THURSDAY..... Feb. 1, 1906

There is to have a brass band. The Proclaimer can furnish enough wind to blow the whole thing.

This is remarkable weather for midwinter. Nature seems to have moved a little ahead of the calendar. Flowers are blooming on the hills, buds are bursting forth and spring is here in reality if not in season.

That new house of the Heppner Commercial Club will be a swell affair. The construction of the building is well under way and will soon be finished.

Senator DePew is today certainly a sorry spectacle. When he was trusted and respected his life was full of happiness, but the fact that he has been shown up as a big grafter in the Equitable insurance investigation, is more than he can stand.

WOMEN AND POLITICS.

The Oregon State Association opposed to the extension of the suffrage to women, is sending out a protest against the proposed woman suffrage movement.

"Because the need of America is not an increased quantity, but an improved quality, of the vote and there is no adequate reason to believe that woman's suffrage by doubling the vote will improve the quality."

The above reasons offer food for thought for many of the estimable ladies who are clamoring for the privilege to take a hand in politics.

Because there are so many measures presented, and experience has shown that people will not take the time and trouble to study them carefully, there is a fear that conflicting laws will be adopted.

The Willamette Development League measure to tax gross earnings of telephone, telegraph and express companies.

Grange bill, on the same subject with different provisions. Grange bill to license tax on sleeping, dining, buffet, palace, oil and refrigerator cars.

Development League bill on same subject, with conflicting details. The People's Power League would put control of state printing in charge of the legislature.

Amendment proposed by the Typographical unions makes the State Printer a constitutional officer, with a state printing office at Salem.

A dispatch from Salem to the Oregonian says: The danger arising from the multiplicity of initiative measures, two of them in some instances bearing upon the same subject, is becoming apparent to all who give the matter consideration, and there are many who fear the outcome.

It has been asserted by one high in authority that unless great care shall be exercised, serious complications are almost certain to arise which will make a special session of the Legislature necessary to straighten out some legislative tangles.

The two measures which most seriously conflict in their provision are the bills drafted by the Grange and by the tax committee of the Willamette Valley Development League.

How two measures upon the same subject could be adopted will be readily apparent. There are, in round numbers, 100,000 voters in the state.

A large number of prisoners are, of course, employed in tending the stock, milking, cooking, sweeping, laundry work, making and mending clothes and shoes, etc., etc., in the endless details of caring for the small army of men at hand.

Nothing is more in demand than a medicine which meets modern requirements for a blood and system cleanser, such as Dr. King's New Life Pills.

Oregon's Prison.

Oregon has had a penitentiary since 1851. The first state prison was located at Portland, and in 1870 it was removed to Salem.

Since the establishment of the prison there have been about 5230 received and 4000 discharged. There are now 406 inmates, 404 of them serving sentences and two men waiting death sentence, but both cases being on appeal to the supreme court.

This is not high water mark. There were 414 prisoners here October 12, when the United States prisoners were transferred. No United States prisoners are kept here.

The penitentiary has 283 acres of deeded land. On account of the fact that one tract is too far distant, that a good deal of it is occupied by the windings of Mill creek, and by the buildings, grounds and brick yard, less than 200 acres are in cultivation.

The stevedore employs now 100 of the men. Some 55 have been worked on the public roads. Over 6000 days' work has been put on the Marion county roads during the past year—to be exact, just 6464 days' work.

A great deal of work has been done by the prisoners in helping with the work of putting a new roof on the shops, a new floor in the shop buildings, a new flume for water power, inside the walls and new walks throughout the grounds.

Spoiled Her Beauty.

Harriet Howard, of W. 34th St., New York, at one time had her beauty spoiled with skin trouble. She writes: "I had Salt Rheum or Eczema for years, but both of them would cure it, until I used Bucklen's Arnica Salve."

Washington, Jan. 27.—A complete biography of Rear-Admiral Charles E. Clark, who commanded the battleship Oregon in the Spanish war, is soon to be published in the Vermont, a magazine published in the Vermont, a magazine published in the Vermont, a magazine published in the Vermont.

Having entire confidence in his ship and men, Admiral Clark assumed the whole responsibility and sailed northward. But for his fearlessness in taking the responsibility which the department would not assume the battleship Oregon would not have figured in the battle of Santiago and her name would not have been written, as it is today, at the head of modern American warships.

Admiral Clark has repeatedly refused handsome offers from leading magazines to write just this same story, but he finally consented that his biography be printed in his own state, he himself furnishing the facts.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 27.—Multnomah falls and the land surrounding them are to have the protection afforded by the forest reservation laws and regulations. The commissioner of the federal land office has instructed the register and receiver of the Portland land office to withdraw from all forms of entry, excepting mineral, 500 acres along the Columbia river, 30 miles east of Portland, including Multnomah falls.

The creation of this forest reserve will enable the government to place a custodian in charge of the falls and the surrounding scenery, and preserve these natural beauties from despoliation.

The commissioner of the general land office has also ordered withdrawn from all forms of entry, excepting mineral, 89,600 acres west of Mount Rainier reserve, near Olympia, to be added to the Rainier forest reserve.
