Too Much For His Mind.
 "My first impulses," wailed the sad-eyed individual, "are invariably good. In fact, I think that I may venture without fear of undue exaggeration to say that they are very good. But I never act on them. I always act on second thoughts. This trait in my character has ruined my career, because my second thoughts are always bad. In fact, I think I may say without fear of misrepresentation that they're punk."
 "Well," suggested he who was listening, "why don't you wait until third thoughts and act on them?"
 Mournfully, despondently, the sad-eyed individual shook his head.
 "My dear sir," he groaned, "I never had three successive thoughts about anything in my life."—Exchange.

At His Own Risk.
 Caller (on crutches and with a bandage over one eye)—I have come, sir, to make application for the amount due on my accident insurance policy. I fell down a long flight of stairs the other evening and sustained damages that will disable me for a month to come.
 Manager of Company—Young man, I have taken the trouble to investigate your case, and I find you are not entitled to anything. It could not be called an accident. You certainly knew the young lady's father was at home.

An Old Saw Strikes a Nail.
 Mr. Scraggington (musingly)—As Lincoln said, a man may fool some of the people all the time and all the people some of the time—Mrs. Scraggington (briskly)—But you can't fool me any of the time!—Puck.

 Miss Anclente (insinuatingly)—I dislike my name; it's horrid. Mr. Fly (absently)—I fear it's too late to change it now.
 Thick silence.—Pittsburg Press.

Pretty Unpopular.
 Wigg—Bjones doesn't seem to be very popular. Wagg—I should say not. Why, that fellow is so unpopular he couldn't even get a job as a bill collector.—Philadelphia Record.

A Few Facts About Clothing
 Of course we're partial to our own clothes. When we bought our stocks, we saw most all the styles and all the cloths that all of the important makers showed. We couldn't give you a better proof of our own belief in the garments that are here than our possession of them. Not that there aren't lots of first class manufacturers, but even in a group of excellent factories one product is bound to stand a little ahead, and as far as we can calculate are better made and smarter styled and more durable than any of a dozen sorts we might have had at the same prices. Like to have your judgment.

Sincerity Clothes
