second-class matter.

THURSDAY.....Dec. 19, 1907

The financial flurry is not cutting much ice with Santa Claus. The holiday trade is good in Morrow county.

President Hill, of the Great Northern, says that within 60 days the North Bank road will be rolling freight into Portland. This is certainly good news.

It is rumored that the local train running between Pendleton and Portland will be taken off after the first of January. It is said that ever since this train was put on it has been operated at a loss.

The Democrats will hold forth in national convention on the 7th of July of next year, at Denver, 5280 feet above the lashings of old briny. It is possible that Denver's bid of $100,000 for the convention had more to do with it than the light air.

Hood River people fly into a rage if anybody else in Oregon declares that as good apples as Hood River produces can be raised elsewhere in the state. This red apple delusion has become a mania at Hood River and Hood River people are working it to the limit. There is no reason in the world why Umatilla, Union, Morrow and other eastern Oregon counties cannot produce apples equal to those grown at Hood River if growers will take the same pride and pains, fight pests, advertise and talk about their fruit as do the Hood River people.—East Oregonian. While the East Oregonian is probably right, still what the paper says yet remains to be demonstrated. There is one thing that is true and that is the fact that Hood River people are entitled to all the credit that they have earned about their big red apples, and this does not apply entirely to apples either. The object lesson should be of value.

N. A. Kelly returned from Portland, Thursday.

Luther Huston was in from Eight Mile, Monday.

Stacy Roberts, of Hardman was doing business in the city Monday.

Lon Markham is over from Walla Walla looking after Morrow county interests.

J. H. Howard came up from Philomath and is visiting relatives and friends in the city.

In doubt as to "the acceptable and perfect gift"? See the beautiful things at P. O. Borg's and your doubts will be solved. There is no gift like jewelry, cut glass, hand painted china, silverware, etc.

CHAMPION COW COMING.

Will be Bred to W. O. Minor's Golden Goods.

E. W. Lee, W. O. Minor's herdsman has returned from Chicago, where he has been attending the eighth meeting of the International Stock Show.

Mr. Lee, who has attended five of the meetings of the big show, states that the recent meeting was the biggest that he ever saw. There were nearly 4000 head of fine stock at the International this year.

While in Chicago, Mr. Lee made arrangements with Rees & Son, of Nebraska, to send the famous cow Ruberta, twice champion of America, to Heppner to breed to W. O. Minor's champion bull, Golden Goods. This great cow's calf, from Golden Goods, was first in the senior bull calf class at the International this year. When such well known breeders as Rees & Son who will have only the best, send out West to Mr. Minor's great herd, is certainly a great recommendation for Mr. Minor's stock.

It proves that there are no better cattle in the United States than owned right here in Heppner by W. O. Minor.

W. E. Pruyn returned Sunday evening from Hillsboro, where he had been to attend the bedside of his sister Mrs. H. V. Gates who is very sick. Mrs. Gates is not expected to live.
