Uncertainty of Life.
"Young man," said the clerical-looking passenger, addressing the beardless individual across the aisle, "do you ever consider when you lie down at night that you may never see the sun rise again?"

"No," replied the party at whom the query had been fired, "can't say that I do; but every morning when I wake up I realize that I may not live to see another sunset."

"You do?" queried the surprised c. l. p.
"I do," answered the young man.
"You see, I'm a baseball umpire."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

TERRIBLE TO RECALL.

Five Weeks in Bed With Intensely Painful Kidney Trouble.

Mrs. Mary Wagner, of 1367 Kosuth Ave., Bridgeport, Conn., says: "I was so weakened and generally run down with kidney disease that for a long time I could not do my work and was five weeks in bed. There was continual bearing down pain, terrible backaches, headaches and at times dizzy spells when everything was a blur before me. The passages of the kidney secretions were irregular and painful, and there was considerable sediment and odor. I don't know what I would have done but for Doan's Kidney Pills. I could see an improvement from the first box, and five boxes brought a final cure."

Castleton—About how much does it cost to run a steam yacht? Higblower—If it makes any difference to you, you can't afford it.—Judge.

Her Father—What are you and young Shortleigh going to live on in case you marry? His Daughter—Well, if you must know, papa, look in the mirror.—Tit-Bits.

"Do you believe in marrying for love alone?" he asked. "Oh, yes," replied the bright little lady who had just returned from South Dakota; "I always do."—Chicago Record-Herald.

"I believe old Grabbitson would give his soul for money." "Yes, and he'd probably get more than it was worth, no matter how small the amount happened to be."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Old Boozer—No, passon; I tell 'e I never could swaller that yarn about Samson and them 'ere Philistines.

Parson—Really! Well, it's about the only thing you couldn't swallow.—Scraps.

"Bobbie, I hope you didn't tell your mother that you saw me kissing sister last night." "Nope, I didn't have to. Sis waked us all up at midnight when you went home and told it herself."—Minneapolis Journal.

"Do you approve of spelling reform?" "Yes," answered the adaptable citizen. "The only objection is that it consumes more time remembering to spell the new way than it does to put in the extra letters."—Washington Star.

She—I can't bear actors; they're so conceited! He—But I'm an actor, and you don't think I'm conceited, do you? She (seeking to recover herself)—Oh, of course not! I mean the big ones; the little ones don't count.—Sacred Heart Review.

He—I don't like your friend, Miss Knox. She told an acquaintance of mine that I was a perfect idiot. She—Oh, I'm sure she didn't mean it. She knows as well as anyone else that no human being is absolutely perfect.—Brooklyn Citizen.

Wigg—The last I saw of you Youngpop was talking you to death about his baby. How did you get rid of him? Wagg—Oh, some fellow came along who had just bought an automobile, so I introduced them and made my escape.—Philadelphia Record.

Small Girl (with smaller brother)—How much is it to Shepherd's Bush? Box Office Clerk—Tuppence. I've told you that five times already. Small Girl—Yes, I know; but little Willy likes to see you come to the window; it reminds him of the zoo.—Sketch.

Tom—Well, darling, I have seen your father and he has given his consent. Grace—He approves of love in a cottage, then? "No, but he says that a girl who spends as much time golfing and motoring as you do really has not much need of a home."—Fattier.

"Where was he struck by the automobile?" asked the coroner. "At the junction of the dorsal and cervical vertebrae," answered the surgeon. "Will you please point that out on the map?" asked the coroner, indicating a seat hung on the wall.—Chicago Tribune.

"Mr. Merchant," said the new clerk, preparing to ask for more pay. "I think I understand the business pretty well now, and—" "Yes?" interrupted his employer. "Well, keep at it four or five years. Perhaps you'll understand it then as well as you think you do now."—Philadelphia Press.

In a trolley accident in New England an Irishman was badly hurt. The next day a lawyer called on him and asked if he intended to sue the company for damages. "Damages?" said Pat, looking feebly over his bandages. "Sure, I have them already. I'd loike to sue the railway for repairs, sor, av y'll take the case."—Youth's Companion.

Something of a Psychologist.

When Jenkins received an autograph copy of his friend Clement's latest book on the "Genetic Theory of Knowledge," he immediately sat down and acknowledged the gift, saying that he anticipated great pleasure in its perusal.

"Why didn't you read it first?" asked his wife. "Then you could have said something much nicer than that."

"Ethel," said Jenkins, as he gave Clement's book a conspicuous place on the library table, "I have a feeling that this is one of the times when my forethought would be better than my hindthought."

A Similar Misfortune.

"Why is that bridge considered unsafe?"
"For the same reason that the English parliament is not thought to be giving popular legislation proper support."

"What reason is that?"
"The general weakness of its peers."—Baltimore American.

Bar-Headed Children in Rain.

In Germany during May hundreds of children run about the streets without hats on when it rains, as it is generally believed that May rain is most healthy and that when it falls on their bare heads the children will grow quicker and gain in strength.

A little learning is a dangerous thing, and too much often unfits a man for making an honest living.

For that Dandruff

There is one thing that will cure it—Ayer's Hair Vigor. It is a regular scalp-medicine. It quickly destroys the germs which cause this disease. The unhealthy scalp becomes healthy. The dandruff disappears, had to disappear. A healthy scalp means a great deal to you—healthy hair, no dandruff, no pimples, no eruptions.

More than Likely.
John Kendrick Bangs was discussing in a New York club a case of plagiarism, says the New York Tribune.

"The man admitted that plagiarism was suspected of him," said Mr. Bangs smiling. "He almost admitted it was proved. He reminded me of a Yonkers boy I used to know."

"This boy said to his chum one morning: 'I hid under the parlor sofa last night to hear what young Softleigh would say to my sister.'"

"Well, what did he say?" the other boy asked.
"He only talked religion and politics, and he kicked me about thirty times on the head."

"He knew you were there, I guess," said the second boy.
"I'm afraid he suspected it."

Delicacy of Frenchmen

Undoubtedly Frenchmen have the most delicate way of expressing themselves," said a New York young man to a group of friends at tea. "I have just had the oddest little encounter with a man who looked as if he had just arrived here, his clothes were so unmistakably Parisian. I was walking in Broadway when I saw him coming. To my surprise, as he was a stranger to me, he stopped, put his heels together and, taking off his hat, made a low bow. 'Pardon, mademoiselle,' said he, 'your beneath skirt descends.' Making again the same elaborate bow, he passed on. I looked down and saw that my silk petticoat was showing just a little below the outside skirt. Had an American man noticed it, he would have felt embarrassment about mentioning it; or, if he had the courage, he never would have been able to think of such a delicate way of making that bit of a misfit known to me."—New York Press.

A Patient Snake.

One does not often attribute the virtue of patience to a snake. "Letters from a Surgeon," however, contains an anecdote in which its existence is evident. Doctor Perry, surgeon of the Twentieth Massachusetts, awakened in camp one morning to find himself tightly held in the clutch of Doctor Hayward, his senior officer.

"Don't move, John, till I say three!" ordered the senior, sharply. "Then seize my hands and spring to your feet. One, two, three!"

At the word Doctor Perry jumped, and never made a cleaner leap. He was just in time to see a moccasin dive under the coat which he had been using for a pillow. Armed with sticks, they dragged the coat away, but saw only the hole into which the snake had glided. The surgeon had accidentally blocked the entrance to the reptile's abode, and it had lain all coiled under the back of his neck, waiting patiently for him to move so it could enter.

Only Test.

"Is there any known test for true love?" asked the very young man.
"Nothing except marriage," answered the home-grown philosopher. "If that doesn't evaporate it you have got the real thing."

A Literary Prize.

The largest amount ever offered as a prize for a literary contribution is 1,500,000 rubles, which is still open for competition and will be awarded at St. Petersburg on Dec. 1, 1925, to the writer of the best history of Alexander I. of Russia. Arakhtcheief, founder of the military colonies of Novgorod, left a fortune of 50,000 gold rubles to provide for this unique prize. The prize giving day is the centenary of the czar Alexander's death, by which time the money will, it is estimated, have increased to 2,000,000 rubles. One-fourth of it will be used to defray the cost of publishing the work which wins the prize.

Quite a Difference.

"What!" exclaimed the angry modiste. "You mean to say that Mrs. De Flasher used all the samples we sent up to make a fancy quilt? Why, she is an old crank!"

"But Mrs. De Flasher is worth a hundred thousand."
"Really? Well, in that case I suppose she is eccentric."
"And she will inherit half a million by the first of the year."

"Half a million? Why, write the lady a note at once and tell her she can have another bundle of samples and compliment her on being so delightfully bizarre."

Barbers Ages Ago.

The first barbers of whom there is any record plied their trade in Greece in the fifth century B. C. In Rome the first barbers operated in the third century B. C. In olden times in England the barber and the physician were identical. Thus, a king's barber was also his chief medical adviser.

In the time of Henry VIII. of England, laws were made concerning barbers, of which the following is an extract: "No person occupying a shaving or barbery in London shall use any surgery, letting of blood or other matter, except the drawing of teeth."

Always to be Depended Upon.

When a person gets up in the morning with a dull headache and a red, starchy feeling, it is an almost certain indication that the liver, or bowels or both are decidedly out of order.

At such times, Nature, the wisest and best of all doctors, takes this means to give warning that she needs the help and gentle assistance which can best be obtained from the old family remedy, Brandreth's Pills, which has been in use for over a century.

They are the same fine laxative tonic pill your grand parents used, when doctors were few and far between and when people had to have a remedy that could absolutely be depended upon.

Brandreth's Pills can be depended upon and are sold in every drug and medicine store, either plain or sugar-coated.

Salt as a Dust Layer.

Salt is the latest device for laying dust on roads in the country. The author of the new departure is M. Trintzins, city surveyor of Rouen, who has published it as the result of a long series of experiments. The list of these, while bringing out the weak side of the new system, possesses considerable interest as showing it to possess real possibilities of utility. A long stretch of road was first watered and then sprinkled with salt. The next day the surface of the road was covered with a thin glazed crust. Rain removed this in parts, but where the glaze remained there was no dust for five days.

OLD SORES FED AND KEPT OPEN BY IMPURITIES IN THE BLOOD

Whenever a sore refuses to heal it is because the blood is not pure and healthy, as it should be, but is infected with poisonous germs or some old blood taint which has corrupted and polluted the circulation. Those most usually afflicted with old sores are persons who have reached or passed middle life. The vitality of the blood and strength of the system have naturally begun to decline, and the poisonous germs which have accumulated because of a sluggish and inactive condition of the system, or some hereditary taint which has hitherto been held in check, now force an outlet on the face, arms, legs or other part of the body. The place grows red and angry, festers and eats into the surrounding tissue until it becomes a chronic and stubborn ulcer, fed and kept open by the impurities with which the blood is saturated. Nothing is more trying and disagreeable than a stubborn, non-healing sore. The very fact that it resists ordinary remedies and treatments is good reason for suspicion; the same germ-producing cancerous ulcers is back of every old sore, and especially is this true if the trouble is an inherited one. Washes, salves, nor indeed anything else, applied directly to the sore, can do any permanent good; neither will removing the sore with caustic plasters or the surgeon's knife make a lasting cure. If every particle of the diseased flesh were taken away another sore would come, because the trouble is in the blood, and the BLOOD CANNOT BE CUT AWAY. The cure must come by a thorough cleansing of the blood. In S. S. S. will be found a remedy for sores and ulcers of every kind. It is an unequalled blood purifier—one that goes directly into the circulation and promptly cleanses it of all poisons and taints. It gets down to the very bottom of the trouble and forces out every trace of impurity and makes a complete and lasting cure. S. S. S. changes the quality of the blood so that instead of feeding the diseased parts with impurities, it nourishes the irritated, inflamed flesh with healthy blood.

Then the sore begins to heal, new flesh is formed, all pain and inflammation leaves, the place scabs over, and when S. S. S. has purified the blood the sore is permanently cured. S. S. S. is for sale at all first class drug stores. Write for our special book on sores and ulcers and any other medical advice you desire. We make no charge for the book or advice.
