—A promising young husband recently presented his better half with a handsome piano lamp on her birthday. He was flattered when she told him she intended to give it his name, until he asked her reason for so peculiar a proceeding. She said: "You know it has brass about it, is handsome to look at, requires a good deal of attention, is remarkably brilliant, is some times unsteady on its legs, liable to explode when half full, flames up occasionally, is always out at bedtime and is bound to smoke."

Three of our last year's graduates obtained positions in the Government Civil Service, not by pull, but by merit, through an examination. Their own native capability was backed up by the training they received in this College, and they passed with honors. There's no limit to where they may advance in their country's service. George B. Cortelyou started as a government stenographer, and we predict that some day he'll be President.

Last year 207 pupils were placed in lucrative positions. If there is one graduate of the Behnke-Walker Business College hunting for a situation now, we don't know it, and we endeavor to keep in touch with every graduate after he or her leaves the College.

Next month we move into new quarters, Elks' Building; finest quarters; built to our order; new fittings; business desks; fine light; cheery; you'll be proud to study there. Write for catalog that contains a special offer of how you may obtain a handsome souvenir by performing a slight service for us.

Write direct to Dept. 8.
