The Death Penalty.

A little thing sometimes results in death. Thus a mere scratch, insignificant cuts or puny boils have paid the death penalty. It is wise to have Bucklen's Arnica Salve ever handy. It's the best salve on earth and will prevent fatality when burns, sores, ulcers and piles threaten. Only 25c at Slocum Drug Co.'s.

MAKING OF ORIENTAL RUGS.

American Taste Now Dominates the Output of Artistic Product That Is Centuries Old.

"From an artistic point of view it may seem absurd, but it is nevertheless true that American taste dominates the output of Turkish rugs," said a man who has made a study of these beautiful products of the orient, to a Philadelphia correspondent. "Any importer will attest this. Of course, inasmuch as the Armenians and Turks who make the rugs have no power looms on which to reproduce exact copies, it would seem ridiculous to suppose that more than one rug of the same pattern and design could be turned out. But the dealer has learned to know exactly what sort of rug appeals to the American buyer, and he says to his agent on the other side: 'Make me a lot of rugs that look as much like this as possible.' So the native weavers, on their hand looms, do their best to copy the colors of a special design that is put before them. This handicaps them, for these untutored artisans have their own ideals, just as a painter of pictures has, and it is galling to be thus restricted. It is also not very gratifying to realize that the rich American, who is often the purchaser, with no idea of art, should dictate the output of an artistic product that is centuries old. But the rich American is the greatest buyer of oriental rugs, and must be considered."

WED ON WHOLESALE PLAN.

All Marriages in Brittany Towns Are Celebrated on a Given Day in the Year.

Rebellion would convulse any state in America if the law or custom should order that all marriages should be solemnized together on one particular day in the year.

Such is the strange rule in that queer section of Brittany near Brest, where stand the little towns of Plogastel and Daoulas. Besides, the young women of this section know nothing of the joys and the heartpangs of courtship.

The inhabitants seem to be either of Spanish or Asiatic origin. In each village is a matchmaker, called the "bastaiane," who arranges marriages. He needs only the approval of the parents of the parties most interested.

The marriages being arranged, all the brides, however unwilling, and all the bridegrooms, however unhappy, meet at the church door, the women flocking on one side, the men on the other. The brides and bridegrooms join each other before the altar in turn.

After the wholesale wedding there is a common banquet, which 2,000 guests attended this year, coming from all the countryside.

VIXENISH WOMEN OF COREA.

Ever Ready to Slap a Handful of Stars Into Eyes of Husbands or Tourists.

The women of the commonalty are voluble and vixenish, and ever ready to slap a handful of stars into the eyes of a husband—or into those of a timid and shrinking tourist—should the occasion arise, says Outing. The women of the upper class are rigorously excluded from masculine eyes and a hearty vote of thanks is due the committee who fathered this unwritten law. The dainty little Japanese musmee, teetering along in sandals or on wooden geta, is a genuine relief to the eye after a view of the uncomely Korean female, and it is a pleasing reflection that Nippon is slowly but surely spreading her standard over the hermit realm.

Until Korean boys are married and acquire the pseudo dignity of the top-knot, their hair is worn girl fashion in twin plaits down their backs. So much do they resemble girls that it is sometimes difficult to determine the sex, and one is oftentimes uncommonly surprised to observe what he is positive are two girls sprawling and viciously fighting in a Korean street.

The Family Hat in Corea.

A Philadelphia man who has been in Corea, over which the Russians and Japs are at war, long enough to grow familiar with its customs, says one of the most unique and picturesque of them is the family hat, that descends from father to elder son. This hat, made from the hair of the family ancestors, is a priceless possession, and so carefully handled that it never wears out.—Philadelphia Record.

The Hereros.

The Hereros, now in rebellion against Germany, have a pretty fair opinion of themselves and of their chief. One of their songs begins: "What is the king of England, what is the king of Germany compared with thee, O Mahero, first among all princes? Have they so many cattle as thou? No! Who is so mighty as art thou?" The Hereros despise Europeans. The name for a European is "otvirumbo"—"white thing."

Ancients Had Pins.

Pins have been found among the Egyptian mummies and in the prehistoric caves of Switzerland.
