A Great Sensation.

There was a big sensation in Leavenworth, Ind., when W. H. Brown of that place, who was expected to die, had his life saved by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. He writes: "I endured insufferable agonies from Asthma, but your New Discovery gave me immediate relief and soon thereafter effected a complete cure." Similar cures of Consumption, Pneumonia, Bronchitis and Grip are numerous. It's the peerless remedy for all throat and lung troubles. Price 50c, and $1.00. Guaranteed by Slocum Drug Co., Druggists. Trial bottles free.

Makes a Clean Sweep.

There's nothing like doing a thing thoroughly. Of all the Salves you ever heard of, Bucklen's Arnica Salve is the best. It sweeps away and cures Burns, Sores, Bumps, Cuts, Blisters, Ulcers, Skin Eruptions and Piles. It's only 25c, and guarantees to give satisfaction by Slocum & Co., Druggists.

A Thoughtful Man.

M. M. Austin, of Winchester, Ind., knew what to do in the hour of need. His wife had such an unusual case of stomach and liver trouble physicians could not help her. He thought of and tried Dr. King's New Life Pills and she got relief at once and was finally cured. Only 25c at Slocum Co.'s Drug Store.

AN EARLY BATTLEFIELD.

Monument Lately Erected on Field of Conflict of Century and a Half Ago.

At a grand public meeting of many thousand excursionists, including representatives of the patriotic societies of New York and New England, the Society of Colonial Wars unveiled, September 8, a fine monument upon the field of the battle of Lake George, September 8, 1875. The governors of New York, Vermont, Massachusetts and Connecticut were present at the unveiling, and there were detachments from the regular army and the troops of the several states. Senator Chauncey Depew delivered the oration. The bronze figures of the monument were designed by Albert W. Einert, the sculptor, and represent the Indian chieftain, King Hendrick, demonstrating to Gen. Johnson the futility of dividing his forces. The figures, which stand on a granite pedestal, are nine feet high. The monument stands in the center of Battle park, overlooking the lake. On the east face is the following inscription:

"1903-The Society of the Colonial Wars erected this monument to commemorate the victory of the Colonial forces under Gen. Johnson and the Mohawk allies under Chief Hendrick over the French regulars, commanded by Baron Dieskau, with the Canadian and Indian allies." On the south face it reads: "Defeat would have opened the road to Albany to the French." On the north "Confidence inspired by the victory, was of incalculable value to the American army in the War of the Revolution," and on the west face are the words "Battle of Lake George, September 8, 1755."

The trade in carbonado, or Brazilian black diamonds, which, so late as five years ago, was worth nearly $4,000,000 a year, is at present practically dead.

These stones, first discovered in 1843, are a kind of black, opaque and imperfectly crystallized diamond, found only in Brazil. They are less dense than the white diamond, but actually harder, and were found of immense value for mounting in the steel crowns of rock-boring drills.

It was the electric furnace, worked by the tremendous water power of Niagara, which put an end to the carbonado trade, says Stray Stories. A mixture of sand, coke, sawdust and salt melted together in this amazing heat resulted in the formation of masses of beautiful crystals, ranging from blood-red to pale blue.

These have been named carborundum. They are almost as hard as the diamond, and indestructible in acids to which the diamond yields. They cost less than a quarter of carbonado, and so have displaced it.
