Pretext of The Far East.

Your genuine Anglo-Saxon has a contempt for dark skinned races. Where this contempt originated does not signify. It may date from the time that the Germans defeated the Roman legions. It may spring from the Century-long war which England waged with France and Spain. At all events it survives, a menace to national sanity and a guarantee of national loss.

Now - days this contempt singles out the yellow-skinned Asiatic. It is true that Japan jarred it by defeating Russia, but your average American believes that Russia was defeated as much by its own stupidity as by Japanese prowess.

And as for China, there is not one American in a hundred thousand who can think of the Chinese as other than curiosities or laundries.

But ten years hence, whatever danger we may find in New Japan, will seem infinitesimal compared with danger we shall see in New China.

There are more people in China than there are in Japan and the United States, the German Empire, France, Spain, Great Britain and the entire Russian Empire combined.

What will happen when these hundreds of millions come under the control of western civilization? Will the China of 1917 submit to treatment which it has meekly endured from Great Britain, France and Russia?

As long as the east was afraid of the west diplomack was easy. That day has passed. Japan is teaching China to despise Europeans and Americans. It is only a matter of time until China shall have become a vaster Japan, and America shall find itself between the Scylla of Europe and the Charybdis of Asia.

When that inevitable day comes we shall be thanking our lucky stars that some men and women were far sighted enough to send school teachers and foreign missionaries to China along with drill sergeants and civil engineers.

—Editorial in the world Today, for February.

The wripen of the basket ball game between Heppner and Ione, in the last issue of the Proclaimer, was amusing to say the least. The Proclaimer boy is evidently sore at Heppner, but failed to give any reason why. Ione and Heppner should be on the best of terms. Both are good towns with allied interests. If Heppner is prosperous, Ione will share some of it with us. If Ione is prosperous, the same can be said of Heppner. Because the Proclaimer boy lost a game of basket ball or a game of marbles, is a poor excuse for all this foolish talk.

Local Notes.

Highest cash price paid for second hand grain sacks at the flour mill. If Church services will be held in the Catholic church on Sunday, March 17 at 10:30 a. m.

Jas. Wyland, of Hardman, came up from The Dalles, Friday evening, where he had been on land business.

The County Sunday School convention will be held at Ione, March 1 and 2, having been postponed on account of the blockade on the railroad.

J. A. Harbke, of Portland, was a business visitor in Heppner, Wednesday Mr. Harbke was formerly one of Morrow county's extensive farmers, having large holdings near Ione.

The lecture by Rev. Chas. Musselman of the Christian church, promises to be of a most interesting nature. It will be delivered under the auspices of the Y. M. C. C., on Tuesday night, February 20.

Arambpa Hynd, father of the Hynd brothers of Nanji Hollow, while going to a near neighbor's place Sunday, was caught in a heavy fog and became lost. Mr. Hynd wandered around all day and until midnight before he was found by a searching party. He is 78 years old and was almost exhausted when found.

GRAZING IN FOREST RESERVE

Senator Fulton Says It is No Offense to Turn Stock on a Reserve.

The following letter received by J. D. Combs, of John Day, from Senator Fulton will be of interest to every cattleman and sheepman in Grant county:

Washington, D. C., Feb. 4, 1907.
Mr. J. D. COMBS,
John Day, Oregon.

MY DEAR MR. COMBS:
I have your letter of the 28th ult. I, as you probably are aware, have been opposed to the management of the forest reserves in the manner it is being conducted and have tried to get some backing from the stock organizations. But every time Mr. Pinchot goes out and sees the stockgrowers they seem to endorse his plans. Now, had there been the right sort of a campaign made by the stockmen against charging for pasturage in the forest reserve, that policy would have been defeated. I went out against it at once, but could not get the stockmen to back me up. However, it may be that this policy serves their interests the best.

Now, so far as the forestry officials not permitting to turn your stock out or to enter upon the forest reserve before June, or any other time, is concerned, that is all nonsense. There is no law against turning stock on the reserves at any time. The only thing they could do would be to drive them off. If I were living adjacent to a reserve, I should not hesitate to turn my cattle out at any time and let them go on the reserve, and if they should go on the reserve, it would be no offense against the law. In other words, there is no law making it a crime for cattle to be turned out in the vicinity of, or indeed to be driven upon a forest reserve. If any official tells you that he will have you arrested if your stock is turned out or goes upon the reserve, I wish you would give me his name and position. He is simply telling you a falsehood and probably knows it. You tell people that they need have no fear at all about turning their stock out, that there is no law against it, even though the stock do go upon the reserve. Of course the forest rangers can drive the stock off the reserve, but that is all they can do. They cannot arrest the stock, impound them, or charge the owner anything because of their being upon the reserve. All they can do is to drive them off.

Sincerely yours,
C. W. FULTON.

CONTEST NOTICE.

Department of the Interior,
U. S. Land Office, La Grande, Oregon.
February 11, 1907.
A sufficient contest affidavit having been filed in this office by L. H. Johnson, contesting, against home-stead entry No. 12342, made May 20, 1902, for section 25, T. 21 S., R. 12 E., N. 30 W., W. 1/2 section 25 township 4 N. range 12 E. N. 30 W., of William S. Johnson, contestant, in which it is alleged that William S. Johnson has fraudulently obtained said land, that he has abandoned his residence therefrom for more than six months since making said entry, that said entry is not entitled to be considered as valid as required by law, that he has never resided upon said land and that said residence from said land was not for the purpose of settlement in the United States, said contest is hereby notified to appear, respond and offer evidence, touching said contest, at Heppner, O., on March 21, 1907, before J. P. Williams, U. S. Commissioner at Heppner in Heppner, Oregon, and that final hearing will be held at 10 o'clock a. m., on March 28, 1907, before the Register and receiver at the United States Land Office in La Grande, Oregon.
The said contestant having, in a proper affidavit, filed February 4, 1907, set forth facts which show that after due diligence personal service of this notice can not be made, it is hereby ordered and directed that such notice be given due and proper publication.

ODD SHOE FACTS.

Greek shoes were peculiar in reaching to the middle of the legs. The present fashion of shoes was introduced into England in 1633. In the ninth and tenth centuries the greatest princes of Europe wore wooden shoes.

Shoes among the Jews were made of leather, linen, rush or wood; soldiers' shoes were sometimes made of brass or iron.

In the reign of Richard II. shoes were of such absurd length as to require to be supported by being tied to the knees with chains, sometimes of gold or silver.

In the reign of William Rufus of England in the eleventh century a great "stude," Robert the Horned, used shoes with sharp points stuffed with tow and twisted like rams' horns.

The Romans made use of two kinds of shoes—the solea, or sandal, which covered the sole of the foot and was worn at home, and the calceus, which covered the whole foot and was worn abroad.

Victory and After.

Many a man in a moment of fine enthusiasm applauds Patrick Henry's "Give me liberty or give me death." It is a proper sentiment to entertain, but not easy to live up to.

Most of us feel more like the Pennsylvania Dutchman who told his wife to write an appropriate inscription on his knapsack, which she was packing on the eve of his departure to join Washington's army in the Revolution. The enthusiastic woman, dreaming of her hero coming home a general, at last, wrote in good, round letters, "Victory or Death."

In a few moments her husband caught sight of it.
"No goot! No goot!" he exclaimed in great excitement. "Take dat off quick! Put on goot words, 'Victory, oder come back again!'"—Youth's Companion.

Overdid It.

Mrs. Passay—Mary, wasn't that gentleman asking for me? The New Maid—No, mum. He described the lady he wanted to see as being about forty, and I told him it couldn't be you. Mrs. Passay—Quite right, my dear. And you shall have an extra afternoon off tomorrow. The New Maid—Yes, mum—thankee, mum. Yes, mum; I told him it couldn't be you, for you was about fifty. Mrs. Passay—And while you're taking your afternoon off you'd better hunt a new place!—Cleveland Leader.

Her Clever Scheme.

Fanny—Why in the world do you send away for so many catalogues and then never buy anything? Suetta—To keep the postman coming here. I don't want those women across the street to know that Jack and I don't correspond any more.—Detroit Free Press.

Auto Endurance Race.

Secretary B. A. Lody of the St. Paul Automobile club has returned from Chicago, where he was successful in making arrangements for the gigantic run from Chicago to St. Paul about the middle of July.

It is to take the form of an endurance run, and machines will be entered from Illinois, Michigan, Iowa, Wisconsin and Indiana.
It is expected that 1,000 automobiles will make the 500 mile trip.

Wren's Many Young Horses.

John Wren, the Springfield, O., trainer, has a large stable of harness youngsters in training, including Duke of Manchester, by Wilkes Boy; Rescued, by Crescous, 2:02 1/4, and a chestnut filly by Gregory the Great, sire of Angolia, 2:08 1/4.

"Cycling Campers."

England has an association of cycling campers numbering nearly 200 members. Once each year they ride their bicycles to a selected spot, carrying their camp equipment, and live out of doors for at least two weeks.

Ebbetts Won't Sell.

President Ebbetts has found it necessary to deny a rumor that he is endeavoring to dispose of his interest in the Brooklyn club. He could not sell his holdings without the consent of certain other stockholders.

The Eye of the Shark.

The eye of the shark is small, long and narrow, closely resembling that of a pig. All observers have agreed in attributing to it a sly and malicious expression, but this must to some extent be taken as a flight of fancy. The only real reason for attributing to the shark a savage disposition is that, like the wolf, he has no pity whatever for a comrade in distress and that a wounded shark will be instantly attacked and devoured by his companion. This is indeed an evil trait in the creature and can only be excused on the ground of his prolonged fasts and the overmastering demands of his appetite.—London Standard.
