Deceased was a brother of Banker George Conser of Heppner who left here Saturday evening in response to a telegram arriving at the bedside of his brother a few hours before his death.

Land Office Busy.

The land fraud trials in Oregon have not affected legitimate land entries in the least, in the La Grande land office, according to Register E. W. Davis, of the La Grande office who with Receiver A. A. Roberts spent Sunday in this city.

Mr. Davis says that from six to eight final proofs are now scheduled for every working day between now and November 1, beside several hundred on the desk dates for which have not been fixed.

The entries are being made in every county in the district but especially in Wallowa and Union county districts where the Wallowa railroad gives promise of new sawmills and other industries.

Much of the land being entered is timber land, but a large proportion is also homestead land, showing that bona fide settlement is going on constantly. Considerable agricultural land is also found within the forest reserves and much of this is being entered this season. Taken altogether, this is as busy a year as has been experienced in the office for a number of years.

Mr. Davis and Mr. Roberts returned home on the delayed train this forenoon.—East Oregonian.

Rumor That Heppner Will Have Better Railroad Accommodation.

Rumor has it that Heppner will have a new train schedule after the first of September.

It is said that the train now running to Biggs from Portland will come on to Heppner and that there will be daily trips between Portland and Heppner direct, the new train being put on to handle the local business between here and Portland. This will give Heppner a Sunday train. Should this new service be put on it will be a great accommodation.

HEPPNER COAL MINES.

New York Company to Take Over Large Holdings.

Heppner coal is likely to find its way to Portland within a year, as a result of the purchase of the coal field of the Heppner Coal Company, by New York capitalists, who recently sold out their interest in the Pennsylvania and Ohio coal mines to the J. P. Morgan syndicate. This new company has had its experts in Morrow county for several weeks, and as a result a proposition to purchase the Heppner men's interests has been made and is receiving favorable consideration.

"Our company owns 5000 acres of these coal lands," said C. A. Rhea, a stockholder, today, "and we have expended $140,000 in obtaining title and in development work. We have several veins tapped at a considerable depth, and these prove the existence of an excellent supply of coal to be practically inexhaustible."

"We should have placed this coal on the market long ere this, but we could get no encouragement from the O. R. & N. in regard to furnishing cars to take the coal to market. We would have built the 20-mile line of railroad from Heppner to the mines, but could not arrange for the necessary rolling stock."

"The new company, however, is amply able to equip itself with all the modern facilities, and you may expect to see lots of good, cheap coal in Portland within the next year, at least."

The property loss by the recent floods along the Colorado and Guadeloupe rivers, in Texas, will reach over $1,000,000.
