

Town Killers.

If you want to help kill a town do the following:

1. Go out of town to do your shopping.
2. Oppose all improvements.
3. Prefer a quiet town to one of good business.
4. Lack feeling of public spirit and deride those who have it.
5. Oppose every improvement that did not originate with you.
6. Oppose everything that does not benefit you directly.
7. Seek to injure the credit and reputation of every business house and individual.
8. Tell strangers the town is dull and you don't know if it will ever amount to a tinker's darn (and be sure and tell them that it wouldn't be so if the citizens and newspapers would act on your suggestions.)
9. Harp continually on hard times and show a feeling of uncertainty.

But above all don't own a foot of real estate or have one dollar invested in any class of business, and then stand on the corner and criticize severely as you can, even if you have to use cuss words to do so, the manner and methods adopted by good citizens, who have coin of the realm invested, to advance every possible interest of the town.—The Dalles Chronicle.

W. W. Cotton, of Portland, has been appointed by President Roosevelt to succeed the late Judge Bellinger as United States district judge for Oregon. Inasmuch as Mr. Cotton has stated that he would be unable to enter upon his new duties until September 1, the appointment is to take effect at that time. Senator Fulton strongly urged the appointment of Mr. Cotton, and the choice was also approved by the attorney-general.

A Pretty Wedding.

A quiet but pretty wedding took place at the country home of Rev. F. C. Adkins, on Heppner Flat, when J. William Beymer and Miss Florinda L. Farnsworth were joined in the holy bonds of wedlock.

The bride was attired in white and carried a large bouquet of orange blossoms, while the groom wore the conventional black. Miss Vira Hart presided at the piano rendering the wedding march, while Louis Bisbee acted as best man and Mrs. Lucy Young as the bride's maid. The ceremony was very quiet, being in the presence of but few near relatives and invited guests.

Miss Farnsworth is the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Farnsworth and a leader in Heppner society, well liked by all and moves in a large circle of friends. Mr. Beymer is one of Morrow county's leading young citizens, being a large real estate and sheep owner.

The couple will be at home, after a short wedding tour, at the mountain farm of Mr. Beymer, formerly the Farnsworth ranch.

They received many valuable and useful presents, but lack of space forbids publishing.

The Gazette joins with a large host of friends wishing Mr. and Mrs. Beymer their cup full of this world's good and joy.

Geo. W. Junkin, of Hardman, was a Heppner visitor Tuesday.

Mrs. John Rasmus, of Heppner, is visiting Mrs. T. M. Jones on Eighteenth street.—Salem Statesman.

Peter Brenner, of Eight-Mile, was in the city yesterday. Mr. Brenner says that the farmers are much interested in the proposed railroad through Eight-Mile. They are getting organized and are now corresponding with capitalists in relation to the proposition.

Walter Brown, of Izee, was in Monument Sunday buying steers, says the Enterprise. The prices being paid are $14 for yearlings, $20 for two-year-olds and $24 per head for 3-year-olds. Mr. Brown bought 150 head of steers in Fox valley.

Stockmen are of the opinion that the market is looking up a little and that prices will be much better this fall than at present. The prices paid in this section have ranged from $15 to $16 for yearlings, $21 and $22 for two-year-olds, $30 for threes and $21 and $22 for cows and calves.—Maheuer Gazette.

R. J. Oliver, one of the oldest residents of Echo, died at that place Friday. Deceased has been a citizen of Echo for over 20 years, and was well known.

Attorney-General Crawford has decided that the hunters' license law which was passed at the last session of the legislature does not apply to persons hunting rabbits, coyotes or bears. The law is intended to require a gun license for hunting game protected by the laws of the state only.

It is estimated that the Condon-Arlington branch of the O. R. & N. will be completed and ready for traffic by July 1. All the track is now laid and the work of leveling it and putting it in shape for regular trains is now in progress. About 1,000,000 bushels of wheat will be shipped out over the branch this fall. The wool crop has been sent out from Arlington, but a few shipments, of sheep will be made over the new branch it is thought. Freightling from Arlington to the interior will soon be a matter of history, most of the regular freighters already having quit the business. However, land in the vicinity of Arlington is increasing in value, since the road was started and the town will not disappear altogether.
