WHEN BABY COMES.

"Where did you come from, baby dear?
Out of the everywhere into the here.

Where did you get your eyes so blue?
Out of the sky as I came through.

What makes the light in them sparkle and spin?
Some of the starry spikes let in.

Where did you get that little tear?
I found it waiting when I got here."

The fact is as sad as it is true that the baby finds the tear waiting to dull its blue eyes, and stain its soft cheeks. At the first it "has no language but a cry." Its one necessity is but to give expression to its suffering, and for that a tear suffices.

The mother who stoops in anguish over the wailing child would do anything to ease its suffering. But she is helpless. The time when she could have done so much for her child is past. She did not realize that in those anxious nervous days when she shrank from the ordeal of motherhood she was preparing suffering for the baby.

The path of motherhood is soothed and made easy for those who use Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It gives physical buoyancy and mental brightness. It tranquilizes the nerves, encourages a healthy appetite and induces refreshing sleep. It gives the mother strength for her hour of trial, and the confidence and content which come from strength. It makes the birth hour practically painless, and by increasing the natural, food secretions, it enables the healthy mother to enjoy the happiness of nursing her child.

"Favorite Prescription" contains no alcohol, neither opium, cocaine, or any other narcotic.

A Mother's Gratitude.

"I would like to express my gratitude to you for the benefit I have received from your wonderful medicine, 'Favorite Prescription,'" writes Mrs. H. C. Anderson, of South Britain, New Haven Co., Conn., (Box 33). "During the first month of expectancy I could not keep anything on my stomach. Was so sick that I had to go to bed and stay for weeks. I tried different doctors, but with little benefit. I read about many being helped by using your medicine, so I thought I would give it a trial. I began to take your 'Favorite Prescription' in November and I had a nice little girl baby in February following. My baby weighed over eight pounds. I was only sick about one hour, and got along nicely afterward; was up and dressed on the eighth day. I never had the doctor with me at all; just the nurse and one or two friends. My friends thought that I was sick a very short time. I think Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is indeed a true 'mother's friend,' for it helped me wonderfully. This makes my second child; with the first one I did not take 'Favorite Prescription.' The little one lived just about two months and she was sick all the time. This last baby is as plump and healthy as any mother could wish."

Much Better Health.

Mrs. Annie Blacker, 629 Catherine Street, Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "Your medicines have done wonders for me. For years my health was very poor; I had four mishaps, but since taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Favorite Prescription' I have much better health, and now I have a fine healthy baby. I have recommended your medicines to several of my friends and they have been benefited by them."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser in paper covers is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Felling The Flag.

When our soldiers went to Cuba and the Philippines, health was the most important consideration. Willie T. Morgan, retired Commissary Sergeant U. S. A., of Rural Route 1, Concord, N. H., says: "I was two years in Cuba and two years in the Philippines, and being subject to colds, I took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, which kept me in perfect health. And now, in New Hampshire, we find it the best medicine in the world for coughs, colds, bronchial troubles and all lung diseases. Guaranteed at Patterson Son druggist. Price 50c and $1 00. Letter From Salt Creek.

Salt Creek, June 10th, 1906.—Editor Heppner Gazette.—Please inform the people through your paper that all is well at Salt Creek as far as I know. Outside of a few minor mishaps, owing to inexperience in navigating such a swift stream of rapids and shoals, it has been good sailing for the socialistic yacht. It is not such a lonesome trip as I had anticipated, as I have plenty of company of jolly good hearted hay seeds. But the democrats who are following up with their ill-constructed raft, and who have compelled us to take the lead, notwithstanding the fact that they should be used to the danger marks, seem to be somewhat down in the mouth.

Their old decaying, out of date raft, that was constructed by planks donated by our great, gread grand fathers, seems as though it will capsize at any moment; as it seems to strike nearly every obstruction in the stream. Many on board fear that they can never bring the old worn out raft safely home without a thorough overhauling, and are known to be planning a scheme to steal a few planks from the socialists yacht with which to mend the old Donkey, as some call the democratic boat; and thus prolong its life for a short period; while others are throwing themselves overboard and swimming to the socialist boat. We expect to get their whole crew before we return. A committee came to us the other day and said that they believed in co-operation and wanted us to go in with them and use the material in our boat in fixing up their's. But remembering the parable spoken by the greatest socialist that ever visited the earth, of putting new wine into old bottels and of mending an old garment with a piece of new cloth, and having fresh in our memory the total destruction of the populist man-of-war, we politely shook our heads. We find the salt water somewhat nauseating to drink but the democrats say it is not so bad when you get use to it.

Karl Marx first conceived the idea of building this wonderful yacht of ours. He built it and gave it to the world as a great life boat. Although as yet it has been compelled to float principally on salty streams it has been busy throwing out life lines and drawing on board multitudes of disparing mankind, and the time is not far distant when it will sail on the great fresh water river of life and disembark its great load of bonded and oppressed mankind on the shores of the promised land. Then and not until then will the mission of this wonderful life boat be performed.

It is of my opinion that the candidate who publicly made the statement that he had no opponent, got a good hint of the time when in the near future he will be compelled to recognize the socialist party as a great factor in the political field. And I would not be surprised to see him in the near future join the untiring life saving crew and with well directed aim fling his socialistic life line on board the slowly sinking G. O. P. craft and have to draw on board a few of the once stand-patters. Of course there will be many who will stay with the old boat until she goes down, because their fathers before them lived and died there.

If you wish to know the composition of this life boat and are dissatisfied with the capitalistic system, procure and read the socialist propaganda. Subscribe for a socialist paper. Man's brain was made capable of expanding; so don't be afraid of wrecking it by thinking a little.

Ask yourself for what purpose was man placed here on earth. What is the goal that he must strive to attain. Surely it cannot be the accumulation of a few paltry dollars; putting yourself in a position to be envied by your less fortunate brother. If that is the goal of life, the one thing sought for, it would have been better that we had never been born. The acquisition of wealth is not the natural goal of life as it appears to be, which ever way you may look; but the possibility of filling a paupers grave stimulates our selfish nature to such an extent for striving for the almighty dollar that the goal is gold. Happiness undoubtedly is the natural aim of life, and if we would stop long enough in our mad rush to take a clear view of the situation we could see that happiness could much more easily be obtained through co-operation in attaining the means of livelihood where much time and labor is saved, than when each one strives individually, tearing down what another builds; each seeking to live off the labor of the other; crowding another down by trying to climb up a notch higher above the jaws of poverty. Under a same system the means of livelihood would be the least of our thoughts. While now it is the dominant thought. With the wolf forever dispelled from the door, would you be afraid as some are that you would lose your ambition? Don't you believe then that your ideal thought would be the perfection of mankind? The incentve to harm your fellowman would have vanished. The great evil, the love of money would be plucked up by the roots and cast aside, and man's progress in the line of perfection would go by leaps and bounds until he reached the point of the greatest amount of happiness with the least possible resistance.

Yours truly,
A. S. AKERS.

What Meat Inspection Would Do.

Here are the provisions, in substance, of the Beveridge meat inspection amendment:

It provides for rigid post mortem inspection of all cattle, swine, sheep and goats killed for human consumption in any state, territory or any place under the jurisdiction of the United States, according to rules of the Agricultural Department. All meats found healthful shall be tagged and all meats found unhealthful shall be destroyed.

It provides for reinspection when inspectors think any meat product has become spoiled and for destroying it, even if it has passed once.

All slaughterers and packers and all others engaged in preparation of meat products must admit inspectors to all parts of their establishments.

All canning, rendering, salting and packing products are included, and any products treated with dyes or deleterious chemicals or preservatives shall be condemned.

All establishments must be maintained in a sanitary manner, according to rules and regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Agriculture.

No animals shall be allowed to enter any killing or packing establishments unless they have been inpected and passed, and none but healthy animals shall be used.

After January 1, 1907, no railroad or any other common carrier can transport any meat product not inspected or passed, and no ship with such articles on board shall be given clearance papers, nor can any common carrier transport any meat product that is not prepared in an establishment where specified sanitary conditions do not prevail.

All canned, potted or canvassed meat products shall be labeled as inspected and passed, and shall not be offered for sale until so labeled.

Severe penalties are provided for forging labels.

Inspection shall be made during both night and day, but there shall be no slaughtering in the night time except in cases of emergency.

Fees for inspection are fixed.

Packers and dealers in meat products are forbidden to offer for sale any fresh, salted, canned or otherwise packed meat products that have not been properly inspected and passed

Penalties are provided for attempts to bribe inspectors.

Animals slaughtered by farmers on farms are exempt.

Come quick and get located on some of the best timber land in Morrow and Umatilla counties, for only $100. These choice claims will soon be taken. Inquire at Gazette office for further particulars.
