

Portland's Livestock Show

Special arrangements have been made whereby all the exhibits in the livestock show at the Seattle fair will be displayed in Portland the third week of September during the show of the Portland Fair and Livestock Association. This will mean a show of pure bred stock in horse, cattle, sheep and swine divisions greater by far than has ever been seen in the state. The exhibit will show the great strides of the livestock industry in the Pacific Northwest during recent years. The annual show of the Portland Fair and Livestock Association will last from September 20 to 25, and the State Fair entries will be on display as well as the cream from the show at Seattle. "We had at least $1,000,000 worth of stock here last year," said Secretary Wisdom of the association, "but applications from stock farms of the Coast, Middle West and Canada already received make it certain we shall have more than $1,500,000 worth of the finest stock the breeders of America produce. It will be possible to arrange for a great deal more comprehensive display this year for the expense of shipping exhibits from a distance will be minimized and distributed between Portland, Salem and Seattle."

Local and Personal Notes.

Thos. Musgrave, of Hardman, is in the city.
Judge T. W. Ayers who has been very sick is improving.
Albert Ayers, of Payette, Idaho, is visiting his father, Judge T. W. Ayers.
Mrs. J. N. Hart, of Hilgard, is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. M. B. Metzler.

Mr. and Mrs. John M. Spencer, of Echo, are visiting with relatives in Heppner this week.

Misses Gladys Potter and Willa Herrea, of Spray, were Heppner visitors during the celebration.

Two Harney valley young men walked home from Corvallis, where they had been attending the OAC.

Mr. and Mrs. P. O. Borg and daughter, Mrs. Carrie B. Wright, and Mrs. Church, left yesterday morning for a visit to the A-Y-P Exposition at Seattle.

Among the OAC band boys who played here during the celebration was Reuben Wills, a former Heppner boy, who is now living at Lebanon where he is employed in a law office.

What has been for years known as the desert in northern Lake county, is now the home of hundreds of families. And they are not of the nomadic order, either. They are real homebuilders. Nice cottages dot the land, farms are fenced and crops have been put in, all presenting a picture of progress and improvement that cannot but impress the old timer and the former riders of the plains. Christmas Lake valley and the Fort Rock country are settled up completely. There will be a large further influx of settlers next fall.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

Fully 40,000 sheep have been or will be shipped from Wallowa county this spring and summer, and a conservative estimate of the total returns is $140,000. To this total will be added the thousands of dollars that will be paid Wallowa county growers for lambs this fall and the $300,000 for wool.

The Dalles Chronicle learns that in the Rock creek valley hundreds of coyotes are to be found, as they have gathered in there in unusually large numbers to feed up the carcasses of the fat yearlings and suckling calves which were lost by cattle men during the epidemic of black leg which swept over the district this spring.

Bend had a Fourth of July celebration that was probably the most unique in the country because of one great feature, a trout barbecue. There are numerous places in the state could duplicate it, probably, but where throughout the East could such an affair be held? Bend had about 3500 trout served to those in attendance at the celebration, certainly a splendid advertisement of Oregon's attractions as a fisherman's paradise.

The Oregon State Teachers' Association completed its ninth annual convention at Albany during the past week. The gathering was pronounced the most successful in the history of the organization. An interesting and valuable program was given, with many notable addresses. The second annual convention of county superintendents of schools was held at Salem just preceding the meeting of the state pedagogues. A higher standard for school work in this state was set and many matters of mutual helpfulness were discussed.

The Ball Games.
The first game on Friday between Heppner and Condon was rather a tame affair. The visitors carried off the purse playing the tune of five to 16.

On Saturday the Condon boys cleaned up the home team with the neat score of five to a goose egg, thereby placing another purse by the side of the first one.

After two straight defeats the Heppner tossers commenced to ginger up and took on Ione for a little practice. After the fourth inning the scorekeeper lost track of the count for the reason that Heppner was so far ahead.

With the encouragement of winning a game and a little strengthening of the team, the Heppner team went after Condon proper in the final game on Sunday afternoon. It was a hummer, and took 12 innings to decide the battle, Heppner winning by a score of seven to five.

There was a good attendance at all the games.

Webster-Smith.

James A. Webster, of Portland, and Miss Annie I. Smith, of Heppner, were united in marriage at the Taylor-Street Church parsonage, in Portland, on Wednesday evening, June 30, Rev. Benjamin Young officiating.

Mr. Webster was a former resident of this city. He is now in the employ of the Oregon Daily Journal.

Miss Smith was brought up in this city from childhood. She is one of Heppner's most popular young ladies.

A large circle of Heppner friends unite in extending best wishes.

C. R. Klinger, the jeweler, 1060 Virginia Ave., Indianapolis, Ind., writes: "I was so weak from kidney trouble that I could hardly walk a hundred feet. Four bottles of Foley's Kidney Remedy cleared my complexion, cured my backache and the irregularities disappeared, and I can now attend to business every day, and recommend Foley's Kidney Remedy to all sufferers, as it cured me after the doctors and other remedies had failed." ## EARHART SHOOTS he was there surrounded the buildings.

Deputy Sheriff and Citizen Shot.
Earhart at this time was fully 50 yards from the warehouses in his hiding place on the hillside. In scouting around the building, Joe Beasley came in plain sight (in the moonlight) of Earhart, who opened fire with his shotgun at a distance of about 80 yards. Beasley received a charge of shot in the face and quickly turning around he received another shot in the back. Beasley commenced to call for help and Deputy Sheriff Walter Cason ran to his assistance. The officer as soon as he appeared also received a shot in the back and another in the legs.

The posse then began to get to a safer distance from the ever ready shotgun and waited for daylight which soon appeared. At the first streaks of dawn Earhart's hiding place was located and the posse began to surround him.

Earhart Surrenders.
Seeing that his case was hopeless, Earhart came out and commenced to beg and cry for mercy, but still held to his gun and walked toward the warehouse. Near the warehouse he came onto other members of the posse who ordered him to surrender, failing to obey the command another volley was fired when Earhart surrendered.

In the shooting, E. T. Perkins, postmaster at Ione, was slightly wounded in the foot with shot from Earhart's gun, and Charles Ritchie also was slightly wounded in the leg.

When captured it was found that Earhart was also slightly wounded. He was grazed in the small of the back with a rifle ball. After the wound was dressed by Dr. Chick, Earhart was started for Heppner.

Messenger Sent for Sheriff.
During the height of the battle a messenger was sent to Heppner for Sheriff Shutt. Upon receiving the word, the sheriff and Dr. Kistner, in the Doctor's automobile, started for Ione.

Heavily armed and making a 30 mile clip to Lexington, the officer and physician met the officers in charge of Earhart. He was brought to this city and landed in the county jail.

Buildings Punctured.
It is said that the buildings on the north side of Main street and the warehouses are punctured with bullets in more than 50 different places.

When Earhart was making his run it is said that he ran close to an old mare that was tied and the animal hearing the cannonading got scared and commenced to jump. The posse taking the much frightened mare for the fugitive let drive a volley. The only injury that the old mare experienced was a very bad scare.

Earhart is Silent.
When seen by a Gazette representative at the Morrow county jail yesterday morning Earhart had nothing to say. "No statement, nothing to say at this time," was the only statement that he had.

Escue is Recovering.
W. H. Escue, who was at first thought to be fatally shot, is recovering and has a good chance to pull through. Mr. Escue is a resident of Portland. He is a man about 60 years of age. He came to Ione with the intention of working through harvest. He was shot with a rifle, the ball striking him in the shoulder and razing downward through the lung.

Out of Pen Short Time.
For a former gun play at Ione Earhart was sent to the penitentiary. After serving eight months of a two year's sentence he was pardoned conditionally by Governor Chamberlain. A large number of prominent citizens signed his petition for pardon. When drinking he is a dangerous man.
