MAKE THE BEST OF IT.

The majority of the people of Morrow county said last Monday by the ballot that they wanted a dry county.

Now that the new condition—a radical change from what we have been used to, confronts us let us make the best of it.

During the period of reconstruction or adjustment in becoming reconciled to the new condition it is very likely that a lack of confidence or uncertainty will have some effect upon business interests.

Complaint will only add to the burdens.

The prohibition movement has during the campaign previous to the election, and will for some time to come take a prominent place in the public mind.

Nearly all of the counties adjoining Morrow are dry and we are all in the same boat.

The matter has been discussed thoroughly from almost every standpoint and the people have had plenty of time to think.

The law is here. Respect and obedience of the law is the foundation of good government.

There is only one thing to do and that is to let common interest unite us all.

Let us quit howling and work for our own interests by working for Heppner and Morrow county.

There is one wet proposition that we can all agree on and that is the rain.

N. A. Kelly Dead.

N. A. Kelly, a well known resident of Morrow county, died at the Heppner Sanitarium, last Thursday.

Deceased was born in Rutland County, Vermont, March 28, 1843. He married Emilie Sherman Oct. 9, 1867. To this union was born a daughter, Ettie, who died in Heppner in 1880, and a son, B. B. Kelly, who survives him. Mr. Kelly also leaves a wife, three brothers, and one sister. The sister is in Montana, one brother in Illinois, one in Vermont. The other one from Iowa came to Oregon and was with him in his last weeks of illness.

Mr. Kelly moved to Illinois after he was married and after a short residence there moved to Iowa. In 1877 he was advised to try the Oregon climate for asthma. About seven years ago the old asthmatic trouble came on again and he suffered greatly with it at times the remainder of his life. Mr. Kelly entered the city hospital March 7, and after a thorough diagnosis was found to have an internal cancer, of which he died May 28. His suffering was intense but he bore it all with remarkable endurance and patience.

Mr. Kelly was a successful stock raiser and a man of great hospitality and today many remember his kindness to them when they were in his home on Willow creek.

The remains were laid to rest beside his daughter in the Masonic cemetery, May 30, 1908.

NATURE'S CRUELTY.

The Ichneumon Fly Makes Its Natural Enemy Serve Its Purpose.

The Ichneumon fly of Ceylon is the natural enemy of the spider. This insect is green in color, and in form resembles a wasp with a marvellously thin waist. It makes its nest of well worked clay and then goes on a hunting expedition. Its victims are invariably spiders of various kinds, but all are subject to the same mode of treatment. A scientific sting injects some poison which effectually paralyzes the luckless spider, which is then carried off to the nest and there fastened with a dab of moist clay. Another and another victim is brought to this chamber of horrors. Then the prescient mother Ichneumon fly proceeds to deposit her eggs, one in the body of each spider, which can just move its legs in a vague, aimless manner, but can offer no resistance.

This done, the fly returns to her work as a wasp. She prepares more clay and builds up the entrance to this ghastly cell. Then she commences a new cell, which she furnishes in like manner and then closes; then she adds yet another cell and so proceeds until her store of eggs are all provided for, and her task in life being accomplished, she dies, leaving her evil brood to hatch at leisure. In due time these horrid little maggots come to life and find themselves cradled in a larder of fresh meat. Each poor spider is still alive, and his juices afford nutriment for the Ichneumon grub till it is ready to pass in the chrysalis stage, thence to emerge as a winged fly fully prepared to carry out the traditions of its ancestors with regard to spiders.

ANTIQUITY OF FISHING.

The Art of Angling is as Old as the Human Race.

The art of angling no doubt had its origin in man's necessities. The earliest record of mankind makes reference to the taking of fish for food. There are frequent allusions to it in the Bible. Job, in the oldest book of all, says: "Canst thou draw out a leviathan with a hook or his tongue with a cord which thou lettest down? Canst thou put a hook in his nose?" Homer, in the "Iliad," speaks of fishing in these lines: "As bearing death in the fallacious bait. From the bent angle sinks the leaden weight."

And it is recorded in the "Odyssey": "As when the angler, his long rod in hand. On a projecting rock assumes his stand. Casts to the fiery fry the baited snare, Then flings the wriggling captives in the air."

The Romans, Greeks and other races of early days around the Mediterranean practiced the art of angling. Plutarch tells of a prank played by the fair Egyptian, Cleopatra, while out fishing with Antony. They wandered on their angling, and her divers did hang a salt fish on his hook, which he with fervor drew up.

The ruined walls of Herculaneum and Pompeii abound in frescoes of fishermen. All along the track of history are found traces of this gentle recreation, showing the gradual improvement from the hook of bone and rude equipment of the cave man to the elegant accessories and belongings of the modern angler.

Apple Cure For Drunkards.

"For ten years," said a physician, "I have advocated apples as a cure for drunkenness. In that time I have tried the apple cure on some forty or fifty drunkards, and my success has been most gratifying."

"Let any man afflicted with the love of drink eat three or more apples daily, and the horrible craving will gradually leave him. The cure will be greatly helped along if he also smokes as little as possible."

"I know a woman who cured a drunkard husband without his knowledge by keeping always a plentiful supply of good apples on the dining table. The man ate these apples and finally stopped drinking altogether."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Practical Eye Wash.

A little salt and water used as an eye wash will cleanse and strengthen inflamed lashes and rest tired eyes. It is safe to use it at any time that irritation is felt. A New York surgeon prescribes the ocean for bad eyes, particularly young eyes. "Get off," he says, "whenever you can and let the salt and the sea breeze wash and blow around your eyes. It will do them good. It will dislodge the germs of disease, for the air breathed by half the world is germ laden, and sore eyes are more quickly caught than smallpox and more fatal. It will brighten and strengthen them and prolong their beauty and usefulness."

PLAYS AND PLAYERS.

"Tom, Dick and Harry," with a trio of funmakers, Bickel, Watson and Wrothe, are pleasing big houses on the road.

Henry C. Mortimer has been engaged to originate a role in "The Lucky Miss Dean" at the Madison Square theater, New York.

Henry W. Savage has sold the South African rights of "The Prince of Pilsen" and "King Dodo" to James Nelson of Johannesburg.

Joseph Coyne appears as an Indian squaw in a burlesque of "The Squaw Man," which is one of the features of "Coming Thro' the Eye."

Chauncey Olcott has resumed his tour in "Edmund Burke." During the next three months he will fill engagements in the principal southern cities.

Joseph Cawthorn will begin rehearsals of a new play, "Apartments to Let," by John J. McNally, on Jan. 29. Mr. Cawthorn will appear as a janitor.

John E. Henshaw, Agnes Cain Brown and other members of "The Sho Gun" company were entertained at dinner in Duluth recently by the Japanese consul.

The chief sensations that run through "When the World Sleeps" embrace the burning mills, the escape from the county jail, the chase of the fugitive, the midnight murder and the swine for life.

FACTS FROM FRANCE.

In Paris the average price of pure milk is 33.8 cents a gallon.

The average number of residents to the acre in Paris is no less than 128.

There are nearly 700,000 apartments or lodgings in the French metropolis which rent for less than $100 a year. About 17,000 bring $800 or more.

All the theatrical and amusement announcements of Paris are posted on pillar billboards that are placed at intervals along the boulevards. It is against the law to disfigure walls with posters.

All Paris is reading and discussing the memoirs of the Philadelphia dentist, Dr. Evans, the friend of Napoleon III., which have just been published and which contain a most excellent description of the last days of the second empire.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

Criticism, like charity, should begin at home.

Apologies are like tears. They should be suppressed.

Don't sit down too long to rest if you have any desire to reach the top.

No man likes it when callers tell his wife that she is working too hard.

Don't tell your troubles. The exercise they get in the telling makes them grow.

A woman can make an enemy of another woman any day by looking sympathetically at the other woman's husband.

The trouble with the boomerang you send out against an enemy is that it will fly back and hit you at a time when you are most defenseless to meet it.—Athol Globe.

IMPERTINENT PERSONALS.

Hetty Green and Mark Twain have each celebrated a seventeenth birthday. Mark has a lot of friends and Hetty has a lot of money.—Puck.

Secretary Loeb is now the father of a son, in accordance with his usual custom of doing all he can to promote the president's policies.—Kansas City Journal.

John P. Holland, the inventor, says that men will fly within a year. But it is recalled that in 1900 Mr. Tesla was going to be talking to Mars within twelve months.—Kansas City Times.

The new British cabinet contains the following writers: John Morley, James Bryce, Augustine Birrell and Winston Churchill. Hall Caine and Marie Corelli must feel terribly slighted.—Baltimore Sun.

MODES OF THE MOMENT.

Matelasse makes the handsomest and costliest of all of the new lounging robes.

Very short coats reaching just to the hips are seen in some of the newest tailor makes.

The empire coat is the thing this winter, and some very graceful models have been exhibited.

Long black gloves, long enough to wrinkle up on the arm, are being worn with all sorts of gowns.

The new linen turnover collars are fully two inches deep and are decorated with tiny linen covered buttons.

Buttons are used in every conceivable way. They lace or pearl ones trim the sheers of blouses, and big ones, elaborate or plain, trim coats and suits and dresses.

The Humming Bird Flower.

Altoed avasisis, the wonderful so called "humming bird flower" of the plains of eastern Turkey, stands unique and alone among the many specimens of floral mimicry that have been classified by modern botanists. It is a beautiful blossom of variegated hues, the total length of the entire flower being about one and three-quarter inches. As one might imagine from its name, it is an exact image of a miniature humming bird. The breast is green, the wings deep rose color, the throat yellow and the head and beak almost pure black. The only particular in which it is not a perfect bird is that the stem gives it the appearance of having but a single leg and foot.

THE CULT OF SILENCE.

Truest Intercourse Between Congenial Spirits is Without Words.

Now, to keep one's freshness there ought to be a zone of silence around every human being during some part of every day. It is significant that the great religions of the world have come out of silence and not out of noise, and the finest creative work is done, as a rule, in seclusion—not necessarily apart from men nor in solitary places, but away from the tumult and away from distracting sounds.

It is in silence alone that we come into possession of ourselves. The noises of life disturb us as a cloud of dust intervenes between the eye and the sky. There ought to be a cult for the practice of silence—a body of men and women committed to the preservation of the integrity of their souls by neither hearing nor making speech for certain periods, pledged to the culture of the habit of quietness.

Matterflack has pointed out the fact that the best things are never spoken, and the truest intercourse between congenial spirits is carried on without words. If we said less and thought more there would be far fewer things to explain, many sources of irritation would be dried up at the source and the prime cause of irritation, which is nervous exhaustion or excitement, would be removed.—Outlook.

ON THE FARM.

HOW NATURE PROVIDES FOR US.

The most independent man on earth is the farmer, for he makes the earth yield him almost everything needed for life. He knows that as he sows so will he reap. He usually keeps strong and healthy from constant strife with Nature—in sunshine and in pure air. At night when work is done, he finds most refreshing sleep, such as only a tired man knows. In the same way that the earth yields food for man, so does it provide remedies for human ills. Thousands of households throughout the farming districts of the United States know the value of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is Nature's most valuable and health-giving agent—made without the use of alcohol. It contains native medicinal roots, and is the concentration of Nature's vitality as found in the American forests. This remedy has a history which speaks well for it because it was given to the public by Dr. R. V. Pierce, founder of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y., nearly forty years ago, and has since been sold by druggists in ever increasing quantities.

Dr. Pierce found that the bark of the Black Cherry-tree, the root of the Mandrake, Stone root, Queen's Root, Bloodroot and Golden Seal root, made into a scientific, non-alcoholic extract by the use of glycerine, made the best alternative and tonic. The refreshing influence of this extract is at once apparent in the recovered strength of the patient—the vital fires of the body burn brighter and their increased activity consumes the tissue rubbish which otherwise may poison the system. This alternative and tonic extract has been found to stand alone as a safe, invigorating tonic, as it does not depend on alcohol for a false stimulation, but is Nature's own method of strengthening and cleansing the system. It tones up the stomach and purifies the blood in Nature's own way. It is well known all over the world as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The name was given to this vegetable compound because one of the important ingredients was Golden Seal root. * * * Such an authority as Dr. Roberts Bartholow, of Jefferson Medical College, says of Golden Seal root, "very useful in a stomachic tonic. Cures catarrh of the stomach and headaches accompanying the same." Dr. Grover Coe, in his book Orzanic Medicine, speaking of Golden Seal root, says that "as a liver invigorator it has few equals." Further he says, "In chronic inflammation of the bladder we deem it one of the most reliable agents of cure. As a tonic in the convalescing stages of pneumonia, dysentery and other acute diseases (Hydrastis (Golden Seal) root) is peculiarly appropriate."

Dr. Coe continues: "We would here add that our experience has demonstrated the Hydrastis or Golden Seal root to be a valuable remedy in bronchitis, laryngitis, and other affections of the respiratory organs."

Prof. Hobart A. Hare, M. D., University of Pennsylvania, says of Golden Seal: "Of service in chronic catarrh of the stomach and bowels following abuse of alcohol, a tonic after malarial fever. Has a distinct, anti-malarial influence. Good in all catarrhal conditions, as uterine catarrh, leucorrhoea, etc. Is a curative agent in chronic dyspepsia." Prof. John M. Scudder in Specific Medication says of Golden Seal: "It stimulates the digestive processes, and increases the assimilation of food. By these means the blood is enriched, and this blood feeds the muscular system. I mention the muscular system because I believe it first feels the increased power imparted by the stimulation of increased nutrition. The consequent improvement on the nervous and glandular systems are natural results."

"In relation to its general effects on the system, there is no medicine in use about which there is such general unanimity of opinion. It is universally regarded as the tonic useful in all debilitated states."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription specially put up for women's ills—for those distressing—dragging down ailments—peculiar to women—is also a temperance remedy that is best known by its cures. With Dr. Pierce's medicines, their ingredients are matters of public knowledge, being printed on each separate bottle wrapper. Thus invalid sufferers are taken into Dr. Pierce's full confidence.

Dr. Pierce's great thousand-page illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser will be sent free, paper-bound, for 21 one-cent stamps, or cloth-bound for 31 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.
