Surveyor— VICTOR HEATH

The general election passed off quietly in Morrow county Monday. There seemed to be an absence of the usual interest.
There was no special work for any candidate or measure and the voters quietly cast their ballots according to their choice.
For the Republican state ticket outside of governor there was the usual Republican majority. But for Chamberlain, well that was different, Mr.
Chamberlain carrying the county by three votes.
As far as the county was concerned this was practically settled at the primary election. The election of E. M.
Shutt, Republican candidate for sheriff, Walter Hill, Republican candidate for clerk, F. M. Griffin for commissioner on the Republican ticket and E. G. Noble, Democratic candidate for county treasurer, was conceded by all, and they were all elected by large majorities.
The Socialists showed a slight gain while the Prohibitionists about held their own.
From all over the state as well as in Morrow county, local option was given a jolt while the equal suffrage amendment was also defeated.

The proposed amendment to the local option law was given a hard blow all over the state.
Following is the vote of Morrow county:
For U. S. Senator—Bourne, 599; Gearin, 399; Paget, 85; Simola, 81.
For United States to fill Vacancy—Gould, 131; Mulkey, 739; Stevens, 180.
For Governor—Amos, 46; Barzee, 92; Chamberlain, 532; Withycombe, 529.

Eakin, 696; Hatley, 423; Robbins, 112.

shops—Hoff, 752; Richards, 242.

lev, 202; Sinsler, 672.
For Sheriff—Aiken, 191; McGee, 282; Shutt, 705.
For Clerk—Akers, 243; Hill, 852.
For Treasurer—Gibson, 118; Noble,

Packing Houses Exposed.
Washington, June 4—Horrifying revelations almost beyond belief were made in the special report in Chicago packing-house conditions by Commissioners of Labor Neill and Reynolds of New York, and were submitted to Congress today by the president. In a message accompanying the report, President Roosevelt describes the conditions as revolting and urges immediate and drastic legislation.

The report is not nice reading. The statements are sickening and show that the packers generally displayed disregard not only for the common rules of sanitation but even common decency.
The report says the stockyards pavements are mostly brick filled with refuse and improperly cleaned. They are slimy and melodorous when wet and dusty when dry. The stock which died enroute are thrown on the platform for the reason of decaying removal and saving expense.

The interior of the buildings is mostly of wood and the floors are soaked and slimy, and the rooms poorly lighted and ill ventilated. Many of them are without windows. Systematic ventilation was not found anywhere. But one porcelain receptacle was found for meats.
Sanitary conveniences for the employees shows that the employers were indifferent to cleanliness. The retiring rooms adjoined the working rooms and were usually cut off from the latter by a low partition.

The conditions are such as affect most directly the cleanliness of food products.
Washing sinks were small and dirty.
There were neither towels, soap or toilet paper provided. The men and women return directly from these places to plunge their unwashed hands into the meat products and sausages.
Nauseous odors were constantly arising from dirty, blood-soaked, rotting wooden floors—fruitful culture beds for disease germs of men and animals.

The investigators found an absence of cleanliness everywhere in handling meat. The workers climb over beams of meat and select the pieces they want.
Frequently they throw them upon the dirty floors beside the bench.
In cutting meat on the bench the meat was usually held against supports which as a rule were indecently filthy. Men were seen to stand on meat tables with shoes covered with dirt.
At the lunch hour they were seen to eat at the spot where the meats were cut, and under the superintendent's eyes.
The report further says:
"We saw meat shoveled from the filthy floors and piled on tables. The meat was hardly ever washed, and was put into rotten box-carts that are gathering dirt, splinters and floor boards.
"An extreme example of the disregard of employes for cleanliness in handling dressed meats that we saw killed, cleaned and washed: A hog started to the cooler fell from the sliding rail to the dirty wooden floor, still part of the way into the filthy lazar-house. It was then picked up by two employes and placed on a truck, but no effort was made to clean the carcass. There is no government inspection in preparing sausages and other products, although they bear labels stating that they are government inspected."

Large Wool Sales.
Boise, Idaho, June 2.—Today at Wil-vale, near Payette, a large quantity of wool was sold, somewhat more than 1, 000,000 pounds, at prices ranging from 20 to 22 cents. The wool was purchased by T. B. Trumbull, of Boston. It is believed that sale will break the combination that has been in force in the state ever since the pool season opened. The regular buyers heretofore refused to offer more than 18 cents for the clean off wool sold today.
This purchase is by a house not regularly represented, the buyer having been sent out on the solicitation of certain interests here. He is prepared to take more wool. His appearance there stirred up the regular buyers and it is believed the deadlock will end as the result of the deal.

What's the good of keeping from the Any good things you may see.
That will lift his load of labor.
Like Rocky Mountain Tea.—E. E.
McMillan, Lexington, Oregon.
