Delinquent Subscribers.

Under the above caption the Lincoln (Neb.) Star prints an editorial which makes especially good reading and finds application in most newspaper offices outside the larger cities. At the extreme risk of arousing the ire of some critics occupying an especially exalted position in his profession and community, assuming to decide who shall and who shall not engage in this business or that, we venture to print it, as follows:

"The increased price of white paper has compelled the publishers of the so-called 'country' newspapers, in this state and others, to urge their subscribers to pay up promptly. Bills have to be met, the bills are large, than they used to be, and the editors need the money.

"There is no reason known to man or saints why they should not have their money either. Probably 50 per cent of the upright citizens who boast their honesty and honor, who take pride in paying as they go or in promptly meeting the bills of their household and business expenses, owe the editor of the little weekly paper that does so much toward helping the community.

"If one of the proud citizens who is thus in arrears decides to run for office he expects a free 'puff' from the town paper. If a baby comes to his house, or if his night-blooming cereus puts forth a blossom, or if his wife gives a kensington, or if his fat hogs take a prize at the county fair, that distinguished and honorable citizen looks for a complimentary notice; but the editor must whistle for the poor little dollar that measures his subscription price.

"The local editor is the last man paid. He ought to be the first. He does more for the town, more for every man in it, more for the county and the state than all the delinquent subscribers who could exult their names upon a sheet of paper extending from Kokomo to Okobosh. The editor in the average small town is obliged to humble himself by begging for subscription. He should never have to ask the right sort of subscriber for the amount due him. Oh, Ingratitude, thy name is Distinguished Citizen, alias Delinquent Subscriber."

TO BUILD MORE BOATS.

Open River Transportation Company Will Increase Capital.

Plans have been almost completed by the officials of the Open River Transportation Company for the floating of a considerable amount of additional stock to be used during the coming winter in building two or three more boats, for use on the Columbia river both above and below the Cascades, when navigation again opens up in the spring, says the Walla Walla Bulletin.

While the recent burning of their largest boat, the J. N. Teal, will be some what of a setback, it will not greatly delay the plans and by next season it is hoped that a fleet of four or five boats will be at work between Kennewick and The Dalles. The loss on the Teal was fully covered by insurance and although she was burned to the water's edge her hull is sound and it will be possible to place her in running shape again within sixty days. In the meantime either the Spencer or the Telephone will be rented to take her place.

The Open River Transportation company already has $100,000 worth of capital stock paid up, and it is probable that within a short time an additional $100,000 or $150,000 will be issued for the purpose of building more boats during the winter.

The past season has been a very profitable one to the company with but two boats, the Teal on the lower river and the Relief above the Cascades. The line has been liberally patronized by shippers and ranchers showing beyond a doubt that navigation on the upper river will be profitable to the stockholders as well as to shippers, who take advantage of the low rates. In order that the company may not share the fate of the old O. S. N. company, which was gobbled up by interests which were opposed to river navigation for business reasons, the stock will only be sold to friends of the Open River and a clause will be inserted providing that a shareholder must give notice before selling his stock and give other stockholders the preference over other buyers.

Oil will be bored for near Bonanza.

Sam Carter, who owns the biggest threshing outfit in the county was in the city, Sunday. Mr. Carter has a 25 horse engine and a big threshing. He has already threshed about 60,000 sacks of grain this season. There is still a large amount of wheat not threshed. Mr. Carter is now in the Hardman district. In speaking of the situation Mr. Carter says: "In the Hardman wheat district, you might say that threshing has just commenced. With the very best of luck and favorable weather, my outfit will be engaged for at least 20 days to finish the jobs in sight. I have now between 55 and 60 settings. I have just moved from the northern part of the county where there are many scattering jobs left. Owing to the scarcity of machines I don't see how these people are going to get their grain threshed."

If You Read This

It will be to learn that the leading medical writers and teachers of all the several schools of practice recommend, in the strongest terms possible, each and every ingredient entering into the composition of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for the cure of weak stomach, dyspepsia, catarrh of stomach, "liver complaint," torpid liver, or biliousness, chronic bowel affections, and all catarrhal diseases of whatever region, name or nature. It is also a specific remedy for all such chronic or long standing cases of catarrhal affections and their resultants, as bronchial, throat and lung disease (except consumption) accompanied with severe coughs. It is not so good for acute colds and coughs, but for lingering, or chronic cases it is especially efficacious in producing perfect cures. It contains Black Cherrybark, Golden Seal root, Bloodroot, Stone root, Mandrake root and Queen's root—all of which are highly praised as remedies for all the above mentioned affections by such eminent medical writers and teachers as Prof. Bartholow, of Jefferson Med. College; Prof. Hare, of the Univ. of Pa.; Prof. Finley, of Chicago; Prof. John King, M. D., of Cincinnati; Prof. John M. Scudder, M. D., of Cincinnati; Prof. Edwin M. Hale, M. D., of Hahnemann Med. College, Chicago, and scores of other equally eminent in their several schools of practice.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" is the only medicine put up for sale through druggists for like purposes that has any such professional endorsement—worthy more than any number of ordinary testimonials. Open publicity of its formula is the best possible guaranty of its merits. A glance at this published formula will show that "Golden Medical Discovery" is a chemical compound—chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine being used instead. Glycerine is entirely unobjectionable and besides is a most useful agent in the cure of all stomach as well as bronchial, throat and lung affections. There is the highest medical authority for its use in all such cases. The "Discovery" is a concentrated glyceric extract of native medicinal roots and is safe and reliable. A booklet of extracts from eminent medical authorities, endorsing its ingredients mailed free on request. Address Dr. B. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.
