Louis Bisbee, accompanied by his mother, was a passenger for Portland, Thursday.

John Kinsman shipped a carload of beef cattle to the Union Meat Co., Monday.

Government Land Inspector J. H. Alexander, of LaGrande, drove in from Arlington, Sunday.

Lewis Kinney and wife went to Portland Friday, where they will spend several days taking in the fair.

Mrs. Francis Luper left Monday morning for Portland, where she will spend several weeks visiting friends.

Up to the present time Idaho has shipped 9,000,000 pounds of wool, most of it coming from the southern portion of the state.

Mose Ashbaugh, the real estate man, sold 530 acres of the A. M. Markham place to Ralph Beckett this week. The price paid was $5,300.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Fant, formerly of this city who recently went to Butte, Montana, are visiting in the city. Mr. Fant's father is with them.

Clem Beiker was officially whipped in the Multnomah county jail for beating his wife. This is the second punishment of the kind in the state under the new law.

D. B. Stalter left yesterday morning for the Mayflower mines where he will soon commence on the installation of a new stamp mill and sawmill which is now on the way to be unloaded at Tipton.

A. J. Brown, of Black Horse, has a field of very fine oats. Some of the grain in the straw will be on exhibition at the Morrow county booth at the Lewis and Clark fair. A sample bundle brought in this week measured over six feet in height.

Robert Noble, of Reynolds, the "sheep king," of Idaho, has disposed of his flock of about 140,000 head to Caley & Saunders, of Salt Lake City. Noble came to Idaho 30 years ago a poor boy and herded sheep, afterwards securing a band of sheep on shares. Besides the flock disposed of, he owns a 3,000-acre ranch and large real estate holdings in Boise.

The hot season is here, the thermometer standing at the hundred mark for several days. While the weather has been too warm for comfort it has been favorable for harvest operations. The warm weather has not been damaging to grain as crops are so far advanced as to be out of all danger and have been helped to ripen.

Judge T. W. Ayers returned from Portland, Thursday.

Phil Metschan Jr., was a passenger for Portland, Friday.

John Shaw, a stockman from Echo, was a Heppner visitor, Friday.

Percy Hughes and Gussie Ayers came over from the John Day with a band of cattle this week.

Percy Garrigues, of Heppner, was a business visitor in our city Thursday.—Monument Enterprise.

Mrs. J. A. McKee who has been visiting relatives and friends at Dayton and Spokane, Wash., has returned.

Mr. Silas H. Soule, the well known piano tuner of Portland, is in Heppner this week at the Palace hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Spencer came in from the Butter creek ranch Saturday and spent Sunday in this city.

Master Stephen Irwin, who came up with his father, W. R. Irwin, to spend a few days visiting, returned to Portland, Friday.

Attorney S. E. VanVactor was a passenger for Portland, Friday. He will go to Bay Center, Wash., for an outing on the coast before returning.

A number of Heppner people are now camping at Ditch creek. Ditch creek is a popular resort and is a very pleasant place at this time of year.

Miss Pearl Vanderpool who has been visiting her sister Miss Addie Vanderpool of the Gazette force, left Friday morning for her home at Prineville.

W. B. Potter bought this week from E. O. Martin, 1200 lambs at $2.00 per head. They are to be delivered on or about the first of October.—Spray Courier.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Ball have moved to The Dalles. Mr. Ball has been transferred to the Main line of the O. R. & N. where he will work as brakeman.

J. C. Hart, of Hilgard, Oregon, is the guest of his daughter, Mrs. M. B. Metzler. Mr. Hart is well known in Heppner having at one time been the agent of the O. R. & N. Co. here.

Herb Bartholomew came up from the big cattle ranch in lower Morrow county last Saturday. Mr. Bartholomew states that he has finished cutting the second crop of alfalfa and that the third crop is coming on and looking well. The company has 128 acres in alfalfa and the yield this year will be in the neighborhood of six tons to the acre.

J. H. Phirman, representing the Union Meat Co., of Portland, was in the city this week buying beef cattle. Mr. Phirman purchased 160 head of beef cattle, consisting of steers and cows, from Percy Hughes, of the John Dav. The price paid was two cents for cows and three cents per pound for steers. The cattle were in fine condition. The shipment was made Tuesday.

Heppner will soon have an ice plant. J. W. Cowins & Son have purchased the necessary machinery and the plant will be installed this fall. Everything is of modern design and the plant will have a capacity of three tons per day. The building will be erected on J. W. Cowins' place. There will be a cold storage room in connection with the plant. This is something that has been needed in Heppner for a long time. There is a good market in this county for a small plant and the convenience will be a great accommodation. Natural ice at best is not satisfactory and cannot be depended upon, owing to our mild climate.
