The Death Penalty.
A little thing sometimes results in death. Thus a mere scratch, insignificant cuts or puny boils have paid the death penalty. It is wise to have Bucklen's Arnica Salve ever handy. It's the best salve on earth and will prevent fatality when burns, sores, ulcers and piles threaten. Only 25c at Slocum Drug Co.'s.

BULL AGAINST RHINOCEROS.

A Terrible Battle in the Land of the Zulus.

When I was on the Zulu frontier, said a traveler recently, I stopped for a week with a native, a splendid fellow, who had a fine farm. Among other animals he had a young bull, called Hulo, which he and his children fondly believed could vanquish any beast on earth. Hulo was a great pet and not in the least vicious, so I was surprised on the second evening of my stay to see Hulo sniffling the air and pawing the ground in evident rage. I was about to ask what it meant when out of the forest came an ugly rhinoceros. My host and I hurried for our guns and Hulo dashed at the beast with dauntless courage. A rush, a crash, and the bull was hurled 20 feet. Fortunately the horn of his enemy had not caught him and the first rush had taught him a lesson. His horns were like sharp swords, but the hide of a rhinoceros is remarkably thick, and the young bull soon showed signs of fatigue. So he resorted to strategy, and dodged behind his clumsy foe, giving him vicious stabs in the thighs. This was rapidly weakening the rhinoceros, and just at this time we found some steel bullets (lead bullets having no effect on this animal) and quickly completed the work Hulo began. Then the bull stood on the carcass and bellowed his joy.

Marvelous Exploit of a Picture Dealer in Munich—Used Dictionary, But No Grammar.

The following notice, says the London Outlook, appears in the shop window of a picture dealer in Munich: "The exhibition of the paintings, which no every exception, whose alone property, and the possession of about 40,000 No. stitch of Kooper, cut of wood, art of shave leaves, colour printings, engravures, and ca. 6000 Portraits, also 10,000 sketches in hand. Aquarelles of german, english, dutch, belgian, italian and french masters of the latest four centuries. Also an collection of miniaures and many old books. Whiches complet collection are saleable. Mrs Patrons you want information about, send your please a letter to the possession J. Gernert, Bavariaring 30-1 and Karlsplatz 20-1 Munich. Catalogue of the collection is to preparation, and send the catalogues every Patron which to give his strict address."

This, says the correspondent who kindly sends us the foregoing, rather emphasizes an experience of my own in Munich, where a shopkeeper, trying in English to excuse himself for not having in stock an appliance I needed, said: "I have not; I am very disagreeable."

NEW MILLINERY TRIMMINGS

Feathers and Ornaments Will Be Much in Vogue on Fashionable Headgear.

Feathers and flowers are worn all the year around. But it must be acknowledged that feathers have a wonderful vogue. There are beautiful feathers of the shaded variety and these, upon a hat of straw, afford a very pretty sight. One of these feather trimmed hats is of brown of a very lovely shade of straw. At one side the brim takes an upward curve, and just here the feather is fastened. It is a deep brown. But it shades gradually lighter, and upon the tip it is a bright yellow. It is secured to the hat with a great dull gold ornament.

Gold ornaments will be worn a great deal upon the hats of spring, as will silver and gun metal. Indeed, gold and silver seem to be taking the place of the rhinestone pin, which held its favor so long. The rhinestone pin is, of course, used. But there are many times when the gold slide or the gold buckle or the great round gold ornament is the best thing that could be used.

Roses which have always been worn will continue to be worn, and a little garden of rosebuds is seen upon many of the handsomest French hats. Roses never come in amiss, and one can get them in all colors, even to blue and black. If one wants to be perfectly safe stick to roses. They come this year in the tiniest sizes, and are particularly chic combined with black. There are floral hats of tiny roses and black panne velvet, and there are small toques of irregular shape, that pin well back upon the coiffure. These are as becoming as anything that can be imagined.

We all know what "Egyptian darkness" is, and that in most tropical countries sudden darkness after sundown is one of the peculiarities. In Egypt at certain seasons of the year there is a marked exception to this sudden "drawing of the curtains of the skies." The sun goes down and darkness comes on very suddenly and continues for a space of 20 minutes or half an hour. Then, all of a sudden, the hills and sands take on a ghastly paleness and in another moment everything begins to brighten, and it appears that the sun is about to rise out of the west. These tints of golden, purple, orange and lilac attain their maximum degree of brightness in about ten minutes after they begin, and in 20 minutes everything has faded into darkness and you are only conscious of the fact that you have just witnessed the phenomenon known as the "Egyptian afterglow."

A recognized authority—The Weekly Oregonian.

Morrow County, Oregon.

Morrow County is a new country, and like all other new countries, is awaiting development.

Located in the Columbia river valley, and skirted on the South with a spur of the Blue mountains, within the boundaries of Morrow county is a territory 75 miles in length by 35 miles in width, and containing 1,313,280 acres of land. Formerly stockraising was the principal industry, but latterly the fertility of the land is bringing agriculture to the front. Immense wheat crops are grown with little cultivation, the soil being mixed with a volcanic ash which is very rich in wheat-producing qualities. The 1904 crop will aggregate 1,400,000 bushels, much of it from virgin soil.

Morrow county has thousands of head of sheep, horses and cattle. The wool production for 1904 was 2,500,000 pounds. Alfalfa and fruit growing are profitable industries, rapidly growing in importance. The county has also a great coal field, soon to be developed.
