BIG DEALS IN REAL ESTATE

Cheap Wheat Lands Being Purchased.

B. T. Chamberlain, of Portland, who has been in the city for several days, has closed a deal in which 2080 acres of wheat land belonging to the J. A. Woolery estate were sold to John Carmody, of Portland. The consideration was $41,150.

During the past 30 days, Mr. Chamberlain informs the Gazette that he has sold 15,000 acres of land between Heppner and Wasco, at prices averaging around $20 per acre.

The real estate firm handling this land has for some time been carrying on a systematic method of advertising covering a large territory in the East.

Cheap Lands in Morrow.
Mr. Chamberlain is greatly impressed with Morrow county and offers much encouragement for future prospects.

To the Gazette, Mr. Chamberlain said that these sales would bring into this county several new and thrifty people from the East. People who are not afraid to invest their money and make money on a half section which looks like a great farm to the Eastern farmer.

"I am here in Morrow county to sell lands for the simple reason that land owners are offering better values in wheat lands than any place I know of."

"Why, these fine wheat farms will be selling for $25 to $35 an acre before the people here will realize it," said Mr. Chamberlain.

P. L. & L. Co. Deal on.
Mr. Chamberlain says that he is still negotiating for the sale of the big stock ranch owned by the Penland Land & Livestock Co.

Correspondence is being carried on and interested parties are expected to come soon to look over the proposition.

The holdings of the Penland Land & Livestock Co., comprising 35,000 acres, is one of the finest stock ranches in Eastern Oregon. Besides the large body of alfalfa, timothy and grazing lands there are several thousand acres of rich wheat lands.

Hand Mangled.

Frank Rasmus met with a painful accident out at Herrin's saw mill, Tuesday morning.

While running an edger his left hand came in contact with the saw and was badly cut. The teeth of the saw struck the back of the hand penetrating the knuckles and severing some of the tendons.

Dr. Kistner dressed the wound.

Racing at Hardman.

There will be a series of racing at Hardman on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, September 16, 17, 18.

Liberal purses will be hung up for the winning horses.

Cured Hay Fever and Summer Cold

A. S. Nussbaum, Batesville, Indiana, writes: "Last year I suffered for three months with a summer cold so distressing that it interfered with my business. I had many of the symptoms of hay fever, and a doctor's prescription did not reach my case, and I took several medicines which seemed only to aggravate it. Fortunately I insisted upon having Foley's Honey and Tar. It quickly cured me. My wife has since used Foley's Honey and Tar with the same success." Slocum Drug Co.

WHEAT YIELDS HOLDING GOOD

Big Acreage of Summer-fallow for Next Crop.

R. W. Hickok, the grain buyer was out this week for a couple of days drive through the Eight Mile, Gooseberry and Ione wheat districts.

In speaking of the trip Mr. Hickok said:

"I was greatly surprised to see the amount of summer-fallow this year. I would judge that almost two thirds of the tillable land is now under summer fallow for next year's crop which would indicate a large crop for next year."

"I find that summer fallow this season is much better cared for than last year. Farmers are beginning to realize that better farming means better results."

"Theo. Anderson, Herb Olden, Dan Barlow and others are doing good work on their summer-fallow. I noticed one field where the weeds had all been cut and a roller was being used to pulverize the soil in order to hold the moisture."

"I found the wheat yield turning out fully as well as expected if not a little better. Those who expected to have 15 to 18 bushels to the acre are getting from 20 to 22 bushels, a few fields going as high as 25 bushels."

"Although the acreage this year was much less than last year, with present conditions and prices, the farmers should not complain."

In the Blue Mountains.

Attorney VanVactor, W. L. Smith and a representative of the Gazette certainly enjoyed a trip to the mountains the latter part of last week.

Leaving Heppner in the morning, the trip up Willow creek to the forks is relieved of monotony by watching the activity of farm work. The rich green fields of alfalfa are being slaughtered with the sickle and the second crop is making a big yield.

On up through the pines our destination was Major Burroughs' home.

Climbing the mountain to an elevation of almost 5000 feet, and then dropping down to the bottom of a deep canyon where trickle the extreme headwaters of Butter creek at an elevation of 4500 feet, Major Burroughs has his home where he is king of the plantation with plenty of elbow room, pure air and sparkling ice cold water.

When the sun goes down at this time of year the mountain atmosphere makes one think of that overcoat left behind while enjoying the invigorating effect of the cool air.

Here we found true frontier environments and that genuine frontier hospitality which leaves an impression upon the visitor not soon to be forgotten.

At South Jones' Prairie.

Leaving the Major's with a shower of good wishes and invitations to return, the team was headed toward Arbuckle mountain which pierces the clouds 6000 feet above sea level, we wound around the foot of the mountain and to the tall straight pines surrounding South Jones' prairie.

Here we found camped a merry party of Heppner people consisting of Dr. Hunlock and family, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Matlock, Mr.

and Mrs. Herbert Fant, Mrs. V. Gentry and Mrs. Harvey Parcell and children.

We were hungry travelers and a second invitation to a fine supper was not necessary.

Lee Matlock's back was covered with blood and when asked what was the matter, he said "follow me and I will show you." We followed and there hung a fine buck the result of Saturday's chase and Lee's unerring aim.

Sunday there was another hunt. All hands were in early except Herbert Fant. And finally here came Fant stooped over and puffing with a heavy load. It was a broad smile on his face and a fine young buck on his back. This was Herb's first one and naturally congratulations were in order.

To leave Jones' Prairie was an unpleasant task.

Garfield Crawford returned yesterday evening from his vacation trip.
