.

No trouble was experienced in bringing him to Heppner, and when placed in the county jail to await examination on Wednesday, talked in a rational manner.

When Deputy Sheriff Hill took his breakfast to him yesterday morning, he was again off, and talked in a loud tone of voice and in a combing manner. He said that somebody was trying to hang him all night.

Being apparently harmless, he was given his freedom in the corridor of the county jail. After breakfast he walked down and was left alone until noon when Deputy Hill went to take him his dinner when he was found hanging in one of the steel cells.

Taking off his coat and vest, he apparently tried to fasten a rope out of his handkerchiefs, as two were found tied together in the cell. It being satisfied with this he got off of the window and using them fastened a noose around his neck. The steel window was held fast by the door, and he had the rope fastened to the door, the window was closed and he had fastened the rope to the window.

County Judge Avere called with the coroner to see the body. J. W. Hill, Sheriff, and J. A. Ashbaugh, C. D. Peterson, J. W. Hill, and J. W. Hill, were present. The verdict of the jury was that the deceased died by his own hand, while sane.

When the coroner came with the funeral, the body was taken to the city.

In the event of the death of William Morton, who was killed by Judge Gillison last of the year in the state penitentiary for shooting the Doherty. Judge S. P. Bennett of The Dalles, attorney for the state, immediately asked the court for their days in which to file a bill of exceptions and the case will in all probability go to the supreme court.

Morton took his sentence very calmly and evidently expected it. He showed no signs of surprise and but for the tears which gathered in his eyes while the court was passing sentence no change was noticed from his former demeanor. While Morton won but little sympathy from the people yet his aged mother was to be pitied. Old, feeble and poor she sat through the trial, often looking at her son with tears in her eyes and firm devotion throughout it all.

Morton's attorney yesterday in asking the court for leniency said that Morton was not mentally bright and that this was the first time he had ever been in trouble of this kind. Being a hard working young man and sorely tried by the men for whom he was working was sufficient, said Mr. Bennett, to move the court to leniency in his case. Judge Bennett admitted that Morton fired the first shot but said he was for the moment insane over the wrongs he had suffered.

The court in passing sentence took all this into consideration and gave the prisoner a very light sentence.

The charge of highway robbery which had also been preferred against Morton was dismissed by District Attorney Halley. The charge could not have been prosecuted in this county had Mr. Halley so desired as the crime was committed in Morrow county. Pat Doherty's home ranch is in Umatilla county but the sheep camp where the holdup occurred is located just across the line in Morrow county.

Sheep Killed.

Prineville, Or., June 17.—Conflicting range territory in Crook county led to the first open slaughter of sheep east Monday, when masked men shot and killed 65 head belonging to Allie Jones, a sheep owner residing about 15 miles east of this city. The killing occurred on Mill Creek in the vicinity of the "Dead lines," the men threatening a greater slaughter if the herds were not removed instantly from the district.

The yield of apples in Nova Scotia this year will equal 400,000 barrels, and the fruit is uniformly the best flavored of any apples raised in North America.

The steam collier Cape Breton ran into and cut in two the passenger steamer Canada, in the St. Lawrence river. By a most fortuitous combination of circumstances but five lives were lost, but the Canada was a complete loss.
